BERLIN'S JEWS SEEK FLIGHT

Will Act to Defend 9 Power Treaty.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The existence of an accord between the United States and Great Britain for joint defense of their interests in the far east, as reported in European political circles the last few days, was given virtual official confirmation tonight.

Running parallel with the Anglo-American trade agreement about to be signed, the accord has several articles, the first of which refuses to admit Tokio's right to abrogate the "open door" principle in China and declares intact the nine power treaty of 1922 which the Japanese have repudiated.

The accord apparently is the answer to questions which have been raised whether the British would back up the United States in its policy toward Japan as enunciated in the note sent to Tokio on Oct. 6 by Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state.

Wish to Avoid New Blunder.

With the need of gaining the help and sympathy of the United States in the face of other entanglements, the British this time, it appears, are anxious not to repeat what is now considered a blunder made seven years ago by Sir John Simon in refusing to back up the overtures to Japan over seizure of Manchuria made by the then secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson.

It has been said in London that as a result of the new accord for protection of their interests in the far east, the British and Americans shortly will consult the French and Italians and other signatories of the nine power treaty. What the Italian attitude will be is fairly certain, since Premier Mussolini is an ally of Japan in an anti-communist pact signed a year ago.

Already Coöperating.

Confirmation of the far east agreement came out tonight when Arthur Henderson, labor leader, called upon the government in parliament to cooperate with the United States government in reaffirmation of the nine power treaty principles on the basis that the Chinese-Japanese war was a matter of continuing concern to the signatories of the treaty.

Such coöperation between London and Washington, D. C., was already in effect, Richard A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told Henderson, adding that "we are prepared at all times to maintain close touch with America on matters of conduct concerning other countries."

He disclosed that the British would not "consider any alteration in the position as laid down in the treaty that had not been brought about by international action."

Same as Expressed by Hull.

Concluding, he said:

"The stand of his majesty's government is the same as that laid down by Secretary of State Hull on Nov. 4." This statement, Butler said, also would define the British attitude toward the nine power treaty. The British government, he added, had made protests to Tokio similar to those contained in Secretary Hull's note of Oct. 6.

Parliament's uneasiness about Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's intentions to put over a deal to give Reichsfuehrer Hitler colonies in Africa was displayed in the house with questions fired at the premier. These questions were aimed to commit Chamberlain to make no deal before consulting parliament.

Chamberlain Secretive.

Chamberlain was somewhat oblique in his replies. He said he would not commit himself to any statement about colonial transfers without consulting parliament. He did not say he would not initiate colonial negotiations which might be an accomplished fact before the house learned of them, one member pointed out.

Chamberlain persistently dodged efforts of a section of parliament to pin him down to a statement that the British would do something specially to provide a home in the colonies for the Jews driven out of Germany.

SOBS CHOKE OFF GIRL'S STORY OF MOTHER'S DEATH

Testifies at Father's Trial for Murder.

For nearly two hours yesterday afternoon the testimony of a pretty little girl, 10 years old, went into the record of the Criminal court of Cook county. Upon that testimony, a jury before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne will decide whether James K. Matter, a cultured middle aged engineer, killed his wife, Marguerite—the little girl's mother.

The child, Martha Jean Matter, described the events of Saturday night, Oct. 1, when her mother was slain with an army rifle in the Matter home at 4233 Du Bois boulevard, in the Congress Park section of Brookfield. She told of her parents' violent quarrels and of having seen Matter loading the gun that day.

Pauses to Keep Back Tears.

She paused frequently to keep back the tears and once was excused to weep in an anteroom. And at the conclusion of her testimony she ran sobbing to her father's arms.

Matter will take the witness stand in his own defense today, and the case is expected to go to the jury this evening. This jury was selected in an hour and a half—one of the speediest selections of a murder jury in Cook county annals. Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle did not qualify the jurors to inflict the death penalty.

In his opening statement Boyle declared that Mrs. Matter could not have committed suicide. He added it was plain the husband was in a fury at the time she met her death.

Accident Defense Planned.

William Scott Stewart, veteran defense attorney, declared that Matter had never said his wife's death was suicide. Stewart told the jury he would show that the slaying was an unfortunate accident and that his client was temporarily insane at the time.

After the first of the state's witnesses, physicians, and relatives of the family had testified Martha Jean was led in. She was bashful and reluctant to climb into the witness chair. A small child, she peered out from a brown hat that matched her dress. Locks of blonde hair showed at her temples.

Prosecutor Boyle questioned her for some minutes on her knowledge of right and wrong. She said she knew it was wrong to tell a lie, but in reply to another question said she didn't know what happens to little girls who do tell lies, except that they don't go to heaven.

Led Slowly to Day of Killing.

Boyle led Martha Jean slowly to the afternoon of Oct. 1. She had been visiting playmates in the neighborhood, she said, returning home at 5 p. m. Her mother prepared a tray of food for her father, she continued.

Martha took the tray to his bed. [Matter had been suffering from a heel bone fracture for several months. The quarrels of that night were caused by Mrs. Matter's refusal to obtain morphine for him. He had been taking the narcotic for several months on his doctor's prescription.]

Matter refused the food, Martha Jean declared. About 8:30 o'clock she went to bed. Shortly afterward she went into the bathroom and saw her father there holding an army rifle in his hands. It was a relic of his world war service.

"What did your daddy say to you?"

WHAT WE MIGHT NOW BE READING IF THE WAR HADN'T BEEN STOPPED

JEFFERSON NICKELS WILL BE ON SALE IN NATION'S BANKS TODAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Eleven million of the new Thomas Jefferson nickels will go on sale tomorrow in the nation's banks. Many more millions will be minted as needed.

On one side of the coin is a profile of the third president and author of the declaration of independence, while his beautiful Monticello home is represented on the other.

Jefferson becomes the third person to be pictured on a regular coin of the United States. George Washington has been on several denominations and since 1932 has adorned the quarter, while Abraham Lincoln has been on the penny since 1909. The only other individuals honored were on special coins.

TEACHER WEARS SLACKS IN COURT; JAIL THREATENED

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Helen Hulick, 28 years old, a kindergarten teacher, wore her orange and green slacks to court again today, defying a municipal judge's informal ruling.

Judge Arthur Guerin interrupted proceedings with a denunciation of slacks—he called them "pants"—and warned she would be held in contempt if she doesn't appear in a dress tomorrow.

"I'll come back in slacks tomorrow and if he puts me in jail I hope it will help to free women forever of anti-slackism," she told reporters. She is to testify against two Negroes accused of robbing her home.

Gets 2 Pitchers of Same Treatment He Gave Wife

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The court bailif poured a pitcher of ice water down the neck of the defendant. Spectators gasped and their teeth chattered. The bailif reached for another pitcher, and another quart of cold water cascaded down the shoulders and around the ribs of the man. The defendant, Gustav Berndt, husky foundry worker, was accused of pouring two pitchers of ice water down the neck of his wife, Charlotte Berndt. Police Judge Oliver Youngs had him punished just as he had treated his wife.

Boy Shows Father Fine Points of Marksmanship

Sheppton, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP)—George Leonard's son, 7 years old, showed him a thing or two today about rabbit hunting. The father fired at a rabbit and it kept on running. The boy threw a stone and broke the rabbit's neck.

Robber Shoots Autoist; Radio Net Traps Him

Lake county's radio police blockade proved its efficiency again yesterday. A robber who masqueraded as a hitch-hiker was captured only a few minutes after he had shot and seriously wounded his host.

John W. Bennett, 32 years old, 6157 Broadway, was the victim of the shooting. He was in a critical condition last night in the St. Theresa hospital at Waukegan. His assailant was Howard Ford, 31, of Libertyville, a reliefer.

Driving north in Skokie highway, Bennett, who is a salesman for a chemical company, picked up Ford northwest of Highland Park. He explained later that he had given thumbers rides for years and never had any trouble before.

Threatened with Pistol.

Fourteen miles farther north, at a point three miles southwest of Waukegan, Ford drew a .22 caliber pistol and threatened the driver with it. Bennett obeyed a command to draw over to the side of the road.

Although he made no resistance, Ford began firing, apparently from sheer nervousness. Bennett was struck in the right cheek, right hand, right upper arm, and twice in the abdomen. The gunman then jumped out of the car and fled east through fields. Passing motorists saw him and one of them, Policeman John Stack of Chicago, notified the Waukegan police.

They put the call on the police radio. Deputy sherifs' cars also were notified. Eleven minutes after Stack's call was received two Waukegan policemen, Laurence Kelly and Leonard Duncan, captured Ford, who was walking slowly along Green Bay road. He confessed.

Decides to Be Holdup Man.

"I haven't any job and I'm broke," he said, "I decided ten days ago to be a holdup man, and I've been getting my courage up since. I didn't mean to shoot. I hope he gets well."

Bennett recalled that his mother had written him from Philadelphia, Pa., only a few days ago warning him of the dangers of giving transportation to hitch-hikers.

Six young thugs who were seized through the radio blockade Sunday, after they had robbed three men in Lake county towns were held to the grand jury yesterday by Magistrate Clarence Brown of Waukegan. Bonds were fixed at $5,000 for each. The prisoners, all from Chicago's southwest side, are Anthony Ramirez, Simon Martinez, Frank Batista, Apaliner Guerrero, Apolonio Razo, and Refugio Duran.

NUTS TO YOU! THAT'S A LITTLE WISECRACK BORN 165 YEARS AGO

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—"Nuts to Jonathan," snapped a peevish character created by Author John Byrom 165 years ago, and thereby was born that modern wiscrack "nuts to you." University of Buffalo librarians have found that Sir Walter Scott used "tell it to the marines" 108 years ago.

The origins of these and 148 other snappy comebacks in twentieth century usage will go on exhibition Thursday at the university in the form of marked first editions in which they first appeared in print.

"I'll tell the world," William Shakespeare declared 315 years ago in Measure for Measure.

"The game is up," Shakespeare wrote in Cymbeline. He coined "not so hot" in Winter's Tale more than three centuries ago. A woman mentioned in Festus by Philip James Bailey in 1861 had "beauty but skin deep" and 352 years ago a wife was first called "my better half" by Sir Philip Sidney in Arcadia.

GERMANY DRAFTS 3,000 GIGOLOS TO WORK ON ROADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Germany's 3,000 gigolos today faced the prospect of being compelled to help build Reichsfuehrer Hitler's fortifications on the western frontier facing France. All labor exchanges were ordered to see to it that gigolos are to be employed in a more useful manner.

The instructions added that "tasks of state political importance," such as the building of auto highways are "specially suitable for the purpose."

The conscription of gigolos was regarded as being the first step in a nation-wide drive to seize all "idlers," who, according to Nazi views, are not engaged in "constructive work." The organ of the Hitler Guards recently advocated the conscription of "all loiterers including the sons of rich parents who spend their monthly allowances in night clubs."

Boys' Hydrogen Balloon Sails 400 Miles Into Ohio

Two high school students at Hampshire, in Kane county, debated how far a hydrogen filled toy balloon would float. They couldn't agree. Friday the boys, Horace Pfingsten and Edward Schiesher, loosed one of the balloons on the prairie breezes. Yesterday they got the answer. The balloon had descended on the farm of F. E. Butler near Peoria, O., some 400 miles away.

Pleads Guilty to 3 Murders; Evades Chair

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Robert Irwin pleaded guilty today to killing Frank Byrnes, Veronica Gedeon, and Mrs. Mary Gedeon on Easter morning, 1937. The plea was accepted by Judge James G. Wallace on conditions which mean that Irwin must spend the remainder of his life behind prison bars with almost no hope of a future reprieve. He will be sentenced to three consecutive terms of from twenty years to life.

[A. P. Wirephoto.]

The plea was made by the young sculptor and former theological student personally, and provided a dramatic episode. He admitted that he had killed the three persons but insisted that it was not done maliciously and hence was not murder as that word is defined in the dictionary.

State Demands Long Sentence.

He screamed and waved his arms in denouncing the prosecutors as "a lot of professional liars." Finally he was led away to await sentence on November 28 with the parting denunciation of a courtroom attendant as: "You dirty dog."

The assurance that Irwin would remain locked up for life was obtained by Assistant District Attorney Jacob Rosenbloom. Before he would agree to it Rosenbloom demanded that the plea be made to cover not only the Byrnes murder but also that of Miss Gedeon and her mother, for which Irwin was not on trial. The sentences, he next stipulated, should run consecutively. And in announcing that he would accept the plea, Judge Wallace said that he was accepting Rosenbloom's recommendation.

Attorney Tells Background.

In offering the plea for Irwin, a former asylum inmate, who is 31 years old, Defense Attorney Samuel S. Leibowitz told the court:

"He was born in a mud gutter in Los Angeles. He has two brothers in prison. At the age of 9 he was first charged with juvenile delinquency. He is suffering from syphilis. He knows and understands the charge against him, but nevertheless he is insane. He is suffering from dementia precox."

Juror Convinces the Judge He's a Wide-Awake Fellow

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Closed eyes don't make a nap, G. B. Curtis convinced a Criminal court judge today. Curtis was a member of a jury which returned a conviction in a larceny case last week. Defense counsel asked a mistrial, asserting the juror, who is 84 years old, slept through the court's charge. Curtis convinced the judge he had heard everything that was said, because, though his eyes were shut, his ears were open. The mistrial was denied.

WOMEN BEG U. S. CONSUL TO HELP KIN IN NAZI JAILS

1,500 Storm Offices in German Capital.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Fifteen hundred desperate Jews and Jewesses today besieged the American consulate in Berlin. They begged the consular staf to hasten investigations of applications for visas made by their relatives who are languishing in Nazi prisons.

Lawyers told wives and mothers of arrested Jews the imprisoned men have a chance of being freed if they can produce documentary evidence that they plan to enter a foreign country.

There were persistent reports that steadily increasing numbers of Jews are being transported to the dreaded concentration camps of Dachau, Sachsenhausen, and Buchenwald. Even Nazi women leaders have protested against the alleged horrors of these camps.

Rush to Argentine Consulate.

While Jews were making their appeals to American officials a rumor spread the Argentine consulate was was issuing 500 visas. Crowds rushed there and filled the entire building. The rumor was not confirmed. However, Jewish women still were standing in front of the consulate at a late hour in hopes they might obtain the necessary papers for their fathers and husbands.

At Vienna Jews besieged the British consulate all night long in quest for visas which would permit them to leave the country.

Adolf Hitler's government acted to collect the $400,000,000 fine imposed on German Jews as a penalty for the murder of a German diplomat by a Polish Jew. The diplomat, Ernst von Rath, secretary of the German embassy in Paris, was shot last Monday and died Wednesday.

Begin Collecting Fine.

The police served notices on 300 Jews concerning the sums they must pay as their share of the levy. They were given twenty-four hours in which to pay up. If they fail to do so they face immediate arrest. It was assumed that imprisoned Jews also were ordered to sign over part of their fortunes to the government.

Jewish families said they were willing to sacrifice every penny they own to buy the freedom of their men "even if we must go and dig the soil and feed on what we can raise with our own hands."

Some Jews declared the sums they were ordered to pay correspond to 18 to 20 per cent of the value of the property they were ordered to list in a questionnaire last spring. Police officials said the payments correspond to 11 per cent of the property of the Jews.

Forbidden to Sell Stocks.

The Jews are not allowed to sell the securities they possess to raise the necessary funds. After German stock exchanges opened weak today because of sales by Jews, a prohibition of such sales was enforced.

Exchanges even refused to sell securities for foreign Jews. Business circles assumed that Jewish securities will be taken over by a state trustee who will fix their value arbitrarily.

Berlin banks paid only a fraction of the sum Jewish depositors attempted to withdraw, although officially no restrictions were imposed. In Munich and other cities withdrawal of money was limited to small amounts.

Tax Jews for Damages.

One of the most pitiful scenes of this "black week" for German Jewry occurred yesterday. Leaders of the Jewish community in Berlin called together 120 rich Jews at the behest of District Propaganda Leader Waechtler. He wanted to inform them of the amount they must pay for the repair of Jewish shops wrecked by Nazi rioters. Since most of the men were arrested or are in hiding, the meeting was composed almost entirely of women. They listened apathetically while their leaders handed out slips of paper listing the amount of individual contributions. The payments average between 7 and 8 per cent of the individual fortunes of the Jews.

The levies totaled $6,400,000. It was believed that many Jews will be able to pay little or nothing of the amount demanded. These Jews also must pay for repairs to their own properties and contribute toward the $400,000,000 fine.

In recent years Jews who emigrated from Germany invested their funds in old people's homes to furnish living quarters for their parents and other aged relatives. Today old people's homes were notified they must pay back taxes for the years in which their tax bills had been reduced. One institution was ordered to pay $20,000.

Under a decree issued by the ministry of education, all Jewish students were ousted from universities and other institutions of higher learning. The Jewish Automobile club was suppressed by another decree.

Arrests of Jews continued. A prominent surgeon, Dr. Salomon, was operating on a patient. The police entered the operating room and arrested the surgeon without allowing him to finish the operation. The police refused to let him change his clothes and took him away. His whereabouts is not known.

Arno Nadel, Jewish poet and painter, was among those seized.

Warburg Reported Arrested.

The propaganda ministry said it was unable to verify reports of the arrest of Fritz Warburg, brother of the late Felix M. Warburg of New York. Dispatches from Hamburg said members of the Warburg family admitted he had been taken in custody. Fritz Warburg and two brothers, Max and Erich, retired last May from the banking house of M. M. Warburg & Co. The firm was 141 years old. At that time it was announced the business was being converted into a new partnership under the same name.

In Vienna passersby saw truckloads of Jews being transported through the streets. Their destination was unknown.

Aryan travelers reaching Berlin told of destruction of Jewish properties elsewhere. In many small towns Jewish homes were wrecked by Hitler Troopers. In towns where homes of Jews were burned at night, women and children were seen hiding in gardens in their night clothes.

Nazis passing through Bad Lippspringe told of an Aryan who had protested against the anti-Jewish raids. He was beaten by Nazis and held under water in the village pond until he begged their pardon and said: "I am a slave of Jews."

U. S. Summons Envoy.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull today instructed Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Berlin, to come to Washington for report and consultation.

Officials said this was in connection with recent developments in Germany, meaning the intensive campaign against the Jews unleashed there within the last few days. Officials said they did not know when he would leave.

The action does not mean a break in diplomatic relations between the two countries, but was characterized by informed persons as an unusual step taken only in very unusual circumstances.

Called a Normal Visit.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The visit of Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson to the United States was described here tonight as the normal visit of a diplomat to his home country. His journey to Washington, D. C., was announced privately to Berlin newspaper correspondents two weeks ago before the Jewish question became acute. Wilson will leave for London next Sunday and the embassy said he had not yet booked passage from there for New York, since he has many friends to meet in London. He expects to return to Berlin early in January.

U. S. British Action Urged.

LONDON, Nov. 15 [Tuesday].—(AP).—British morning newspaper headlines today featured the summons to Hugh R. Wilson, United States ambassador to Berlin, to return to Washington for consultations with President Roosevelt.

The daily Herald, labor paper, urged joint action by the United States and Britain in the situation arising from the Nazi pressure on Jews.

The Herald did not suggest the course to be taken by the two powers but said it would "give profound satisfaction in this country" if the United States would "be willing to associate with us in common action."

PROPOSES U. S. END RELATIONS WITH GERMANY

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Senator William H. King [D., Utah] proposed tonight that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Germany if the reich continues abuse of Jews. He and five other leaders in politics and religion protested in a radio broadcast against what they called the barbarism of the Nazis.

Former President Herbert Hoover declared Nazi leaders are "bringing to Germany moral isolation from the entire world." Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas and 1936 Republican nominee for President, added a warning that "there is a real danger of the growth of intolerance here in America."

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J., president of Fordham university, and Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, voiced their indignation against Germany.

AIRLINER FILLED WITH REFUGEES CRASHES; 6 DIE

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A Netherlands air liner coming from Berlin loaded with Jewish refugees fleeing Germany crashed in a blinding rain storm near Amsterdam's airport today, killing six of its occupants. The crew of four and two women among the fourteen passengers were killed. Eleven of the passengers were seriously injured. The pilot, Jan Duimelaar, was one of the Netherland's most famed airmen. Among the passengers was a German couple who only yesterday had been refused permission to enter the Netherlands by train. They returned to Berlin and were attempting to enter the country again by air.

The big Douglas plane crashed on a rain soaked field at the end of a canal, just off the airport, and pieces of wreckage were scattered for 100 yards.

GERMANY ORDERS CONVENTS TO PAY UP 'TAX ARREARS'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Fears that anti-Jewish raids soon will turn into anti-Catholic raids were expressed today in strong Roman Catholic communities in western Germany. Many monasteries and convents have received orders to pay "tax arrears." The organizations complained that the taxes exceeded their financial abilities.

In Paderborn, it was reported that nuns of the convent of St. Vincent were ordered to pay $200,000 in back taxes. The nuns refused to confirm the figure, but admitted the sum "far exceeds anything we can hope to raise."

Chile Charges Nazi Paper Faked Stories About Jews

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The Chilean legation today was engaged in a quarrel with German authorities. A German newspaper published alleged quotations from Chilean newspapers approving the Nazi treatment of Jews. The legation protested that there were no Chilean papers of the names mentioned.

GERMAN DRIVE ON JEWS CALLED POLITICAL TRICK

See Democracies Split by Pogrom Arguments.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Diplomatic and foreign circles today learned from conversations with Nazis that through the new gigantic drive against Jews the German government is pursuing a definite political aim in foreign countries.

The Nazis expect foreign opinion will be divided in its reaction and that "the democracies will continue their fruitless discussions which are bound to weaken their striking power."

"Thus the foreign democracies will get weaker and the authoritarian states automatically will become stronger and able to enforce their plans," the Nazis said.

See Political Advantages.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, denied that Germany is pursuing such aims, but other Nazis pointed to what they consider "the political advantages of recent events."

Many Nazis realized that the acts of violence and looting which took place following the murder of a German diplomat by a Polish Jew had a communistic trend. Under an anti-Semitic cloak, men and women appropriated other persons' properties on a scale unheard of in Germany even during the Red revolt.

Last week many lower class Germans objected violently to the systematic destruction of Jewish property and looting "at a time when we are ordered to collect empty toothpaste tubes and other rubbish for the sake of the four year plan [for economic independence]." Today men and women in Berlin were saying: "Now we have settled with the Jews. The next time we'll get after the white Jews and the profiteers who have been enriching themselves at our cost."

Say Jews Had It Coming.

How well Nazi propaganda worked in the last few days was evident when women gave eyewitness accounts of looting.

"The Jews had it coming because they have become rich at our expense," they said.

The communistic instincts were quite clear when many residents of Berlin said: "We should not have been so foolishly decent and should have taken some of the things we needed from the open stores, but we will be wiser next time."

NAZI JEW BAITER SAYS ROOSEVELT IS LED BY BARUCH

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—An attack on President Roosevelt that he masks under the title of "Bernard Baruch," appeared today as a front page article in Julius Streicher's paper, Der Steurmer. Streicher is Germany's No. 1 Jew baiter. Mr. Roosevelt has become one of the Nazis' ranking enemies.

Baruch's recent statement about the possibility of a Fascist dictatorship being established in South American countries and these countries in turn becoming potential allies of Germany was ridiculed by Der Stuermer. The paper said American Jewish circles believe Baruch will be "president of the United States in 1940."

Baruch was described as one of Mr. Roosevelt's closest advisers. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, who was designated as Baruch's close associate and also Mr. Roosevelt's close friend and adviser, was also attacked in the article. It said that such Jews as these have as their goal only the destruction of Nazi Germany.

MARRIAGE EDICT VIOLATES ACCORD POPE TELLS DUCE

Pontiff Also Appeals to King Victor.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Fascist Italy's prohibition of marriages between "Aryan" and "non-Aryan" Italians has opened a fresh breach between the Vatican and the Italian government.

A protest of the church against the new marriage law as a violation of the 1929 concordat was announced today along with the disclosure that Pope Pius himself had appealed personally to both Premier Mussolini and King Victor Emmanuel in an effort, which proved futile, to forestall the legislation.

L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, in reporting the Holy See's view spoke of the new marriage decree both as "wounding" the agreement between the church and the Italian government and as "breaking" it.

Hopes for an Agreement.

The newspaper expressed the hope, however, that the new friction "over a question of principle on a matter of vital importance" could be healed by agreement.

The pope, said the newspaper, "intervened directly with two paternal, handwritten letters—one directly to the chief of government and the other to the king-emperor.

"Notwithstanding that, new legislative dispositions have come out without agreement with the Holy See."

L'Osservatore indicated the Italian government might be able to patch up the differences by providing for exceptions to the marriage ban. It pointed out that in its "general and absolute prohibition" of marriage in the case of "Aryans" and "non-Aryans" the law violated canon law.

Clash with Civil Procedure.

The concordat provides that church marriages shall be recognized by civil authorities, whereas the new Italian decree prohibits civil authorities from registering marriages between "Aryans" and "non-Aryans" and declares such marriages null.

Observing that the decree permits no exceptions, L'Osservatore said:

"When two faithful members of the church of a different race having decided to contract marriage present themselves to the church free from every canonical impediment, the church cannot for the sole fact of the diversity of race deny its assistance. Its sanctifying mission demands it. Those rights which God has given and which the church recognizes without distinction for all its sons demand it."

Slovakia Ousts Jewish Students from University

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Karl Sidor, deputy in the Slovak parliament, told a meeting of the Hlinka guard yesterday that the government had ousted 465 Jewish students from Bratislava university. He said also that "a few thousand" Hungarian Jews had been sent across the border into Hungary.

BRITAIN PROTESTS NAZI ATTACKS ON POLITICAL CHIEFS

Premier Voices Sympathy for German Jews.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today told the house of commons that Britons had "deep sympathy" for the Jews in Germany. Furthermore, he disclosed that the government had lodged a strong protest against Nazi press attacks on certain British political leaders.

Under a barrage of questions from a house made angry by Germany's treatment of the Jews, Chamberlain failed to indicate what effect, if any, Germany's new campaign against the Jews would have on his efforts to get a lasting friendship pact with Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Premier Evades Questions.

The prime minister gave either cautious replies or no answer to questions about his ideas for a colonial settlement with Germany.

One unanswered query was whether he did not think "recent happenings in Germany have proved abundantly that Germany is not fit to undertake the welfare of native populations."

The protest disclosed by Chamberlain was directed against an article in Der Angriff, official Nazi party newspaper, last Friday. The article said "it is no coincidence" that the young Polish Jew who killed Ernst Von Rath, German embassy secretary in Paris, "took the same line" as Winston Churchill, veteran Conservative statesman; Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, and Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty.

All three have been outspoken critics of Chamberlain's policy of "dealing with dictators."

Explains British Protest.

Chamberlain said the government had protested "to the German government in regard to recent press articles in the German press associating former British ministers and members of this house with the recent murder of Herr von Rath." Germany's new anti-Semitic measures are in reprisal for his death.

[In Berlin the German government was said to have answered the British protest by referring to an interview with Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels. He was quoted as saying he did not know of any slight to British statesmen, but that if any one had been wronged rectification would be made.]

Chamberlain said no one in Britain would attempt to defend the killing of Von Rath, "but there will be deep and widespread sympathy here for those who are being made to suffer so severely for it."

Germans Ban Lorelei Song Because a Jew Wrote It

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Germany's best known folk song, Lorelei, has been banned by the Nazi educational department because the words were written by a Jew, Heinrich Heine. The department classified seven others as "songs we do without," including Mendelssohn's "I Raise Mine Eyes Unto the Stars."

Prepare for next C.P.A. EXAMINATION

by new class plan

Thoroughly tested over 2 years, this new plan embodies strikingly different and efficient methods. The quizzer method (so effective in preparation for the bar examinations), an optional laboratory period of 3 hours each Saturday afternoon for practice in answering problems under examination room conditions, an intensive review of accounting, continuous coaching by successful C.P.A.'s, thorough study of A. I. A. examination problems, and consultation at any time with an experienced C.P.A.—these are some of the facilities and services.

Evidence of our success in coaching for the examinations is seen in the fact that over 10% of the C.P.A.'s in the U. S. are LaSalle members. Furthermore, if you fail in passing the examination, we will continue coaching you without further cost until you do pass.

These loop evening classes begin the week of November 27 and continue for 28 weeks. Classes meet once a week—one on Tuesday and one on Friday—at 6:30 P.M. The cost is moderate and convenient payment terms can be arranged.

CAR LINES GIVEN 48 HOURS TO ACT ON MERGER PLAN

Judge Combats Stalling with Ultimatum.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday gave representatives of the Chicago Surface Lines two days in which to decide if they will arbitrate their objections to a plan for merging with the elevated railways.

Standing by his recent declaration that he would permit no further delays in reaching a basis for getting the traction properties out of his court, Judge Wilkerson refused to hold further hearings on the so-called Shaw plan for merging the lines unless he is assured that his findings will carry weight. In effect, he asked that representatives of surface lines securities holders agree in advance to the decision he would make.

Warns Security Holders.

The only alternative to an agreed merger plan, he said, was to proceed with a foreclosure sale of the street car properties. He indicated that such procedure might prove to be a disadvantageous one for holders of junior securities of the system. This group offers the most serious objections to the Shaw plan.

Judge Wilkerson laid down his new ultimatum after a statement by Mayor Kelly on the traction situation had been placed in the court record by William H. Sexton, special traction counsel for the city. Mayor Kelly sat through the court session.

The plan for combining the traction systems was prepared by Walter A. Shaw, traction adviser to Judge Wilkerson. It provides for the formation of a new company to take over the properties, and an exchange of securities of the new concern for those of the existing companies.

"L" Committee Accepts Plan.

The elevated reorganization committee already has accepted the plan. Elevated attorneys yesterday assured Judge Wilkerson they would abide by his decision if he holds further hearings on the Shaw plan. Representatives of the first mortgage bondholders of the surface lines told the court that they are substantially in agreement on the plan as it affects them. Holders of junior issues of surface lines stocks and bonds, however, contend that they are not treated fairly.

Mayor Kelly's statement asserted that before the ctiy is asked to make known its attitude on the Shaw plan and decide the basis of a new franchise the companies should reach an agreement on unification.

"There are some things in the Shaw plan," Mayor Kelly said, "which I am against. One of them is the suggestion of an increase in the present rates of fare.

Want Flexible Scheme.

"The companies should submit a plan, however, which could have sufficient flexibility to permit modification and changes, if agreed upon, without requiring an entirely new plan."

Mayor Kelly said he already has laid down the fundamental principles and requirements under which the city will grant a unification ordinance. These include, he said, unified operation, universal transfers, pensions to employés, and compensation to the city.

"I am heartily in accord with the court's avowed intention to determine now whether these properties are to be sold or reorganized," he continued.

City Should Know Now.

"The city should know with certainty and without further delay whether the present management can legally and will actually offer and provide unified operation, universal transfers, and immediate modernization and extensions of service.

"A plan which embraces a firm commitment on the part of these componies to provide the essential requisites should be developed and submitted to the city council as an offer to furnish improved service in consideration of the grant of a franchise. When some such business-like proposition is offered the council can then indicate its approval or disapproval."

More than fifty persons attended the traction hearing. These included company receivers and their attorneys, counsel for the securities groups, and city officials.

Judge Wilkerson closed the hearing with the statement that if he were an attorney in the case he would hesitate before assuming the responsibility of rejecting the Shaw plan and leaving only foreclosure sales as the alternative.

Will Wed Prince

PRINCESS MARIA OF SAVOIA.

ROME, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The dark-eyed Princess Maria of Savoia, youngest of King Victor Emanuel's daughters, soon will wed Prince Louis of Bourbon-Parma, it was announced today. The princess will be 24 years old next month and the prince 39. He is a brother of the former Empress Zita of Austria.

The engagement announcement ended years of rumors about matchmaking efforts on behalf of the princess. One of these rumors, discounted by high Fascists, was that she would wed Adolf Hitler. Another taken more seriously was that she would marry Archduke Otto, of Hapsburg, now an exile from Austria, who is a nephew of Prince Louis. Otto is the pretender to the Hapsburg throne.

The wedding will give the house of Savoia a new tie with the historic house of Bourbon in addition to links with the royalty of several countries. The most outstanding royal links of the present members of the king's family are those of his daughter, Giovanna, who is married to King Boris of Bulgaria, and his son, Crown Prince Umberto, who is married to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium. Princess Mafalda married Prince Philip of Hesse, a German province.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SALZBURG, Germany, Nov. 14.—The Nazi government today opened the trial of three high officers of the former Austrian army on charges of attempted murder. The officers had commanded the Salzburg fortress in July, 1934, when the Nazis overthrew the local government of Lamprechtshausen and compelled the police to surrender.

Vienna ordered the army to take command of the situation. Gen. Josef Stochmal forced the Nazis to withdraw. They now charge he ordered his troops "to take no prisoners"—in other words, shoot to kill.

The general, Lieut. Col. Ferdinand Celar, and Capt. von Rosenkranz are being tried secretly. They are pensioned officers.

The Nazi press has been forbidden to mention the trial. Officers see in the trial a new campaign of further terrorizing nationalist non-Nazi groups.

ITALY ORDERS ROTARY CLUBS TO DISSOLVE

ROME, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Senator Giovanni Attilio Pozzo, governor general of Italian Rotary clubs, was informed today by Achille Starace, Fascist party secretary, that Rotary clubs in Italy would be dissolved Dec. 31.

The party's national council took the action. Reliable sources said it was because Rotary International was considered as having an important Masonic infiltration and, therefore, as anti-Fascist.

Most press attacks against the democracies recently have inveighed against "Masonic and Semitic" influence in the democracies. Premier Mussolini drove Masonry from Italy early in his régime. There are about 2,000 members in upward of thirty-five Rotary clubs throughout Italy, the first of which was organized fifteen years ago.

FRENCH PREMIER BEATS DEADLINE WITH NEW EDICTS

Puts 'Guided Economy' Plan in Operation.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier today put into operation his plan of "guided economy" to bolster France's sorely pressed financial structure.

A new list of twelve decree laws was announced shortly before the midnight expiration of Daladier's semi-dictatorial decree powers granted by parliament.

Most of them were administrative decrees, withheld from publication heretofore to avoid any confusion with the series of thirty-two decrees announced on Saturday in Finance Minister Paul Reynaud's financial program.

Restrictions on Press.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet sponsored two of the new decrees, one of which authorized closed hearings in court cases "likely to have international repercussions."

The second would permit the foreign ministry to prosecute newspapers publishing a statement which might be considered offensive to the head of a foreign state.

One of the measures, submitted by Commerce Minister Pierre Gentin, specified that at least two-thirds of the members of boards of directors operating public services must be of French nationality.

National Debt Grows.

The new laws were announced despite an earlier communique which said no more would be promulgated and that parliament would act on any other measures deemed necessary to cope with France's financial problems.

These problems include the national debt, growing at the rate of 12 per cent a year and which expected to be 570,000,000,000 francs [about $15,162,000,000] at the end of 1938.

Saturday's thirty-two decrees, which Finance Minister Reynaud declared would give the government an extra 20,000,000,000 francs [about $532,000,000], in effect abolished the 40-hour week, increased income taxes, and increased the price of sugar, tobacco, bus and subway fares.

5 BRITISH ARMY FLYERS KILLED IN 3 CRASHES

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Five royal air force flyers were killed in three crashes today, bringing to 201 the number of deaths this year in military aviation accidents.

Two flyers were killed in a crackup at Stradishal, Suffolk; two were killed when their craft plunged into the sea off Amble, Northumberland, and one pilot died in a forced landing near Patrington, Yorkshire.

The 201 deaths to date this year have resulted from 105 accidents involving royal air force planes. In 1937 there were 93 accidents and 153 deaths.

SAYS QUART OF MILK SUPPLIES HALF ESSENTIAL DAILY FOOD NEEDS

According to comparisons recently made by the Milk Foundation, a non-profit health education foundation, Grade A milk provides more essential food elements than any other single food and at a much lower cost. Mothers who have limited food budgets are urged to use a large portion for the purchase of milk because it has been found that Grade A milk is so valuable in helping to protect the health of the family. Few persons realize that a quart of Grade A milk supplies half the daily essential food needs, says the Foundation.

VOTERS REVOLT IN INDIANA OVER MACHINE RULE

Fraud Charges Pile Up to Back G. O. P. Contest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A voters' revolt is in progress in this city, which is headquarters of the McNutt-Minton-McHale Democratic machine that Senator Frederick Van Nuys, Democrat, called more corrupt than Tammany Hall or Tom Pendergast's Kansas City gang.

Van Nuys made his statement when the machine and its governor, M. Clifford Townsend, were preparing to purge him for fighting President Roosevelt's court packing bill. The senator dropped the charge after the machine relented and he was renominated.

The senator led Raymond E. Willis, Republican senatorial nominee, by some 5,600 votes on the face of unofficial returns in last Tuesday's election, but Republicans charge the election was stolen and are taking statewide steps to prove the charge.

Contest to Be Filed.

Senator Van Nuys' charge apparently stuck in the minds of Indianapolis voters. The canvass in Marion county, centering here, was still incomplete when individual voters began to flock to Republican precinct and ward officials and to county headquarters with charges of corruption.

Republicans here have not found it necessary to send out investigators. The voters are coming to them with complaints faster than they can be handled. A mounting pile of affidavits, estimated at 400 or more, is earmarked for use in the election contest that the Republican county organization will file, probably tomorrow. Later the same facts will go to the federal grand jury, it is predicted.

Managers of the affidavit collecting campaign are experienced prosecutors. They are keeping their evidence secret. Ward workers, however, have disclosed some of the charges they have forwarded, giving a comprehensive picture of an Indianapolis machine election.

Specific Cases Described.

Following are some of the pieces of that mosaic:

1. A woman, 80 years old, who is on county relief, was told that if she did not vote Democratic her coal and food basket would be stopped. The same warning was repeated when she arrived at the polling place.

2. Voting machines are used in Indianapolis. WPA workers and reliefers, of whom there are about 19,000 in Indianapolis, were told the gong on the voting machine sounded a different note for a Democratic than for a Republican ballot. Despite denials of this, many went to the polls convinced that officials could tell which ticket they voted.

3. As in Chicago, voters may ask the aid of a polls official in balloting. In some precincts in the machine wards Democratic polls officials greeted every voter with the query, "You want help, don't you?" In some instances they pushed into the booths with voters who declined their help, or stuck their heads past the curtain to see how voters were manipulating the machine.

4. Numerous complaints concern illegal registration and use of repeaters. In one instance a voter was successfully challenged as illegally registered. Later the polls inspector, a Democrat, called him in through a side door of the polling place and let him vote.

5. Money was passed freely at the polls. One case concerns a Negro who said he would not leave his home to vote until he was paid. Witnesses swear they saw a Democratic precinct captain pass him several dollar bills.

Recall Other Accusations.

6. Use of repeaters was so widespread that in some cases legitimate voters, applying for their ballots, were told that some one already had voted in their name.

7. Vote frauds, it is charged, extended from the precinct polling places into the county canvassing board. At least two workers there quit rather than sign tabulations they suspected of being fraudulent. The tallies of one precinct that Republicans carried were switched, giving the Democratic state ticket the benefit of a 300 vote swing in that one precinct.

Senator Van Nuys carried Marion county by about 8,000 votes. Reginald Sullivan, Democratic nominee for mayor, led by 5,900.

Van Nuys was not the only Democrat to charge that corruption existed in his own party. Among his charges was one that an unnamed person in the Indiana statehouse had been collecting $150,000 through participation in the port of entry racket made possible by former Gov. Paul V. McNutt's beer bill. This charge, and others, were taken up by two independent Democrats in a hot primary campaign.

They were Sherif Otto Ray, who sought the nomination for mayor, and Al Feeney, whom McNutt had removed as state police captain, running for sherif. After the primary they charged they were counted out. A compromise, putting Feeney on the ticket but leaving Ray out, ended their contest.

Eager for Cleanup Drive.

The charges they made during the campaign gave voters of the city a clear picture of the local machine, run by William Clauer. That picture, lingering through the election campaign, is given credit for the eagerness of rank and file voters to clean up the town.

Clauer holds one of the vastly profitable beer port of entry licenses made possible by the McNutt liquor act. He stepped down as county chairman in May when the machine heads ruled that the port of entry boys, under fire throughout the state, should get out of the limelight. He remains the county boss, however.

The county machine rests on the triple pillars of relief, patronage, and vice. Democrats control both the city and county governments. That gives them control of relief, a control used pitilessly, it is charged, to intimidate voters a week ago.

Their pay rollers form a substantial army, numbering 6,350 in the statehouse, county building, and city hall, exclusive of the city police and firemen. The state employés vote here. Many of them, it is charged, also cast absentee ballots in their former homes. The Indiana absentee voters' law leaves doors wide open for election abuses.

CITY TO AMEND AIRPORT TRACK REMOVAL PACT

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman yesterday began preparing an amendment to the Chicago airport enlargement ordinance to conform with suggested changes requested by J. R. Barse, general counsel for the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad. The changes, which involve only the work schedule in the ordinance, will make it acceptable to the Bankers' Trust company of New York, trustee of the C. & W. I. mortgage bonds.

The changes probably will be adopted by the council at its next meeting, Nov. 30. With the approval of the trustee, the ordinance can be accepted by the railroad as a contract for the removal of a line of tracks that now bisects the available airport area. This will double the size of the flying field.

New Hospital Insurance Transfer Plan Announced

Subscribers to hospital service insurance may now transfer their memberships when they move to other cities. This was announced yesterday by the council on hospital care insurance of the American Hospital association. Twenty-four of the forty-one plans now operating have approved membership interchange, said C. Fufus Rorem, association director of hospital service.

NEIGHBORS SEE HUMAN TORCH; WOMAN BURNED

Neighbors thought they saw a flaming torch being carried from the living room to the kitchen of an apartment at 6576 Crandon avenue last night. They summoned policemen. When Detectives Frank Rothman and John Brennan broke into the flat they found Mrs. Gwen Lindsay, 35 years old, lying critically burned and unconscious on the floor of the kitchen.

Circumstances indicated that Mrs. Lindsay's clothing had caught fire from a cigaret in the living room, perhaps while she was dozing. As she ran toward the kitchen the fringe of a rug in the dining room was ignited. Her garments were almost consumed.

At the Illinois Central hospital slight hopes for the recovery of Mrs. Lindsay were held. She is the wife of Norman A. Lindsay, service manager of the Chicago Cadillac company.

Developments Point to Altered Fiscal Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Developments today indicated that the administration is heeding last Tuesday's turn-tide election and hedging considerably in its financial policies.

Contrary to previous well-founded reports, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced this afternoon the administration is now uncertain whether it will present a general tax bill at the next session of congress. Morgenthau had conferred this morning with Marriner Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board.

The fear of heavier taxes as a result of extravagant spending and the poor state of business since the Roosevelt depression played an important part in Republican victories throughout the nation last week. Well informed officials had said that a continuance of Roosevelt spending policies would make a general tax bill absolutely necessary.

Confusion Is Apparent.

Considerable confusion in the administration hierarchy since the election was evident in Morgenthau's statement. It indicated a tacking toward new policies.

Support of this belief also was seen in a long conference the President had this afternoon on national defense with members of the special national defense committee. Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins also attended the conference.

It was reported that the President tomorrow will make an announcement on the results of the conference. The belief is strong that it will show a shift in expenditures from work relief to defense purposes.

Exposures of WPA graft have laid a heavy hand on the administration and a means of preventing further graft by cutting the WPA expenditures will be welcomed. Money spent on defense will be safer from internal attack, it is believed.

Business Upturn a Factor.

The sharp recovery in the stock market immediately following the administration setback last week also indicated that the change in trend calls for a steady business upturn now that would automatically boost treasury revenues and cancel the need for a general tax increase. It was for this reason that Morgenthau's statement was significant.

He said, of course, there must be some taxes acted upon at the next session. This includes the general supposition that the so-called nuisance taxes on luxury items will be continued. It is now uncertain, however, that income tax rates will be increased or exemptions lowered, or that an attempt will be made to restore the antagonistic undistributed profits tax.

Since the budget message and tax program must be announced shortly after the first of next year, it was generally expected that some definite idea on a program was formed by this time.

Answer Shows Uncertainty.

The uncertainty was evident as Morgenthau replied on the general tax bill question:

"I honestly don't know. We haven't got far enough along to know what there's going to be."

The presence of Morgenthau and Treasury Counsel Herman Oliphant at the President's conference this afternoon also indicated that consideration was being given to the size of the 1940 budget and the part of government revenues that will be devoted to defense. Morgenthau was with the President for nearly four hours. As usual, the secretary declined to comment upon the meeting.

GUNMEN TAKE 14 PAIRS OF PANTS.

Actress in Hospital

FAY WRAY.

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Dr. David Wilson said tonight John Monk Saunders, 41 year old author and screen writer, was under treatment for "nervousness" at the University of Virginia hospital, where his actress wife, Fay Wray, and their 3 year old daughter, Susan, also have been admitted.

Other hospital attachés said Miss Wray was here for "observation."

Dr. Wilson said Saunders had been under treatment for about two weeks. The writer came to Charlottesville to do research work at the University of Virginia's library, and when he entered the hospital he placed the child in a children's ward. His wife followed him here to be admitted as a private patient.

PROBE PLATONIC LOVE IN INDIANA TEACHER KILLING

Victim's Betrothal Linked to His Gun Death.

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The strange motherly affection which a middle aged married woman was said to have had for a pal of her husband was being investigated tonight as a possible explanation of the gunshot killing of Paul Bartholomew.

It was theorized that Bartholomew, superintendent of schools at nearby Lagro, was the victim of a relationship entirely platonic. The threatened termination of this close friendship by his impending marriage was believed to have brought a climax that resulted in his slaying.

Held in jail today is his married friend, Mrs. Fred Harrell, in whose Lagro home Bartholomew was shot six times early Saturday morning after he had been drinking beer quietly with the woman and her husband.

Doctor to Be Questioned.

Prosecuting Attorney Eugene Weesner said Bartholomew refused to discuss the shooting with officials before he died, but that Bartholomew is believed to have made a dying statement to the attending physician. The physician will be called before the grand jury Wednesday.

Mrs. Harrell, making an effort to gain her liberty, persisted in her story that Bartholomew suddenly became despondent and shot himself.

An entirely different view of the situation was taken by the other woman in the case, Bartholomew's fiancée, Miss Margaret Gillespie, a teacher in the high school at Lagro. She said she and Bartholomew had planned to be married in the spring. Weeping, she demanded a thorough inquiry.

In trying to find the real motive back of the killing, authorities looked into Mrs. Harrell's life in Lagro. The woman, 48 years old, was said to have had almost no close friends other than Bartholomew, who was 45 years old.

Friends for a Decade.

The educator, it was learned, had been friendly with Harrell, a maintenance supervisor at a power substation in Lagro, and his wife for at least ten years.

On Friday Mrs. Harrell and Bartholomew went hunting together at Huntington. They bagged several rabbits and came home in high spirits.

"He and I went to Huntington for some beer," Mrs. Harrell was quoted. "When we came back the three of us sat in the kitchen drinking. About 3 o'clock Fred stepped outside. While he was gone Mr. Bartholomew picked up Fred's gun from a table and threatened to kill himself. I struggled for the gun. He was shot in the struggle."

FAKE ARSON CASE DELAYED AGAIN; JURIST RESTS UP

Judge John J. Rooney of the Municipal court is sojourning after his reelection in Excelsior Springs, Mo. As a result he will be unable to hold a hearing which had been scheduled for today on an application far warants for State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas and a group of amateur sleuths. The request for the warants is an outgrowth of the notorious fake arson case in which Coultas and his sleuths caused the arrest of Frank Kolesiak and Emil Guerrieri and allegedly tortured them into making fake confessions.

Attorney Joseph T. Harrington, who has been seeking the warants for two months, was notified yesterday that Judge Rooney had sent a telegram saying that his physician said it is imperative that he remain at the vacation spot for another ten days. Judge Rooney has been succeeded in the Felony court by Judge Matthew Hartigan, who has announced that the "arson case belongs to Judge Rooney and he must decide it."

Gov. Horner is personally investigating Coultas' conduct in the case. Kolesiak and Guerrieri were accused falsely of setting a hotel fire which cost eight lives.

SAVE TEACHER FROM GAS DEATH.

Miss Marie Ambrose, 23 years old, a physical training instructress, was found overcome by gas yesterday in the kitchen of her home at 1555 East 61st street. She was revived by inhalator squad No. 5, under Lieut. Frank McDermott.

AX SQUADS FIND ONLY 2 BET DENS TO WARM UP ON

State's Attorney Courtney's ax raiders again found business slow yesterday as they continued their hunt for handbooks. They wrecked only two, bringing their total for the campaign to 641. In the last week only eleven gambling dives have been chopped up. Detective Dan Moriarity's south side squad was first to score yesterday, raiding a place at 5451 Wentworth avenue. Fifty men and twenty-five women patrons were sent home. John Callahan and Frank Hart were seized for questioning. Sergt. Ernest Sloey's ax swingers visited a joint at 4433 Broadway, where twentyfive men and ten women were playing the horses. Joseph Becker and Alphonse Beaulieu were questioned.

DIES OF BULLET FROM ENRAGED HUSBAND'S GUN

Fred Rosenkranz, 3236 North Troy street, who was shot Sunday night by an enraged husband, died yesterday in the Belmont hospital. He was shot by Philip Hirsch, 57 years old, 3186 Avondale avenue, in a tavern at 3188 Avondale avenue.

According to Mrs. Lucille Konwinski, tavern owner, Rosenkranz, who was 34 and a coalyard helper, was drinking with two other men. Hirsch entered and said, "You're the man who has been breaking up my home!" Then he fired. Hirsch's wife, Cora, said she did not know Rosenkranz and that her husband was released three years ago after four years in the Chicago state hospital.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!

Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EXPOSES SCHEME OF REDS TO GET FUNDS OF U. A. W.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Zygmund Dobrzynski, an organizer for the United Automobile workers, testified before the house committee on un-American activities today that communist members of the union had diverted auto workers' funds into organizations controled by the communist party.

Zygmund Dobrzynski. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

He said they accomplished this by a well-planned strategy at meetings as the result of which contributions were made to various groups.

Dobrzynski expressed fear that some punishment would be meted out to him as the result of his testimony. He stressed the point that he appeared under subpoena.

Homer Martin Excused.

Homer Martin, president of the automobile workers, had been scheduled to testify today, but, as upon several past occasions, failed to appear. Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.], said, however, that there was no conflict between Martin and the committee. The U. A. W. leader was again excused because of urgent business, Dies added, and would appear Wednesday.

Dobrzynski, director of the drive to unionize workers at the Ford plant in Detroit, testified that he had been in open conflict with communistic elements within the U. A. W. for some time.

Early in the history of the organization, he said, William Weinstone, then secretary of the communist party in Michigan, approached him with a view to obtaining his coöperation for the communist cause. At that time, the witness continued, Weinstone named to him a list of U. A. W. officials who were communists or working with the communists.

Names of Reds Told.

Dobrzynski said the names given to him were Wyndham Mortimer, a vice president; Lloyd Jones, now president of local No. 2; John Anderson, Nat Ganley, and Stanley Novack, then organizers and since discharged; Bob Stone, Paul Gold, and Victor, Roy and Walter Reuther. He quoted Weinstone as having said the Reuther brothers were Socialists, but were working with the communists.

Later, Dobrzynski continued, Weinstone was defeated in an election and all of his candidates except one were defeated. Meanwhile, however, Novack, Anderson, and Ganley had tried to persuade him to join the communist party, he said.

U. W. A. money went to communist organizations, in this manner, he told the committee: An outside speaker would address a union meeting on behalf of some communist controlled organization. A communist member immediately would present a motion that a contribution be made. Another would second it, and a third make an emotional speech. A vote would follow.

"It usually carried," Dobrzynski said.

Money Is Gone.

"So that the money goes right out of the U. A. W. into some avenue dominated by the communist party?" inquired Representative Harold G. Mosier [D., O.].

"That's right," the witness replied.

Dobrzynski contradicted testimony given the committee in Detroit several weeks ago that Larry Davidow, a U. A. W. attorney, and Rabbi Frahm of Detroit had communist tendencies. Both of them, he said, had stood out against communism.

Beer Dealer's Wife Wins Alimony of $300 a Month

Mrs. Jean Mullaley, 2100 Lincoln Park West, was awarded $300 a month temporary alimony yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams in her pending separate maintenance suit against William J. Mullaley Jr., head of a beer distributing company. The judge also ordered $750 fees for her attorney, Benjamin B. Davis. At a hearing last week Attorney Davis told of a raid last July on a room in a Sheridan road hotel where Mullaley allegedly was found with an unidentified woman.

EARLE AND AIDS STRIVE TO BALK PENN GRAFT QUIZ

Machinery Set to Pry Lid Off Scandals.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—In the last days of his régime Gov. George H. Earle and thirteen of the Democratic party leaders in Pennsylvania are desperately trying to stave off a grand jury investigation of official corruption.

Machinery has been set up for an exhaustive inquiry into the graft charges, many of which the Democrats exploded against each other during the primary.

Badly beaten for the senate in the election last week by the Republican incumbent, Senator James J. Davis, Gov. Earle is now accused of using dilatory tactics so that as time goes on the statute of limitations will outlaw some of the charges. Already the governor and his cabinet have kept the grand jury from prying the lid of the state capital for six months.

That lid is about ready to pop off, however, because a new Republican governor, Judge Arthur H. James, will take over the state's affairs in January.

Meanwhile Guy K. Bard, who is Gov. Earle's attorney general, is considering another appeal to the state Supreme court. Bard is demanding that he be permitted to supersede District Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county [Harrisburg] in conducting the inquiry. Shelley is a Republican.

Common Pleas Judge Paul N. Schaeffer, who was designated by the Supreme court to call the grand jury and preside over the investigation, is a Democrat, but so far he has refused to permit Earle's attorney general to get his hands on the evidence.

Today Judge Schaeffer said he was holding up a call to the grand jury for a reasonable length of time, in which Bard is to decide on a Supreme court appeal. The judge explained he wanted to avoid starting the investigation and then being halted by another appeal to the Supreme court.

Big Staf Sorts Evidence.

The judge was conducted on a tour of the two buildings in downtown Harrisburg, one an abandoned bank and the other an apartment building. They have been rented for the grand jury investigation, which promises to be a huge undertaking. If finally approved, the grand jury will hold its deliberations in an ancient, gilded ballroom.

A staf of twenty-two stenographers was working on the mass of evidence already obtained and also digesting the testimony adduced at hearings before the special legislative committee.

Much of the evidence was developed by Charles J. Margiotti, former attorney general, whom Earle fired in a rage last spring. Margiotti, realizing the gravity of the disclosures, demanded a grand jury inquiry during the primary campaign and was thrown out of office as the state's chief law officer.

Accused by Mayor Wilson.

The charges arose when Earle was fighting for the senate nomination against Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia. Senator Joseph F. Guffey was supporting Wilson and a C. I. O. slate against the ticket of the regular Democratic organization.

Mayor Wilson accused the governor of taking money from Matthew H. McCloskey, contractor, who had been awarded 10 million dollars' worth of public works contracts. Earle admitted he had "borrowed" $26,500 from McCloskey.

In his petition for a grand jury investigation Shelley accused Earle and thirteen others of cheating and defrauding the commonwealth, of extorting money, and levying blackmail from public employés and private citizens doing business with the state, and of accepting bribes. The graft is alleged to have run into millions of dollars.

One of Earle's moves to forestall the grand jury was the hasty calling of a special session of the legislature last summer. Out of this session came a special house investigating committee composed of five Democrats and two Republicans.

Whitewash Committee Doomed.

This committee dawdled along for weeks with its majority announcing periodically that it could find no shred of evidence that would warant impeachment of the governor. Then came the election and the deluge. The whitewash committee will go out of existence with the old legislature on Dec. 1.

SENTENCED TO WALK SEVEN MILES A DAY TO HIS WORK ON WPA

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Because his wife charged he spent all his carfare on liquor, William Madigan, 42 years old, of Brooklyn, was ordered to walk seven miles to and from his WPA job every day until Nov. 23. Magistrate Nicholas Pinto imposed that sentence on Madigan today until a further hearing at the expiration of his walkathon. Madigan's wife, Celia, complained that her husband called her vile names and missed a week's work while he was on a spree.

From all over the world comes news of vibrant, often disturbing, significance—news that creates broad issues on which great masses of people cannot agree.

This is the life of today—you can't escape it.

And LIFE, the magazine, is edited to an honest facing of this reality. LIFE accepts its obligation to show its readers vigorously and fairly today's tremendous happenings—the news of war, of embattled political forces, and of conflicting social factions.

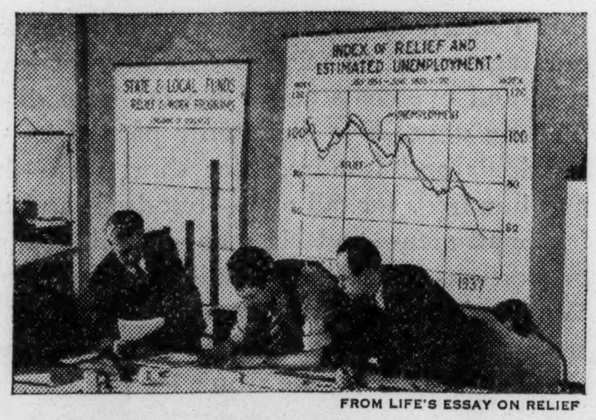
For the First Time!

LIFE presents these subjects in a new and interesting way that, for the first time in magazine history, makes millions read and absorb. For LIFE has created a new form of journalism . . . journalism that fuses pictures and text to present the problems and issues of the world with new candor and clarity.

The American people have shown how eager they are for this type of magazine by making LIFE the greatest success in publishing history—by paying out more money for LIFE each week than has ever been paid for any magazine—by buying and subscribing to over 2,200,000 copies weekly. Thus they tangibly applaud the way LIFE presents the facts on even the most disturbing of subjects.

POLITICS FROM LIFE

Politics—Something was really happening in American politics this last summer and fall. Over against the awful din of European war-scare, the American people were exercising their right to change their political mind. The evidence was "New Faces" in the political scene. The final result was such a resurgence of the Republican party as no political prophet dared to forecast. LIFE caught the feel of this story before the leaves began to fall. With pictures taken in all the great states of the Union, and with authoritative words, LIFE introduced to its millions of readers the new faces who have now become new political leaders throughout the land.

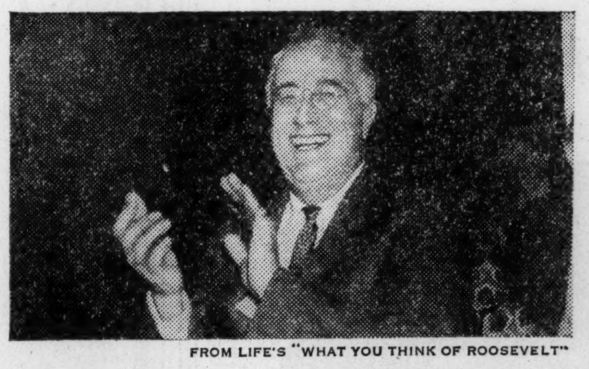


FROM LIFE'S ESSAY ON RELIEF

Relief—LIFE has let the taxpayers see just how their own pocketbooks are hit by America's $2,900,000,000 Federal Relief Bill this year; let them see how a great deal of this money has been used to make life endurable for the unemployed—and how some of it has been used for political gain.

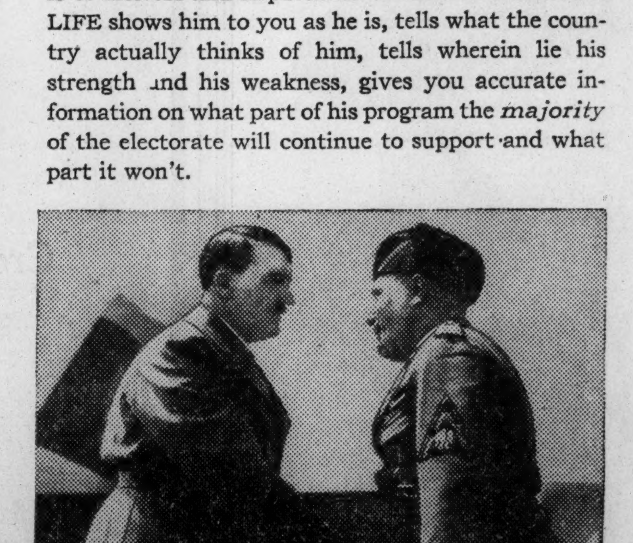
FROM LIFE'S LABOR NEWS

Labor—Labor is a vital, far-reaching problem, not only to the Front Office but within the ranks of Labor itself. LIFE has extensively reported on Labor, has shown what is happening and why. And with actual pictures and truthful text LIFE's reporting makes obvious those specific problems that are harassing both Capital and Labor.



FROM LIFE'S "WHAT YOU THINK OF ROOSEVELT"

Roosevelt—To one man President Roosevelt is a saint—to another, a devil. But to a greater degree than any previous U. S. President, his every move is of interest and importance to America's millions. LIFE shows him to you as he is, tells what the country actually thinks of him, tells wherein lie his strength and his weakness, gives you accurate information on what part of his program the majority of the electorate will continue to support and what part it won't.



EUROPEAN NEWS FROM LIFE

Europe—But it is from Europe that comes the most important news of our time—Europe, where conflicting political ideologies rock the entire world.

It is of tremendous importance to American democracy to understand thoroughly what is going on overseas. LIFE has conscientiously undertaken the task of showing and telling its readers—of helping America understand the whole confusing business. Toward such an understanding, LIFE has given a notable succession of illuminating and searching picture-word essays on European countries and peoples and rulers.

FROM LIFE'S WAR COVERAGE

The whole purpose of war is destruction. LIFE shows it thus—shows pictures of things and persons destroyed or being destroyed—though we fully know that realistic war pictures shock and outrage thousands of readers. But the dead of war have indeed died in vain if live men refuse to look at them.

• • •

Thus, LIFE keeps its readers informed, not deluded, about the world they live in. Thus, through its new kind of pictorial journalism, LIFE promotes a sane, factual understanding of our time, our people, and our problems. Having learned this about LIFE, millions read it with confidence and enjoyment each week.

It is not strange, therefore, that LIFE, America's newest editorial force, has already established itself as America's most potent editorial force!

12 SPORTSMEN DIE IN SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

Eight Drown and Four Are Gas Victims.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Four Wisconsin fishermen and three hunters drowned in boating accidents over the week-end. Four deer hunters were asphyxiated in their trailer in northern Minnesota. A twelfth man drowned when fishing in the Rock river in Illinois.

Four Wausau men drowned Saturday when fishing in Island lake near Manitowish in Vilas county. Members of a CCC camp at Mercer dragged the lake all day today and did not recover the bodies. It was believed the lake would freeze before they are found.

Former Wausau Mayor Dies.

The victims were George W. Borovitz, 68 years old, former mayor of Wausau; N. P. Beck, 45, district manager for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company; Herman Belter, 56, plant superintendent for George Silbernagle & Sons, sash and door manufacturers, and J. W. Delaney, 40, Wausau city sealer of weights and measures.

On a nearby lake shore searchers found their outboard motor boat. In it were provisions for a noonday lunch and the fishing tackle the two men had when they left La Fave's resort on the lake Saturday morning.

The bodies of three duck hunters, two of them prominent Madison men, were recovered today from Garnet lake, near Prairie du Chien, where they drowned yesterday.

State Official Drowns.

They were Frank R. King, 65 years old, of Madison, state sanitary engineer; Wilbert J. Hefty, 35, an appraiser for the Home Owners Loan corporation and a former real estate dealer in Madison, and their host, Richard Buethin, 39, a plumber of Prairie du Chien.

The two Madison men went to Prairie du Chien Saturday to spend the week-end hunting. Their outboard motor boat apparently capsized when they went out on the lake yesterday when the water was rough.

Gas Kills Four Hunters.

International Falls, Minn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Four deer hunters were found asphyxiated today and a fifth man in a critical condition from monoxide gas poisoning in their house trailer six miles west of Big Falls.

All were from Hutchinson, Minn. The four dead were F. J. Ruth, 25 years old; Louis Jergens, 27; Lyle S. Schonenen, 37, and Walter Spannus, 25. Joseph Julig, 45 years old, was near death.

Deputy Game Warden Cecil Richards found the victims in their trailer where they had parked it for the night. Gas from a charcoal heater in the trailer apparently was responsible for the tragedy.

Drag River for Fisherman.

Oregon, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Ogle county officers and volunteers continued to drag Rock river today in an attempt to find the body of George F. Cann, 56 years old, former Ogle county superintendent of schools, who drowned Saturday when on a fishing trip.

Wins Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. LORETTA MORRISON.

Mrs. Loretta Morrison told Judge Philip Finnegan yesterday that shortly after her marriage last July 18 she found her husband, James, writing a letter to one of her girl friends. She believed his explanation that he was just trying to improve his penmanship.

But, Mrs. Morrison added, she became suspicious when the girl friend's reply was an amorous one. Thereupon she objected and her husband struck her. Judge Finnegan instructed her attorney, Norman Becker, to prepare a divorce decree.

Mrs. Morrison is 20 years old and lives at 2348 South Ridgeway avenue, Hinsdale. Morrison, who is 23, lives at 220 South 8th street, La Grange.

THE BATH IS LAID TO REST AS HIGH AND LOW MOURN

Thousands Bid Veteran Alderman Good-By.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Chicago's democracy, led by Mayor Kelly, marched yesterday in the funeral procession for John J. [Bathhouse John] Coughlin, alderman of the 1st ward for forty-six years. Not marching but mourning were hundreds of the men and women of the ward, stricken with grief at the passing of the man who had been their friend, protector, and provider as well as their representative in the council.

In St. John's basilica at 18th and Clark streets, where a requiem mass was sung before the body was taken to Calvary cemetery, the ailes were filled to overcrowding. Constituents of The Bath took all the space that was left after the mayor, present and past members of the city council, and nearly every Democratic office holder in the county filled the pews.

"The Little Fellow" Mourns.

Led by a brass band that alternated between the funeral march and "Nearer My God to Thee," the Bath's friends had marched the few blocks from the chapel at 1820 South Michigan avenue. Behind the dignitaries plodded hundreds of "Coughlin's Boys" wearing black badges that designated them as members of the 1st Ward Democratic club. Two hundred policemen and 200 firemen also marched in the procession and stood at attention outside the funeral chapel and church.

In an automobile close behind the herse rode "The Little Fellow," ex-Ald. Michael Kenna, co-ruler with Coughlin in the 1st ward for nearly half a century, and Judge John H. Caverly of the Circuit court, a protégé of Kenna and Coughlin.

There were ten automobiles laden with flowers. Floral tributes in great numbers were sent directly to the cemetery. It was a turnout such as The Bath would have wished, his friends solemnly asserted.

The racing fraternity was represented. In recent years The Bath had acquired a stable of sixty or more thoroughbreds but they seldom won races for him. His flair for racing and his fancy vests had helped advertise him in his declining years. At 78 he was still an elegantly attired sportsman until stricken a few weeks ago.

Always Delivered the Vote.

Earlier he and Kenna had been noted for the certainty with which they gave friendly Democratic candidates majorities of 5,000 to 7,000 votes in their ward. To do so, in olden days, they frequently paid the board bill of hundreds of flophouse residents. Many of those former constituents mingled yesterday with the office holders their votes had helped put in positions of power.

Despite the chill in the air a few thousand persons waited outside the church until The Bath had started on his last ride.

Inside the Rev. T. J. Read, assistant pastor of St. John church, briefly reviewed Coughlin's life and pronounced it worthwhile. Coughlin, he said, had been a link between the old century and the new. When he become an alderman Chicago was little more than a frontier town.

From a sprawling river and waterfront city Chicago has become a great educational center, Father Read said. It has become a city of churches and charitable institutions, a religious center. Some of the credit was given to Coughlin.

Pleads for Moral Leadership.

"You city fathers occupy a holy office," Father Read said to the assembled councilmen. "You are God's representatives in civil matters. The fate of the city is in your hands. At this time, when the morals of the world are crumbling in ruins in other countries you are called upon to make Chicago the moral leader of the world."

After a few prayers in the cemetery the body was placed in a vault. On the way home the talk was of Coughlin's successor in the city council. It was generally agreed that Kenna, who was Coughlin's fellow alderman for twenty-six years, will have almost sole power in making the selection. Whoever is selected by Kenna undoubtedly will be elected next February, it was conceded. Kenna was not ready to name his choice.

FOUR FACE COURT TODAY IN LABOR ROW ON PAINTING

Four men arrested Sunday after a fight with two nonunion painters will be arraigned today before Judge Eugene L. McGarry. The four, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, are Charles Youngblood, 2227 Monroe street; Joseph Murphy, 2547 Washington boulevard; Frank Ritchie, 1345 North La Salle street, and George Hartigan, 531 North St. Louis avenue. Chicago avenue police said they were fighting with Cress and Roy McDonald, brothers, of 1654 Burling street. The brothers were painting at 641 North Michigan avenue. The combatants used chairs, brooms and anything handy, police said.

Testifies at Murder Trial of Her Father.

Boyle asked. The child hesitated, then replied:

"He said, 'Mothers are a pain in the neck'."

Q.—What did you do then? A.—I went to bed.

Q.—Did you hear anything then? A.—I heard mother and daddy quarreling. They were talking loud.

Q.—Did you hear your mother say anything? A.—I heard——

Here Martha Jean bowed her head a long time and obviously was fighting back the tears. The courtroom was hushed.

"What did your mother say?" asked Judge Dunne.

She Begins to Weep.

At this Martha Jean began to weep and a ten minute recess was ordered. It required much persuasion and coaxing by bailifs to get her back into the courtroom. Then Judge Dunne put the question again.

"She said, 'Please don't shoot me, Jim." The child bowed her head, then added: "But she might have said, 'Don't shout, Jim.'"

Q.—[By Boyle.]—And what did you hear after that? A.—I heard a loud noise.

Q.—What did it sound like? A.—I don't know, exactly.

Q.—And what did you do? A.—I ran into their bedroom and saw mother on the bed. Daddy was standing between the twin beds. The gun was on the floor at the end of mother's bed. He said, "Mother shot herself."

Q.—What happened then? A.—Daddy wiped off the gun and I put it in the closet. He told me to, I guess. I ran downstairs to get some water and iodine, and I called Dr. McDougal [Dr. Thomas C. McDougal of La Grange, the family physician who had prescribed the morphine for Matter]. The next time I saw the gun, Dr. McDougal had it downstairs.

Stewart then attempted to show by questions in cross-examination that Martha Jean cannot remember dates and times very clearly. She was unable to say on what day or in what week she went to Harrisburg, Pa., the home of her father's sister, Miss Marion Matter, who has had the child since the tragedy.

Q.—The questions the police asked frightened you? A.—Yes.

Q.—You are still scared, aren't you? And you are unsure of what happened? A.—Yes.

On redirect examination, Boyle appeared a little more stern than he had been previously.

Q.—Why did you say your mother shot herself? A.—My daddy told me to and I didn't want to hurt my daddy.

He Was a Good Daddy, She Says.

On his second cross-examination of Martha Jean, Stewart asked:

"You still don't want to hurt your daddy, do you?"

"O, no, no. He was always a good daddy," she replied quickly, beginning to cry again, as Boyle shouted objections to the question.

"That is all," said Stewart. The court called for a recess and Martha Jane stepped down. She ran to her father, who was standing, and threw her arms about him. His eyes were filled with tears.

"It's all right, honey," he said. "You are still daddy's little girl, aren't you?"

Jurors Taken Out.

Boyle objected furiously.

Judge Dunne ordered the jurors be taken out and when they were gone, the prosecutor continued his objections.

"I can't help what happened," said Stewart. "It was purely a matter of human emotion over which I have no control."

The last witness of the day was Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, a coroner's physician, who testified that he had examined Mrs. Matter's body and had found no powder marks. There were no powder marks on her clothing or the bed covers, he added. This shows, he said, that the weapon was held at least two feet from her when it was fired.

After the swift selection of the jury at the morning session, there was a recess until afternoon. The state's first witnesses included Dr. McDougal, who told of being called to the Matter home on the night of the tragedy.

He said Matter appeared to be out of his mind.

TURKEYS SELLING BRISKLY AT CITY WHOLESALE MART

Thanksgiving turkeys were selling briskly in the Chicago wholesale market yesterday at reasonable prices.

The Chicago Poultry board reported that birds of the best quality were wholesaling at about 25 cents a pound. Young toms of the No. 1 grade brought from 24½ to 25½ cents, dressed. First grade dressed hen turkeys were quoted at 25 to 26 cents.

Best quality toms were selling on foot at 19 to 20 cents a pound wholesale. Lower grades, both dressed and live, were at a few cents discount from the best.

Elevator Bandits Picking on Tom; 2 More Rob Him

Two robbers early yesterday took $85 from the cash drawer of the Norwood hotel, 6400 Normal boulevard, and forced the night clerk, Thomas Durham, to ride up in the elevator. A week ago Monday a gunman robbed Durham of $37 in the same manner.

SEEKS TO PIECE A FORTUNE OUT OF OLD ROMANCE

Divorced 42 Years, She Sues $150,000 Estate.

Forty-two years ago Mrs. Ida Nelson Johnson was granted a divorce in the Cook County Circuit court from John William Johnson. The grounds were cruelty, drunkenness, and adultery. The divorce decree was all Mrs. Johnson got. No provisions were made for a financial settlement, alimony, or the care of their two children, John William Jr. and Ralph Walter Johnson.

Both husband and wife remarried after the divorce. Johnson, who later lived at 814 Bonnie Brae road, River Forest, became the vice president of an awning company his father had founded at 1237 North Honore street.

Sues for Dower Share.

Last Sept. 11, he died at the age of 66. Surviving were Mrs. Mayme Johnson, his second wife, and his two sons by his first marriage.

The first Mrs. Johnson, who married Solomon Opdahl, a toolmaker, and bore him four children, two of whom are living, now lives at 2252 North Kildare avenue. When Johnson died she read about it in the newspapers. That was the first information she had had of her former husband for many years.

Then, yesterday, she filed suit in Superior court for a one-third dower share of Johnson's estate estimated as worth $150,000, plus $41,564.28. This amount, according to the bill, represents an allowance of $8,320 for the care of the children before they became of age—an allowance that was never paid—plus accumulated interest.

Points to Old Statute.

Attorney Charles R. Aiken, representing Mrs. Opdahl, explained the suit was filed because of an old Illinois statute which permits a husband or wife who wins a divorce because of misconduct of the other person to retain dower rights resulting from the marriage.

"The Illinois Supreme court has decided that law is harsh and has interpreted it to mean that if alimony is paid, dower rights are lost," he said, adding, "In this case no alimony was mentioned."

According to the complaint the couple was married in 1890 and in 1895 Johnson deserted his wife. It is charged that he then went to Milwaukee and under the name of William Healy bigamously married Mayme Jones.

The bill also charges that when he learned his wife was going to sue for a divorce in 1896, he admitted his fault to her and persuaded her to permit an attorney for the awning company to represent her without cost. He defaulted and the decree was granted.

Mrs. Opdahl claims that after the divorce was granted and she asked the attorney for the company to see that payments of $5 a week for each of the children were made, he told her Johnson had left town and was not to be found. She says Johnson had agreed before the divorce to this payment, but that the agreement was not in the decree.

According to Johnson's will, which was probated Nov. 1, John William Johnson Jr. is to receive $1,000 and the other son fifty shares of stock in the Johnson company. The second wife, Mayme Jones Johnson, was bequeathed the remainder of the estate.

Found Dead in Garage from Monoxide Poisoning

William Reilly, 39 years old, 1429 North Oakley boulevard, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in his automobile in the garage in the rear of 1433 North Oakley last night. Police said he had formerly been in the newspaper advertising business.

HOSPITAL NAMED IN $10,000 SUIT AFTER ACCIDENT

A $10,000 suit alleging malpractice was filed in Circuit court yesterday against the Physicians Memorial hospital, 6970 North Clark street. The suit was filed by Mrs. Marie Ferina, 834 Cleveland avenue, as administratrix of the estate of Jasper Diminio. Dr. Jerry Neason of the hospital staf and Stanley Johnson, former X-ray technician at the institution, were named co-defendants.

Diminio died in the hospital last July 11 after an appendicitis operation. According to the bill, Johnson was not qualified to give Diminio the anesthetic which preceded the operation performed by Dr. Neason.

FATHER BREAKS DOWN AT BIER OF BABY HE SLAPPED

Wife Resents Plan to Deny Blow Killed Infant.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Ralph Koch, young WPA worker who slapped his baby son to death Friday night, collapsed, a sobbing, broken figure, yesterday when he viewed the body of his dead son.

Afterwards, during the brief inquest hearing and the baby's funeral and burial, he was mute, his head bowed, eyes closed behind his heavy spectacles. He then was taken back to the Morton Grove county highway police station. Later he was booked on a charge of involuntary manslaughter by highway police.

Toward his young wife, Marcia, 20 years old, of 5755 Irving Park boulevard, Koch raised his eyes only once. This was when she asked that he be allowed to attend the funeral.

Reconciled on Day of Death.

Aside from this request, however, Mrs. Koch gave no intimation that she will return to her husband, or even visit him in jail. They had been separated three weeks, she told a coroner's jury, but were reconciled Friday afternoon, when friends took them and their baby for an automobile ride. That night, when she went to work at a hot dog stand, she entrusted the baby, Tod, to his care.

About 10 p. m., she related, her brother, Dudley Brattin III., ran into the stand and told her Tod was dead. [An autopsy revealed a fractured skull.]

"The first thing I thought of," she said, "was something that happened two months ago. Ralph was taking care of the baby and came in to me, carrying him. The baby's nose was bleeding, his face was scratched, and there was a lump on his head.

"I was terrified. I asked Ralph what had happened. He said the baby had been crying, so he had turned him over. He said that was all.

"I told him that turning the baby over wouldn't have caused those injuries, but he insisted it had."

Lawyer's Entry Angers Wife.

Koch, who voluntarily gave himself up to police after the baby's death, saying "I lost my head," was represented by City Judge Edward D. Markham of Maywood, retained by his foster father, Lieut. Edward Koch of the Maywood police. When the mother saw the attorney she turned heatedly upon Lieut. Koch.

"You promised me you weren't going to have any lawyer for Ralph," she cried. "What are you trying to do? Make it appear that Ralph didn't kill the baby?"

Koch did not testify, Judge Markham having asked a continuance that he might gather more details concerning the Friday afternoon automobile ride.

"There is no evidence," he said, "that the little slap the husband gave killed the baby. He might have been hurt on the ride."

EX-FIRE CAPTAIN PLEADS GUILTY IN $1,500 SWINDLE

John Lysaught, 43 years old, who until a few weeks ago was captain of engine company No. 16 of the Chicago fire department, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge William J. Lindsay in the Criminal court to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Lysaught is also charged with operating a confidence game in connection with cashing bogus money orders for $1,500. Eleven currency exchanges were victimized.

Lysaught's attorney, James M. Burke, told Judge Lindsay that the fire captain passed the money orders while intoxicated and that he had spent the money recklessly, giving away large sums. Lysaught profited only to the extent of $75 and his previous record had been excellent, Burke stated. Judge Lindsay remarked that it sounded like a case for a psychiatrist, but allowed Burke to file a motion for probation, returnable on Dec. 21. Lysaught told the court he would make restitution.

PRESIDENT ASKS C. I. O. TO STRIVE FOR LABOR PEACE

Urges Lewis and A. F. of L. 'Consolidate Gains.'

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A plea for labor peace was sent by President Roosevelt today to the first constitutional convention of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Recently the President sent a similar plea to the American Federation of Labor convention in Houston, Tex.

"The wage earners of the United States have made great progress in recent years in regard to wages, hours of labor, general working conditions, and economic security," said the President's message.

Urges Gains Be Consolidated.

"If the great gains already made are to be consolidated for the benefit of workers as well as management, it is essential that there be coöperation among the wage earning groups, and because of this I venture to express the hope, as I did also to the American Federation of Labor convention delegates, that every possible door to peace and progress in the affairs of organized labor in the United States be left open.

Peace Committee Meets.

Immediately after reading of the message, the C. I. O. peace committee was called into consultation.

Shortly before midnight John L. Lewis and Lee Pressman, C. I. O. general council, were called into the conference, where the nine committee members were reported considering several resolutions demanding the organization adopt an affirmative position on the question.

Lewis was applauded vigorously earlier in the day when he denounced Adolf Hitler, chancellor of Germany, as a "bloodthirsty wolf."

IOWA WOMAN DENIES KILLING HER MOTHER; SEARCH FOR HUSBAND

Le Mars, Ia., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Sumner Knox vigorously denied tonight, Sherif Frank Scholer said, she had any connection with the death of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Trow, 80 years old, whose body was found Saturday buried in a kitchen cabinet in the garden of the Knox home.

The sherif said Mrs. Knox, who had not been informed previously of the finding of the body, denied she knew anything about the circumstances of the civil war widow's death or the shallow grave in which the cabinet was found. Mrs. Trow had not been seen since May.

Sherif Scholer informed Mrs. Knox of the finding of her mother's body when he went to a country home, where she has been held in technical custody for several days, to serve a warant charging her with forging the signature of Mrs. Trow on federal pension checks.

Meanwhile, Sherif Scholer and County Attorney John Murray are directing a wide search for Mrs. Knox's husband who disappeared early in the summer.

Ex-Bank Clerk Indicted on Federal Theft Charge

A federal grand jury yesterday returned an indictment charging Walter A. Grundy, 800 South 2d avenue, Maywood, with embezzlement. Grundy is alleged to have stolen $1,300 from the American National bank, where he was a clerk. Assistant District Attorney Roy D. Keehn Jr. said his total defalcations would exceed $8,000. Grundy, who resigned from the bank in 1936, was arrested a few days ago in El Paso, Tex. Federal Judge William H. Holly ordered the indictment sent there for extradition purposes.

WANTED: FINISHERS!

By CALEB

"THE COWARDS never started; the weaklings died by the way." Written of the westward-surging hordes of the "Gold Rush" of 1849, these ten words have a fitness and finality that well apply to all our human undertakings.

Marathons start with a multitude of entrants. They finish with one winner, and a few who exhaustedly straggle in his rear. The trek for new lands begins with hundreds, and ends with a handful—the pioneers. For every Lewis and Clark, Daniel Boone, Westinghouse, Bell, Farragut, Edison or Marconi, the pages of progress are strewn with thousands of unknowns, the nameless others who merely started.

Speaking recently to an animated group of young men, a store executive impressed on them this vital need, implicit in all effort—the need to finish, to complete, to stop only at the end.

"It's easy to start," he admonished. "Starters are usually crowds. All round one are enthusiasm, freshness, the first strong impulses to achieve. But wait till these early incentives have faded . . . till the going gets harder, the companions fewer, the labor heavier—the pathway ahead lonelier! There and then is the testing-point. There and then is where the man—or woman—who can keep on keeping on, stands out like a big tree on a little hill.

"Forget anything else I may have said to you today; but if you still remember these few words I have offered about finishing—then turn those words, sometime, somewhere, into a winning performance, this quiet occasion will have been tremendously successful.

"Merchandising today is no more a sinecure than any other field of endeavor. All endeavor, in fact, calls for this ability to tramp the last mile, shape the last plan, endure the last hour's toil, make the last sacrifice that alone earns a lasting reward. This fight-to-the-finish spirit is the one human characteristic that has brought us finally out of barbarism into our present-day civilization. If you will face the future as finishers, that future holds nothing you cannot attempt—and accomplish!"

GOITER IS TRACED TO DEFICIENCY OF PROTEINS IN DIET

Meat and Eggs Suggested as Preventives.

Goiter is caused by a deficiency of proteins in the diet and may be prevented by eating enough protein foods, such as meat and eggs.

This theory, revolutionary in medical circles, was advanced yesterday by Dr. Horry M. Jones, Chicago goiter specialist, as a result of three years' research.

Dr. Jones presented his discoveries on Sunday night at his home in River Forest to a group of twenty prominent physicians, including Dr. Andrew Ivy, eminent professor of physicians, including Dr. Andrew Ivy, professor of physiology at the Northwestern university medical college.

Enlargement of Gland.

"The theory is rational and deserves careful study," commented Dr. Ivy. "Further experimentation is needed."

Goiter is an enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck, accompanied by excessive secretion of thyroxin. It produces tremors, nervous fatigue, and loss of weight through its poisonous affect on the body.

It is common in Illinois, which is situated in the so-called "goiter belt."

Goiter has been believed generally to be caused by a lack of iodine in the diet, but Dr. Jones asserted that this is a fallacy.

Diets of 1,500 Compared.

He said that his laboratory at 315 South Honore street had compared the diets of 1,500 persons, both sick and well, and found that wherever the protein calories fall below 13 per cent of the total calories [heat units] of the diet there are symptoms of goiter.

"For years physicians have been recommending low protein diets to their patients in the belief that any number of ailments would benefit," said Dr. Jones. "We have traced numerous cases of suspected goiter to the time patients went on such diets."

Dr. Jones said that the protein portion of the diet acts as a catalyst in the blood for the combustion of fats and sugars [a catalyst is a substance producing a chemical change in other compounds without itself changing].

Iodine's Place Explained.

When there is not enough protein to catalyze all fats and sugars, he said, the thyroid gland begins producing thyroxin, which takes the place of the protein catalyst. Otherwise, he said, the glands are inactive.

Iodine, he explained, forms a major portion of thyroxin, and it is for this reason only that iodine helps a goiter patient. The relief, he added, is only temporary if the protein deficiency continues.

He did not recommend a protein diet as a cure for goiter in a patient after he loses weight, however, declaring that surgery is the only remedy then quick enough to save the patient.

Student on Hunting Trip Killed by Own Shotgun

Kidnap Trial Opens

[Acme Photo.]

Dr. Kent W. Berry (left), who went on trial with three other men charged with kidnaping and assaulting Irving Baker (right).

Olympia, Wash., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Prosecutors today said they might ask the death penalty for Dr. Kent W. Berry, 50 years old, society physician accused of the torture kidnaping of Irving Baker, former coast guard officer.

Smith Troy, chief prosecutor, said he was considering invoking Washington's "Lindbergh law" for the first time. It provides death for kidnapers where the victim is harmed.

Baker, accused by the doctor of raping his wife, 27 years old, said he was kidnaped at gun point last Aug. 19, beaten, whipped, tortured with a pair of pliers, and threatened with emasculation.

HINES RETRIAL SET FOR JAN. 1 IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The retrial of Jimmy Hines, Tammany leader, for lottery racket conspiracy, was set for Jan. 9 by Judge Charles C. Nott Jr., in General Sessions today.

Coincidentally it was revealed that Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora has recommended that the jurors in the recent mistrial be given $10 a day for their twenty-nine days of service, or a bonus of $290 each, in addition to the regular $3 a day.

Delay in the retrial until after the new year was requested by Assistant District Attorney Sewell Tying who said the jurors otherwise would be locked up over the holidays. Lloyd Paul Stryker of defense counsel concurred. Hines was not present.

PUNCHED FACES RIDE A TRANSFER TO ANTIQUE SHOW

There Were No Cheaters in the Good Old Days.

Buried in a corner of the vast exhibition hall of the Stevens hotel, filled with antiques from over the country as the Chicago Antiques Exposition and Hobby show opened yesterday, was a modest display which went almost unnoticed. Overshadowed by the exhibits of current fads in antiques—dolls, firearms, mechanical penny banks, paperweights and sheet music—few discovered it.

It was a small display of curious oblong bits of paper with small faces printed on them. They were among the earliest street car transfers. One boasted seven heads of men and women.

Conductors Punched Faces.

The men ranged from cleanly shaven chaps to gentlemen with varying facial foliage—mustachios, Van Dykes, sideburns, and full grown beards. The women differed only in their hats, one brim going straight out and another straight up.

Conductors of the day, it was explained, studied the characteristics of individuals who asked for transfers and punched the printed face which was the nearest likeness to the rider. Thus the next conductor knew there had been no cheating.

Women have begun collecting stamps, for years largely a man's hobby, the exhibition indicated, but men to date have the mechnical penny banks to themselves. A rare mechanical bank, used about 1860, depicts a dentist bending over a patient. When a penny is inserted the dentist pulls a tooth out of the patient's mouth. In another, a hunter aims a gun and a bear pops out of a hollow tree.

"Dolls are very good now," one of the exposition officials said. "Last year there were only a few in the show. There are hundreds now. I don't know why it is. Antiques go in waves. There are definite fads."

Dolls Bring Fancy Prices.

In an Evanston collector's exhibit a single doll's head is priced at $75, so valuable have the dolls become. It is that of a Victorian beauty with the up-hair dress so popular now.

A Bennington doll's head from the old Bennington, Vt., china factory, is in another exhibit. A Hetty doll of wood, dated 1740, also is on display.

So valuable no price has been placed upon it is a cameo in a collection of jewelry once owned by Samuel Insull. A Des Moines jeweler now owns it and says it is not for sale. It had been used as collateral and was not redeemed by the late utilities chief. The cameo shows Ben Hur driving a chariot. The horses and figure are carved in four layers, the work requiring five to seven years.

Indian Relics Draw Crowds.

Many men leaned over the counter of G. E. Pilquist of Dardanelle, Ark., who has been collecting pottery, effigy pieces, arrowheads, and other Indian relics for thirty-four years in Yell county.

A nickel music box of Swiss make, which plays five pieces for five cents, has not only the usual roll which makes music but two little metal figures beating tiny bells.

Several thousand persons attended an antique fashion show in the exposition hall last night. The exhibit will continue through Saturday.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME.

James T. Mallanny, 55 years old, was found dead of a heart attack last night in his home at 7210 South Shore drive. He was employed by the Union Switch and Signal company.

Unless You Are a Doctor!

Don't Pay If It Doesn't Work

If your child has a stubborn, torturing cough due to a cold—a cough that fails to respond to ordinary remedies—don't let the agony go on another hour! Get a bottle of F&F Cough Syrup from your druggist at once.

In scores of homes, F&F quickly, easily, SAFELY quiets coughs due to colds in a way that you may not have heard about, unless you are a doctor.

For F&F works on the principle of SYNERGISM. This means the co-operation of a number of ingredients—each doing a different thing where several things MUST be done to bring quick relief.

1. F&F coats the pharynx (throat) with a soothing, comforting film that quiets the cough and relieves irritation.

2. Special F&F ingredients are vaporized by the heat of the body and inhaled into the respiratory tract—the trachea (windpipe) and upper bronchial tubes. This medicinal vapor soothes irritated membranes where liquids cannot reach.

3. Still other F&F ingredients stimulate the flow of natural fluids in the membranes, thus help to moisten "dry throat," loosen the mucus or phlegm, and help to BREAK UP the cough.

Mrs. Catherine Gorman, 66 years old, 6330 Drexel boulevard, died last night in Woodlawn hospital of a skull fracture suffered on Oct. 21 when she was struck by an automobile at 61st street and Ingleside avenue. The driver was Arnold H. Freske, 28, of 3915 North Marshfield avenue.

URGE 20 PUBLIC AMBULANCES FOR USE IN CHICAGO

A plan for a city operated ambulance service was announced yesterday by Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern. He is chairman of the joint committee on public emergency ambulance service organized by the Chicago Medical society, the Chicago Hospital council, the American College of Surgeons, and the Council of Social agencies.

The plan, which will be submitted later to Mayor Kelly and the city council, calls for an appropriation of $254,300 to purchase twenty ambulances at $2,400 each and to operate them from zone hospitals. The hospitals would be selected by the board of health and a nonpolitical ambulance board.

Dr. MacEachern's report said that Chicago, unlike all other cities in the United States, has not a single medically adequate public ambulance available for general emergency use. Ninety per cent of all street accident cases in the city, it said, are removed in private cars. The committee's plan provides for emergency service for any one regardless of ability to pay, with a standard fee for persons with incomes.

3 STATES URGE JUDGE EVANS FOR SUPREME COURT

Baraboo Jurist Backed by 3,000 Signers.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A demand for representation in the Supreme court of the United States is reflected in petitions from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, comprising the 7th federal judicial circuit, urging the elevation of Judge Evan A. Evans of Baraboo, Wis. Appointed to the bench by President Wilson, Judge Evans has been a member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago since 1916. He is a Democrat.

The appointment of Warren Orr and of Norman L. Jones, justices of the Illinois Supreme court, has also been urged.

The petitions to President Roosevelt and Attorney General Cummings urging the appointment of Judge Evans to the Supreme court bear an impressive list of more than 3,000 signatures. They include the leading members of the bars of three states, federal district and state court judges, law school deans and law professors. Gov. Henry Horner forwarded the Illinois petition, together with a personal letter of indorsement, and Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. [Rad., Wis.], forwarded the Wisconsin petition, adding his indorsement.

May Go to Murphy.

Despite this strong appeal for recognition of a circuit that has not been represented in the Supreme court since the death of Chief Justice Melville Weston Fuller of Illinois in 1910, the defeated governor, Frank Murphy of Michigan, is believed to head the list of those under consideration by President Roosevelt for the existing Supreme court vacancy.

Informed quarters in Washington now believe that only one obstacle might prevent Gov. Murphy's appointment: The possibility that the senate would refuse to confirm him because he gave aid and comfort to the C. I. O. sitdown strikers during the Michigan reign of terror early last year. Mr. Roosevelt, it is believed, would not risk repudiation by nominating a man whose confirmation was doubtful.

Calls Lame Duck Conference.

Gov. Murphy conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House yesterday afternoon. Whether the Supreme court vacancy was discussed was not revealed, but Murphy received a political assignment growing out of the defeat of himself and other 100 per cent New Dealers in last Tuesday's elections. Murphy's present chore is to head off the threatened third party bolt of Mayor Fiorella H. La Guardia of New York, and other radicals, from the New Deal.

La Guardia has called a conference of lame duck New Dealers and political mavericks, including the defeated Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin, a Progressive; the defeated Gov. Elmer A. Benson of Minnesota, a Farmer-Laborite; the defeated Gov. Murphy, a Democrat, and Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, an independent. Gov. Murphy will endeavor to bring the radicals into the Democratic party.

Murphy was offered the Supreme court appointment that went to Solicitor General Stanley F. Reed, but he declined, saying he wanted to complete his term as governor. At that time Gov. Murphy was credited with presidential aspirations, which hardly could be troubling him now.

Held in High Esteem.

The high esteem in which Judge Evans is held is attested by the fact that attorneys and public leaders of all parties and all factors signed the petitions on his behalf. The Illinois petition stated, and Gov. Horner called attention to the following:

"Judge Evans has had a long experience as a federal judge and has demonstrated high qualities of learning, character, understanding of the law, and comprehension of sound principles in the determination of the causes which have been brought before him; he has a liberal mind, free from prejudice, and marked by a strong sense of justice and right dealing.

"The career of Judge Evans as a federal judge fits him peculiarly for promotion to a place on the Supreme court bench."

Writes Labor Decision.

Judge Evans demonstrated in the case of the National Labor Relations board against the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company, Terre Haute, Ind., which now is pending in the Supreme court, that he is not a radical who would rubber stamp anything demanded by the administration.

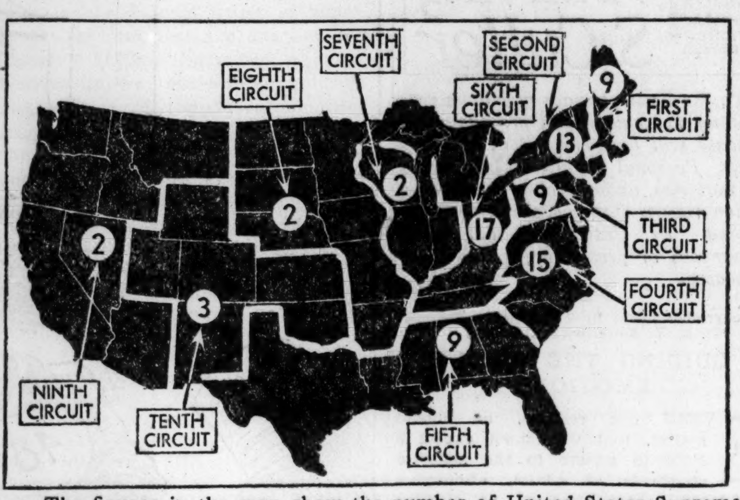
He wrote the opinion in which the Circuit court, dividing 2 to 1, refused to enforce a labor board order requiring the reinstatement of employés who went on strike in violation of an arbitration agreement.

During his twenty-two years of service on the Appellate court bench, Judge Evans has participated in more than 5,000 cases and written more than 1,500 opinions. His record of affirmances in the Supreme court is one of the highest in the country. He is 62 years old, having been born at Spring Green, Wis., on March 19, 1876.

The petitions addressed to President Roosevelt and Attorney General Cummings in Judge Evan's behalf call attention to the fact that the 7th judicial circuit is the second largest in the United States in volume of litigation, being exceeded only by the 2d [New York] circuit.

Geographical History of Supreme Court

(Story in adjoining column.)



The figures in the map show the number of United States Supreme court justices appointed from each of the federal judicial circuits since the court was founded. The 7th circuit, comprising Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, is demanding an appointment to fill a vancacy on the present court. The only two justices from this district were David Davis of Illinois (1862-1877) and Melville W. Fuller, also of Illinois (1888-1910).

FREED OF COURT SUPERVISION.

Edward Meyer, 22 years old, 7400 Dante avenue, was released from the supervision of the Boys court yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Graber because of good conduct. He was placed under the court's supervision last February on a charge of attempted robbery.

U. S. AGENTS GET ORDER TO DEPORT NICK THE GREEK

A deportation warant for Nicholas [Nick the Greek] Anton, former Capone henchman, was received yesterday by Fred J. Schlotfeldt, district supervisor of naturalization and immigration. The warant is based upon Anton's two convictions on charges of operating a disorderly house. These charges involve moral turpitude, a deportable offense.

The two convictions since have been set aside by Judge Francis Borrelli in the Municipal court and it is believed that Anton will fight the deportation order. He has been ordered to be prepared to leave by next Saturday. He is a brother of Anton Anton, who was killed in gang warfare several years ago while a member of the Capone gang.

SUES 2 TAVERNS AFTER HUSBAND IS SENT TO JAIL

Because her husband served a Bridewell sentence for assault after he had been served drinks in two taverns, Mrs. Sylvia Smith, 5516 West 64th street, filed suit for $10,000 in the Circuit court yesterday under the dramshop act. The defendants are Louis and James Gleatis, operators of a tavern at 6237 Archer avenue, and Nathan Stone, owner of the tavern; and James Furlong, operator, and Richard Lambert, owner, of a tavern at 7704 West 63d street. According to the bill, Mrs. Smith's husband, Hosie, was either given or purchased a gun in the Gleatis' tavern and then assaulted Arthur Landgren of Lemont, a schoolteacher. Smith was released from the Bridewell Oct. 29 after serving a ninety day term.

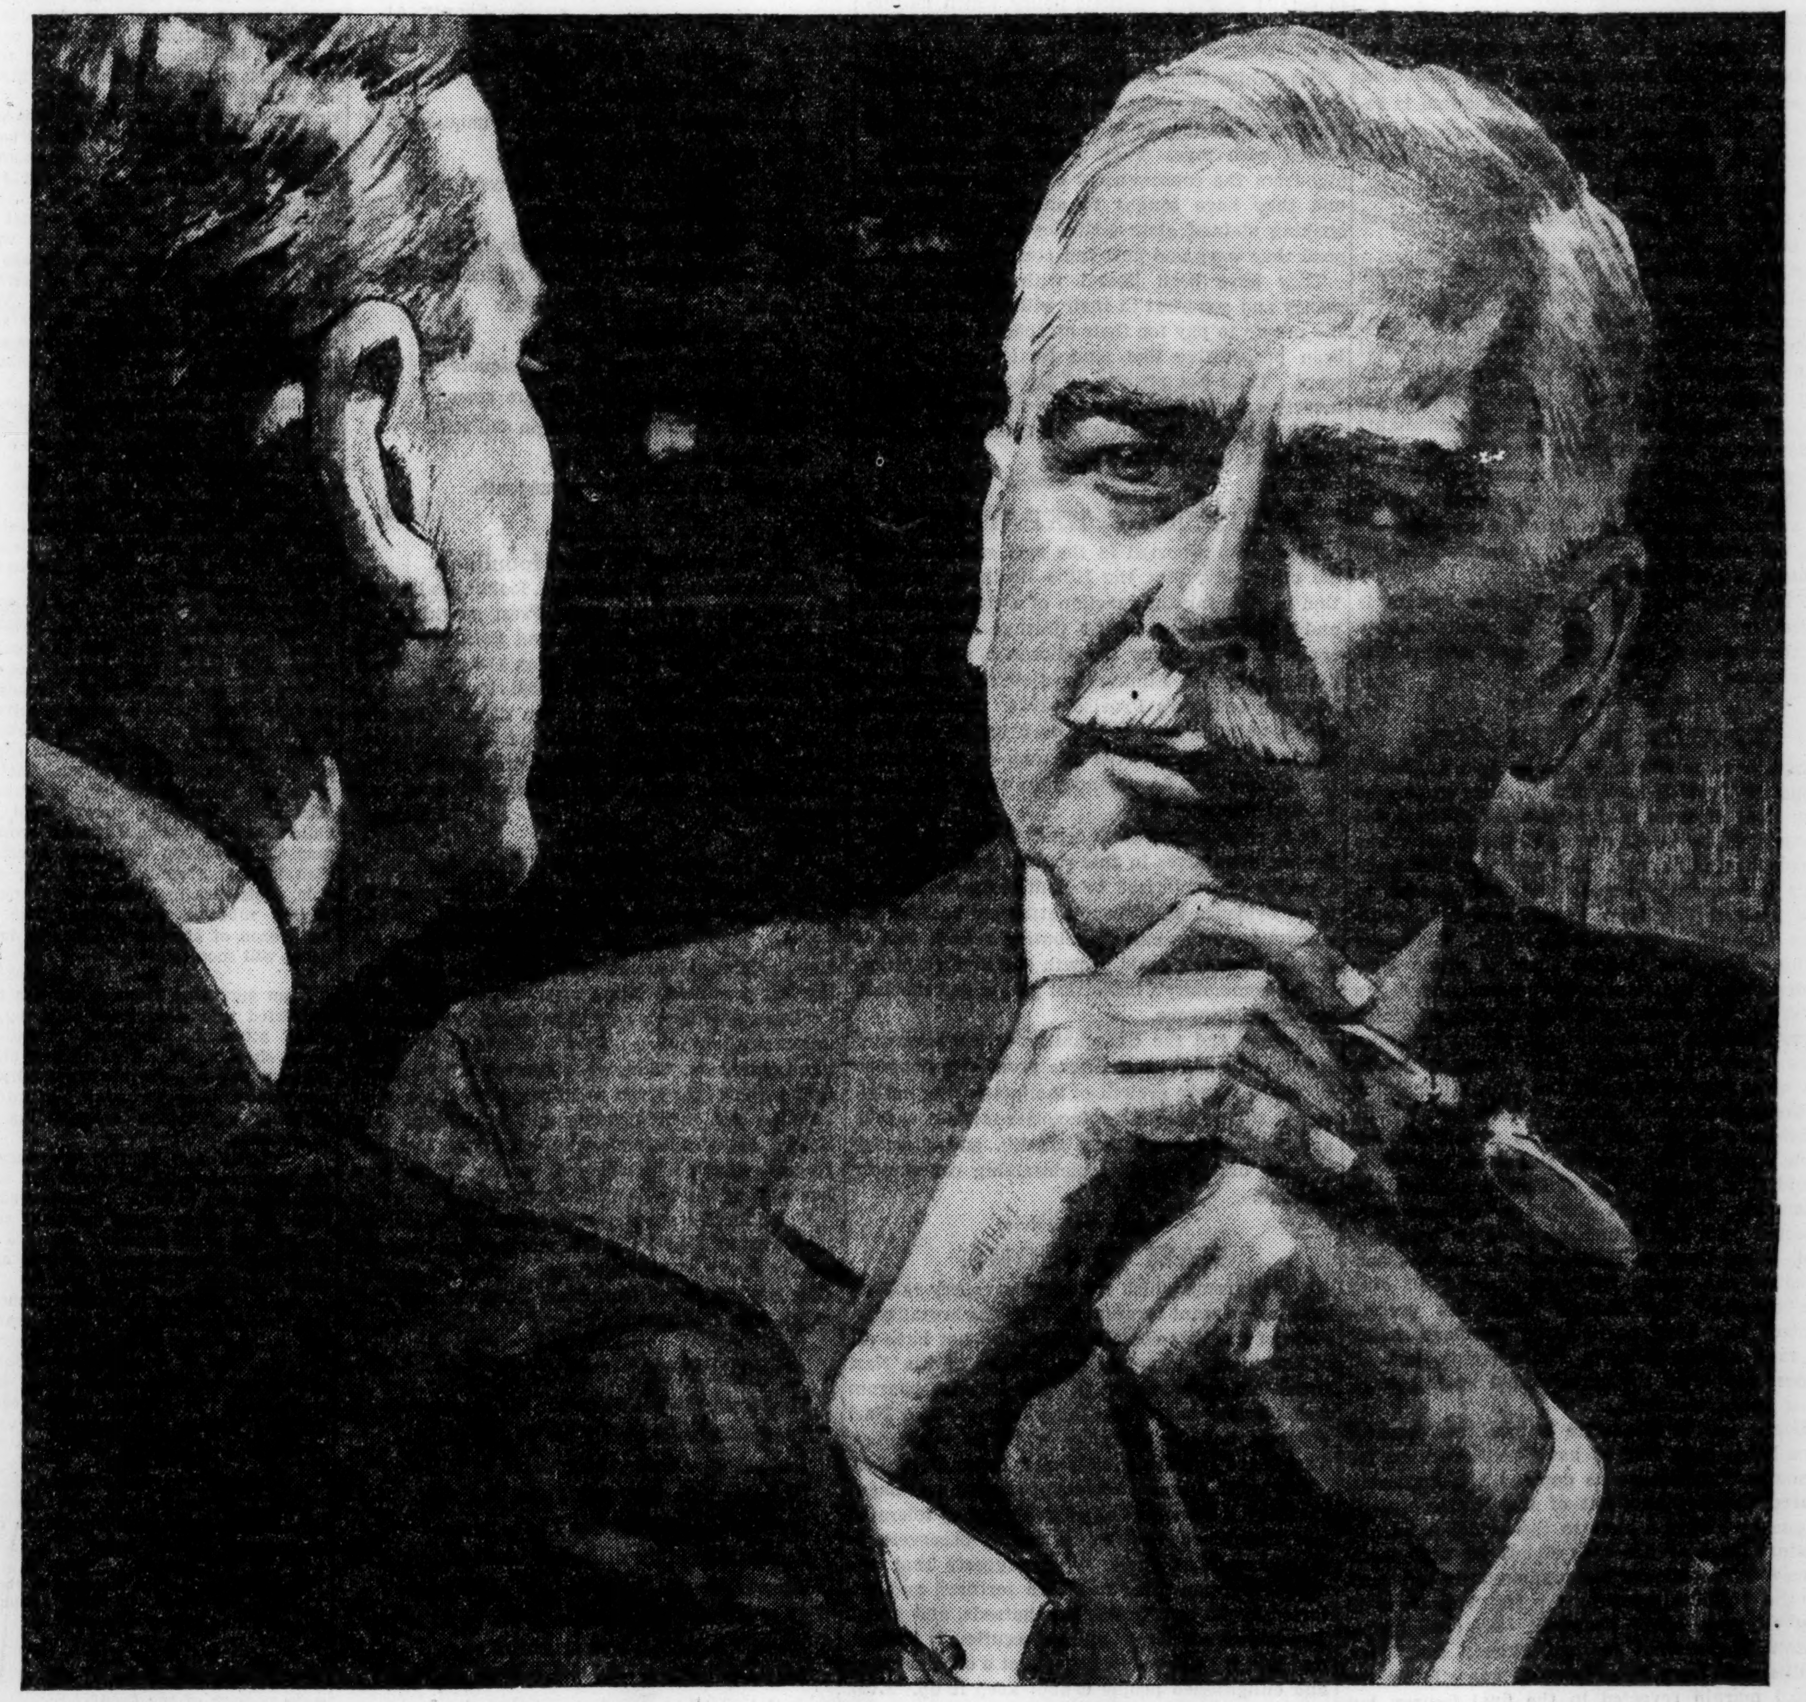
1938 IS A SANTA FE YEAR



SOME MEN SHOULD NOT DRINK

If you seek the advice of your physician on the subject of liquor, he will give you a sound answer based on the experience of the medical profession and his knowledge of your own particular case.

He may even tell you that you should not drink at all. He will always advise you to be moderate.

He will tell you that over-indulgence—no matter what form it takes—over-eating, lack of sleep, too strenuous exercise, or intemperate drinking is not good for you. You can rely upon your physician as a friend whose advice can be trusted on all matters that pertain to your physical well-being.

The House of Seagram subscribes whole-heartedly to the attitude which the physicians of America are taking toward the use of liquor. If the question is puzzling you, we say: "Let your physician decide."

BUY NO ANTI-FREEZE UNTIL YOU READ THESE FACTS about DuPont "Zerone"

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

A FRIENDLY WARNING: Make sure of getting the best value in anti-freeze. Know what Du Pont has to offer in "Zerone."

First of all, extraordinary anti-freeze protection. Scientific tests prove that "Zerone" would keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. You'll never encounter such temperatures, so you can be sure "Zerone" used in accordance with directions will protect your car in the coldest weather you do experience.

The materials from which "Zerone" is made are so effective you need comparatively little "Zerone" for protection. That's economy. Properly used, replacements of "Zerone" are little indeed—and that's economy, too.

Furthermore, scientific tests prove the mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone. That improves engine performance.

"Zerone" in a clean cooling system prevents formation of rust and corrosion—avoids power losses, helps save fuel and oil. Ask your dealer to protect your radiator with "Zerone" today. It's only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

CLOSING IN ON CRIME.

A brilliant demonstration of the efficiency of police coöperation in the country towns north of Chicago marked Sunday, Nov. 13, in police annals. The police blockade established by Sherif Elect Kennedy of Lake county, with the coöperation of neighboring towns, worked to perfection, landing a gang of six thugs within less than a half hour of the crime.

The use of the radio and the police car has now been intelligently organized so as to produce a maximum of readiness and efficiency. By the blockade system no time is lost in casting the net for fugitives. All lines of flight are blocked in the shortest possible time, and if a crime is reported promptly the chances of escape are reduced to a minimum. Sensational crime raids have been rendered extra hazardous, and organized crime which has so long had advantage of the law finds the scale turning against it.

Mr. Ator's articles on Chicago's police administration describe the improvements in equipment and method which have brought the technical efficiency of police work up to the highest level in the history of the force. The metropolitan district which covers an area of fifty miles from the Chicago loop with over four million inhabitants is developing police defense from crime which will give life and property a security it has not had in this or any other large community since the automobile gave the criminal a scope for action, for attack and escape, that transformed the problem of public protection.

It is a pity that while the police system is increasingly efficient in getting criminals into jail the system of getting them out by parole is not checked.

FRAUD IN INDIANA.

Indiana Republicans intend to find out what happened Tuesday in certain districts where the New Deal machine may have tried to steal the election. In Terre Haute one of the oldest tricks in politics was worked. The vote was held back until the machine knew what was needed to give Senator Van Nuys a lead over his Republican opponent, Raymond E. Willis. Whenever a thing like that is done there is prima facie evidence that the returns have been padded. In a third of the precincts in Vigo county, of which Terre Haute is the county seat, voting machines were used. Tabulations from these machines are quickly available and the long withholding of the vote naturally points to suspicion.

Evidence of crooked elections in Indiana has been piling up for several years. It brought a grand jury investigation in Vincennes after the primaries. The proofs offered by citizens were rejected by a jury which revealed its boss control. New Deal political scandals are not confined to one state. They are spread all over the country. But Indiana under its present control has been particularly unsavory, being as rank as the mess in Pennsylvania, and all honest people in the state should be interested in a house cleaning.

Every one in the state knows that Senator Van Nuys, who was to have been defeated for renomination because he opposed Mr. Roosevelt, scared the daylights out of the Minton-McHale clique by giving a clew to the evidence he had against them. When they had fallen over themselves to renominate him unanimously it wasn't in the political practices for Mr. Van Nuys to say anything more about it. But the people didn't forget what he had already said. Mr. Willis may have been defeated honestly by the small margin revealed in the final figures, but there is too much that is ugly looking on the surface to warant an acceptance of that election without thorough investigation of the methods by which it may have been carried.

BOX SCORES.

In THE TRIBUNE of Sunday, Nov. 6, Arthur Sears Henning offered his forecast of the outcome of the election. He foresaw in the senate "a Republican gain of not less than four nor more than twelve seats." Exactly eight seats were won. "In the house," he added, "The Republicans appear likely to gain at least 66 seats . . . The total Republican gain in the house may be eighty seats or more." At the latest reckoning the Republican gain was 81.

On election morning Mr. Arthur Krock, Mr. Henning's opposite number on a leading New York newspaper, was summarizing the forecasts of unnamed persons whom he described as "trained newspaper observers sent to the field." By an unfortunate oversight he did not include Mr. Henning among them. Accordingly the readers of Mr. Krock's newspaper were led to think that the Republican gains would be rather inconsequential. In the senate "from two to three seats" might be captured. In the house "from 35 to 55." Mr. Krock had heard about "a state of apathy" in "the trans-Appalachian country." He wrote extensively about something which he called a ground swell. "The observers," he observed, "cannot feel the ground swell." Oddly enough, Mr. Henning did.

We mention these rival forecasts for a number of reasons. One is to congratulate Mr. Henning upon maintaining his record as a forecaster of election results. We venture the assertion that no Washington correspondent of his time has been so nearly right so often. Another is to call attention to his method. Mr. Henning does not remain in Washington to acquire his impressions at second or third hand; he tours the country before election day, at considerable discomfort to himself. It seems to be the better way.

LIBERAL THEY ARE.

Washington is full of whistlers going around corners in the dark, scared of the squeak of their boots and trying to persuade themselves that nothing has happened and that there is nothing unpleasant ahead of them in the future. They are now trying to kid themselves, having kidded the people for nearly six years. Expert as they are, they need a lot of whistling to exorcise the fact that they are going through the wreckage of their pretensions.

They are still throwing around the phrases "liberal" and "progressive." These words as the New Deal worthies use them have become not only tiresome but, in their arrogation of superior virtue and humanity, disgusting. The true liberals among the American people are the voters who threw the New Deal factotums, stooges, hypocrites, and self-seekers out of office all over the north last week.

The propaganda mills of the Roosevelt administration have been grinding out these sounds to cover up the corruption and autocracy of the high hat snobbishness which had become as obnoxious as it was destructive. The assumption that a superior good will was embodied in a half dozen predatory governmental departments and corporations, imperiously throwing money all over the place and experimenting cockily with the political and economic corpus of the United States, was getting very tiresome.

It is tiresome now to hear the rehash of these phrases with the implication that there was something illiberal and unprogressive in the vote of millions of Americans who have patiently endured the pompous frauds of the New Dealers and have given them more leeway than better men ever should have had. There is nothing liberal and there is nothing progressive in the attempt of a small group of self-satisfied men to have their own way in spite of consequences and to persist in every egotistic policy which flatters their sense of power and increases their vainglory.

The White House has been in the possession of merrymakers who have amused themselves by running a nation as if it were a game to be played with toys. They never suffered personally from the consequences of their recklessness and they have sought to answer criticism by striking stained glass attitudes and saying how good they were and how bad everybody else was.

They have been liberal with other people's money and generous in their willingness to allow the people to pay for their escapades. They have been progressive like mud turtles going backward. Their pet phrases of self-admiration and invective have lost their false meaning. These worthies have a landslide vote against them and they can't talk it down.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION.

The news, reported in the real estate column the other day, that the Hills Brothers corporation is planning the erection of a coffee roasting and packing plant in the Chicago area is welcome. The company has chosen a site on the eastern edge of Elmhurst, adjoining the North Western railroad's Proviso yards. Construction of the building and of the park which will surround it will be started as soon as the zoning regulations can be amended to remove a technical obstacle.

It is encouraging to find new industries establishing themselves in this region, particularly in a period characterized by limited expansion. It is an evidence of Chicago's strategic position as a manufacturing and distributing center, and it foreshadows the rapid growth and diversification of the community's industrial plants as economic conditions improve.

Chicago and the communities which surround it recognize that their future prosperity depends upon the steady growth of manufacturing activities in this region. New factories mean new jobs and new customers, new wealth, and a wider sharing of the costs of maintaining community services.

NAZI POGROMS.

The pogroms which exhibited savagery in Russia's low peasant stratum and cynical brutality in some of Russia's old officialdom did not have all of the highly organized malignance of the Nazi racial and religious terror. The Russian pogrom was terrible but it was also simple. The Nazi pogroms have a mentality which is stupifying. They have a calculation which is unintelligible.

The twisted ingeniousness of assessing damages against the Jews for destruction done by tolerated and unchecked Nazi mobs makes observers in other countries gasp. That suggests that the official German mind has been tortured and distorted by its own fanaticism, hatreds, and greed. The pogrom of terror and prosecution is so frenzied that it leads to the belief that a once cultured and enlightened people cannot keep it up. Even the severest repression cannot forever hold a civilized people in such emotional and mental obliquity. Human nature must revolt against such madness.

STREAMLINING PAYS.

[Rock Island Argus.]

Every lightweight streamlined train operating in this country has produced additional passenger trafic and substantial earnings for the railroad placing it in service, according to a report of consulting engineers.

Railway executives are encouraged, for they believe that much of the trafic on these trains has been newly created since 1934.

The Rock Island Rocket fleet of six trains, although in service only a year, shows net earnings of 84 cents per train mile. Other net earnings per train mile are given by the roads as follows: Burlington, $1.28; Milwaukee, $3.22; North Western, $1.08; Santa Fe, $1.27.

The report points out that earnings are not entirely comparable, one railroad with another, because of varying situations in the territories served, operating conditions, and length of time trains have been in service.

The outstanding fact is that revenue from the streamlined transcontinental trains has increased with each semi-annual report. The United States now has seventy-six high speed trains with modern luxury equipment, of which twenty-four are of lightweight, stainless steel construction.

It is evident that the railroads can come back.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

WERE YOU A LOOPHOUND?

One of O. Henry's neatest little stories deals with that standard newspaper character, "a well-known man about town." An investigator, working on a theory that such a creature does not exist, ends his hunt in a hospital, victim of a trafic accident. The next morning a nurse brings him a newspaper, and there he finds a brief paragraph on his misfortune, with himself described as "a well-known man about town."

* * *

Chicago once had its own word for the "man about town"; twenty-five years ago it was in general use. The term was "loophound." It denoted a fairly large group of citizens whose habits and ways of life were similar, although their professions were miscellaneous. They frequented theatrical first nights and the cafés of Randolph street, and every Saturday night they were in full conclave from 11 to 1 o'clock or later in the College Inn, the Bal Tabarin, the Lambs café, the Bismarck restaurant, the Delft Room of the Stratford hotel, and the Pompeian Room of the Congress.

* * *

The word "loophound" was first put into print by the editor of this column, after picking it out of the air in an overheard conversation. Frederick Hatton, another dramatic critic, promptly accused him of plagiarism, and a controversy ensued which gave "loophound" a prominent place in the civic vocabulary. For a few years it threatened to attain dictionary status.

* * *

A rare piece of printed matter has fallen into our hands which is practically a full directory of the loophounds. It gives the seating arrangements for a supper in honor of George M. Cohan, held at the Hotel Sherman on March 24, 1913, and contains 290 names. The stories that they recall would rival the Thousand-and-One Nights.

All Are Not Bugs That Jitter.

I visited my grandpap the other day and he was down on his knees with a flashlight and squirtin' gun, looking in all the dark corners, and when he seen me he sez: "Son, I can't find any of them jitterbugs folks is all talking about."

RADIO TYPOGRAPHY.

The radio talks that get my goat
Are sprinkled with "quote" and "unquote."
I do not see why this should be;
Why don't they say "Says he, says she"?
One interviews a man of note
With "Quote, Good morning, sir, unquote."
A custom fraught with such confusion
Leads to this logical conclusion:
A diva with a silver throat
Will warble "Quote, Ah, me, unquote";
And choirs whose anthems rare ascend
With quote and unquote begin and end.
So thus I register my vote:
Quote "It's a silly style," unquote.

November in the Moonlight.

A crisp, moon-drenched world, looking as though it were made of spun glass. Frost sparkling on hedgerows and corn shocks, and twinkling back from every blade of grass. Even the stars seem to reflect the gleam of the frost-rimed fields. A little pond, lying silver in the night, with the moon drowned in the middle of it. And everywhere a faint mist, as a curtain drawn to dim the beauty of the night, so that mortal eyes can bear it.

Harvard Scoops Chicago.

An inquiry [11-9-'38] about the disposition of the collection of theatrical material [playbills, photographs, etc.] formerly owned by the Strollers club of Chicago is answered by Robert L. Sherman, the last president of that organization. He says:

"Our collection is now the property of Harvard university, with two others that were equally or more extensive. They were purchased by Robert Gould Shaw and given to Harvard, with a special building for their housing and exhibition. Mr. Shaw, son of the man who organized the first Negro regiment in the civil war, was the first husband of the present Lady Astor.

"The Strollers was the only club of theatrical men west of New York. Its membership included nearly every member of the profession around Chicago and many from New York. It was first called The Old Friends."

ON THE EDGE OF TOWN.

They say I live out where the pavement ends,
Too far away for weekly bridge club date;
And yet to me my garden makes amends—
I'd rather have that than the noise I hate.
It's near Mount Olive, but I have no fear:
I never harmed the dead, they won't harm me;
They are so still, I like to have them near:
They've found the peace that we have yet to see.
I'll wear my rabbit coat again this year,
It's every bit as warm as any sable.
A pink rose bloomed for me today, the dear;
It's in a glass upon my kitchen table.
My friends all pity me, the sweet old sillies!

Snake Story, Standard Brand.

The hallucinations of delirium tremens have given the American sense of humor more stories than the catastrophic banana peel. Here is one of the latest—or maybe the oldest:

"I guess that finished it."
"No! Hit it again! It just bit me!"
[Narrated by Samuel Marx, the architect.]

LADY GETS PROPOSAL.

Marry you? Fool, hear my laughter!
It's not your kind of love I'm after.
Contentment and its fellows bore me.
I have more than that before me:
Moonlight and sweet rapture springing
While the heart is wildly singing.
But wait—I guess I'll take your proffer—
I may not have another offer.

GUIDING THE CHILD'S EMOTIONS.

EVERY one realizes, or should realize, that we cannot expect a child to adhere to the behavior standards of adults, although—goodness knows—some of us oldsters give way to storms now and then. Neither can we demand decorum on all occasions. The reason is that the new nervous system is undergoing development and training. Like the tot learning to walk, there will be many a stumble, fall, and bump.

Crying and temper tantrums are merely exhibitions of uneducated emotions. When the lad's wishes are thwarted or disappointment overwhelms him he promptly files a protest, using every means at his command—sound effects and muscle contortions. We cannot ask him to exercise self-mastery because anger blots out completely all rules of conduct. After a time he will acquire restraint. As he gains in years he will learn that decisions on the part of those who are older can be accepted as just and proper and that an "explosion" hurts only himself.

Temper tantrums are more frequent in the nervous, high strung type who thinks: "I am going to show these folks just what a vicious animal I can be. They had better look out for me, because I am dangerous." If he gains his point the battle is lost. The wisest plan of treatment is to ignore his exhibition. Few children will perform for long without an audience. If every one will walk away and leave the lad to himself, the boiling emotional spring will quiet down promptly.

But occasionally these displays come about because nerves are on edge due to exhaustion or fatigue. Too much exciting play, too violent exercise, the teasing of playmates, or a feeling of injury are among the inciting causes. Ofttimes the fault may lie with parents who set an example before the child of barking, scolding, or raving at one another.

When it is all over mother can take Johnny in her arms and talk to him kindly but firmly, telling him that he cannot get what he wants that way; that under no circumstances can she do what he wishes because it is so terrible to ask for things in that manner. Why is it desirable to have him master such episodes at an early age? Because self-control is one of the governing attributes of thinking individuals.

Contrariness, on the other hand, seems to be inherent with some boys and girls. This accounts for the refusal to eat when hungry. Sometimes it is a bid for solicitude. Feeling neglected the child may demand more attention, and coaxing him out of a pouting spell is just the wrong thing to do. Bribing him to "do it for daddy" may give him a secret sense of victory.

Here again the treatment is much the same—indifference and neglect. Few of these youngsters will actually suffer. They may haunt the kitchen and the cookie jar and cram down morsels of food if they can be secured without mother knowing about it. But if edibles can be kept away between meals, sooner or later hunger will triumph. At the table the conversation can be directed into channels quite apart from the child's line of action, although remarks may be passed on how good a certain dish tastes. After a day or two, as a rule, resistance is broken down and although nibbling may characterize the first token of surrender, a hearty indulgence will soon follow.

I am sure that many a tot has been converted into a problem child by too much attention, too much praise, too much showing off. Even though an infant prodigy is born into the family, do not spoil him by thrusting him into an artificial atmosphere exaggerating his importance.

Regularity and routine are easy of establishment—with set hours for meals and for going to bed. These procedures institute patterns which make for sound health and good hygiene. Many a boy will be perfectly behaved as long as he goes along in the usual groove. This means that changes in the daily schedule —if necessary—should be made gradually. As the child grows he will achieve the qualities of adaptability—adjusting his wishes to the common good. Thus the inflexible program of infancy can be modified slowly with complete understanding.

ROOM TEMPERATURES.

Mrs. E. S. writes: At what temperature should the atmosphere in the home be kept for health's sake?

REPLY.

Much depends on the moisture in the air. A reading of 70 to 72, with a humidity around 30, is conducive to comfort.

PAIN IN HEAD.

E. H. writes: What is the cause of pain in back of the head?

REPLY.

There are many causes, including eyestrain, disturbances along the digestive or the urinary tract, or trouble with the circulation. A careful examination by a physician is suggested.

POWER OF ATTORNEY.

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a collector in a small way and have been given for collection a note owed to a woman now deceased, given me by her son and only child.

1. The attorney for the defendant says that my client has no right to collect this, since the estate has not been probated.

2. The son has power of attorney papers. The defendant witnessed these papers and was the previous one to act as attorney for the woman.

3. Does this power of attorney give the son the right to make this collection? It is the usual paper, giving power to make collections, pay bills, etc.

4. Does the fact that the estate has not been probated prevent my making an effort to collect the money for the son?

C. W. H.

1. He is technically right.
2. This would be immaterial since death revokes an ordinary power of attorney.
3. No. See 2.
4. Obviously it does not prevent your making an effort, but you are not in a position to force matters by court proceedings until you have been appointed administrator or executor.

HARDENING GERMAN CHILDREN.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—And now the press brings us stories of increasing persecution of the Jews in what Nazi propagandists would have us think is an enlightened and civilized country. Because a desperate young man, driven mad by the hounding of his parents from country to country, shot a Nazi official in Paris further excesses of brutality are unleashed against Jews. It is terrible enough to realize these things are done with the approbation of the German government, but it is even more shocking to realize that the people must acquiesce, or at least give the appearance of acquiescing, which in effect is just as bad. Herding human beings in a public square and turning the hose on them, then driving them into an icy basement is a procedure no parent with an iota of justice or decency would wish his child to witness. Yet angel faced children who sing in German choirs and other children in Germany are constantly hardened by such brutalities. And the tragedy is that no one lifts a finger—unless he is willing to spend his life in a concentration camp.

MARY B. GILSON.

SAYS WE INSULT DECENCY.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Please give credit where credit is due. Editorially you attribute the large number of straight Democratic ballots cast in Tuesday's election to the political organization of the Democrats who "whipped the voters into line," as it were. You're just as right in this as you are in everything else you print. If every city in the United States had a CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Democrats would have piled up the same majorities everywhere as they did in Illinois. Your lying reporters [from Arthur Sears Henning down], who color their news to suit the policies of THE TRIBUNE, your unfair and exaggerated editorials, and your insulting cartoons had more to do with the failure of every Republican on the ticket to get a "show in" than any other one thing. THE TRIBUNE is an insult to all decency. When will you "get next to yourself?"

T. C.

DESERVES LARGER AUDIENCES.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Last Thursday evening the Chicago board of education sponsored an opera performance of "La Gioconda," which was staged by a magnificent veteran cast of artists and included a luscious ballet. One of the finest operas in the entire roster, with fine stage settings and breath-taking orchestra, was the fortunate prize the board of education drew for its first performance.

My only regret is that this excellent opera was enjoyed by a very small audience. Surely with prices cut almost in half and with such a magnificent production, there should be S. R. O.

Are the public schools sponsoring these Thursday night operas 100 per cent?

MRS. A. J. C.,

FROM A PIONEER READER.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—I notice occasional letters in the "Voice of the People" from persons who express grouches against THE TRIBUNE. To offset those, I quote from a letter received from my son living in southwestern Colorado a few days ago. He takes the daily TRIBUNE:

"We, of course, enjoy THE TRIBUNE. It is a great newspaper and no mistake."

I add a like word of praise as I have been a reader of THE TRIBUNE for over sixty years—from the days of Horace White and Joseph Medill.

OUR VOTING SYSTEM.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The right to vote is said to be the priceless heritage of every American citizen, but this does not hold true in Cook county. My wife and I registered Oct. 10, in precinct 51, ward 48, where we have lived for the last year. Our cards were not in the precinct files on election day, Nov. 8. The name Howard Koss [my name is Howard F. Kors] was in the file with my address. This party registered at the city hall and the writing was foreign to mine.

Later my card was found in the master file and I was allowed to vote, but not my wife; her name was printed on the bulletin. She was denied her vote even by affidavit. Other voters appearing at the same time met the same fate. The election clerks admitted that it had been happening all day. It was termed a clerical error.

The irony of this situation followed in the reëlection of the county judge responsible for this election personnel and inefficiency. Perhaps this may be a system partly responsible for the complete sweep of the Democratic party—in Chicago alone—against the remainder of the state. Is down state going to continue to allow Chicago politics to rule our state and disfranchise its citizens?

HOWARD F. KORS.

HEIGHT HIS HANDICAP.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Just what is the matter with Chicago in regard to hiring tall fellows in the various businesses? I'm 6 feet 8 inches tall, weigh 210 pounds, am 23 years old and when I ask for a job many places say I'm too tall. Some don't say anything but just laugh. Others just say "Nothing doing today," and if I look back I have noticed snickering. I'm not bad looking or comical looking, I hope. Do people have to laugh when they see a man like me? How about a little of this in the World's Greatest Newspaper. I've been reading it since I learned how to read.

JOHN BACKE.

A HINT TO HUNTERS.

Cicero, Ill., Nov. 11.—Now that another hunting season is officially open, wouldn't it be killing two birds with one stone if the city hunters were permitted to go to all the city dumps and shoot all the rats in sight?

Then, after all the rats were shot in the dumps, the hunters could go through each alley and in each rat hole pour the exhaust gas of their cars, say for five minutes, and they would have sport and also do a good deed.

JAMES WAROUSEK.

PROPOSES PRAYERS FOR HITLER.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Do you remember—in olden times, when a member of the church congregation was particularly wicked, the minister would announce from the pulpit that on next Sunday special prayers would be offered for the redemption of the soul of the erring brother?

Why could not all the Christian and Jewish churches announce a setting aside of one Sunday all over the world for prayers for Hitler and his wicked Nazis?

We cannot declare war on Germany to stop the atrocities against the Jews and Catholics, nor can Mr. Roosevelt make a denunciatory speech against that government. A world boycott is impracticable and the Nazis are callous to the world's abhorrence, so there is nothing left to be done for the pitiable victims of bigotry and persecution but to pray for them and for their persecutors.

Since this movement is not religious but purely humanitarian, it ought to be possible to start it in this country.

PART CATHOLIC AND PART JEW.

GOOD POINTS OF THE CAT.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—P. T. Harris writes that cats take birds by the thousands. How could this be physically possible? If he knew anything about cats he would say that they take very few birds, but that they do keep rats away, as a rat flees when he smells "cat." Then, too, a cat works nights and lies patiently by the hour awaiting his prey, where a dog doesn't see well at night and merely chases a rat when he happens to see one. A cat is faster than any dog and foxier at grabbing them. The female cat usually goes for mice only while the male goes for the big rats. Many of our good cats die of rat poisoning. Poisons that are harmful to cats and dogs should be prohibited.

Cats are decidedly not a menace.

BOLLES' VICTORY IN WISCONSIN IS STORY OF REVOLT

Voters Tired of Constant Threat to Livelihood.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The first congressional district of Wisconsin, which has been represented by Thomas R. Amlie, extremist leader of the La Follettes, turned its back on radicalism in the recent election.

The district gave a clear majority in a three way race to Stephen Bolles, editor of the Janesville Gazette, a lifelong Republican. The contest was a test of strength against Francis H. Wendt, young Racine attorney, who has represented the C. I. O. and the American Federation of Labor.

The radicals in the district made Wendt's campaign a personal issue and fought hard for him. Calvin H. Stewart, Kenosha, lifelong party man, was the Democratic candidate.

Supported by Conservatives.

Bolles' support was not only from the Republicans, but was from Democrats and from many old time Progressives who accepted the principles of the first Senator La Follette, and were unwilling to follow his sons into fellowship with the political extremists.

Amlie who had acquired a name as one of the most extreme of all radicals in congress withdrew this year to run for the Progressive nomination for the senate. He was beaten by Herman L. Ekern, lieutenant governor.

The answer to Bolles' large majority in Racine, Republicans say, is that the 1st district was tired of sitdown strikes and tired of threats by loosely controled labor organizations that they would not permit the law to be enforced.

Racine, Kenosha Alarmed.

Racine and Kenosha were alarmed by the recent announcement of the Nash corporation that it was being forced to withdraw its entire automobile branch from the state because union pickets would not permit the removal of needed patterns and tools from its Racine to its Kenosha plant.

There was resentment among the Rock county shoe workers over Czechoslovakian shoes brought in under the New Deal trade treaties to undersell American-made shoes.

Bolles received 46,405 votes in the five counties in the district. Wendt, the Progressive, received 29,838, and Stewart, 13,893. These figures compare with the presidential election in 1936 when Amlie received 49,402; Paul Jorgenson, Republican of Racine, 44,687, and the Democratic candidate, Wolf, of Burlington, 20,597.

One of First Cities Hit.

Racine was one of the first cities to see its industrial plants tied up by the C. I. O. and it still is strongly organized. Homer Martin's United Automobile Workers are entrenched in Nash, J. I. Case company, the Walker Manufacturing, and other plants of automobile parts makers.

The sitdown strike, it generally is said, had its inception in America in Racine, where employés in the J. I. Case company sat at their benches and denied officials of the company access to their plants.

It is three years since Circuit Judge C. M. Davison publicly declared that law enforcement had failed in Racine. He had issued an order limiting the number of pickets in a Case company strike and had seen the order followed by a defiant doubling of pickets. Under William Swoboda, then the Socialist mayor, no effort was made to interfere with the pickets and the court confessed the inability to enforce its order.

The defeat of Swoboda as mayor two years ago was the final answer to the defiance of the law and the election of Bolles is the final answer of the district in its revolt against radicalism.

JULIUS P. HEIL.

Already busy carrying out his campaign promises, Governor Elect Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin paused briefly in Chicago yesterday on his way from Milwaukee to New York City. The Republican winner in last week's election was bubbling over with enthusiasm.

"My first job is to bring industry back to Wisconsin," he said. "I'm working on that, and I expect to talk to some people in the east about it. With a sound government in Wisconsin, it can be done. Government is a business to me. If you have inefficiency in business, you lose money. If you have efficiency in government, you load taxes on business and it can't make money."

He spoke words of good cheer for Republican chances in 1940.

"If the G. O. P. puts on a campaign in 1940 like I did, the Democrats won't even know they had candidates running. My campaign? Sell labor to industry and sell industry to labor. They've got to go along together."

Mother of 3 Day Old Baby Rescues Family from Fire

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. William McGlone, mother of five children, the last of whom was born only three days ago, left her bed tonight to smother flames that engulfed her husband and then led the family from a blazing home. A gasoline explosion sprayed McGlone with blazing fluid and spread throughout the house. Mrs. McGlone, who is 23 years old, leaped from bed, wrapped blankets about her husband, 30, smashed a window, and hurried him and four children to safety. Then she returned to her bed and rescued the baby.

G. O. P. PICKS UP TWO MORE SEATS IN STATE HOUSE

Unofficial figures on the party division in the Illinois house of representatives following the election last Tuesday shifted yesterday when it became known that the Republicans elected two of the three members from the 48th district. This raised the Republican total to seventy-nine and reduced the Democratic strength to seventy-four members.

Detailed reports from the 48th district showed the reëlection of Representative Fred A. Reavill of Flat Rock and John R. Thompson of Bridgeport, a former member, on the Republican ticket. Earlier reports were that two Democrats had been elected in that district.

Official county figures also contradicted early reports that Representative Shaefer O'Neill of Alton had been defeated. The official returns showed O'Neill elected.

JOKER WOUNDS TAVERN PATRON WITH PEN PISTOL

Will Act Together to Save 9 Power Treaty.

in China with a demand for revision of "understandings respecting China made just after the world war.

The reference was believed to mean the 1922 nine power pact by which the signatories, including the United States and Japan, pledged respect for China's territorial integrity and the principle of the "open door" for commerce.

In return, the news agency said, Japan would offer the United States an opportunity to participate in a "proposed construction of a new order in east Asia" in its reply to the American note of Oct. 6.

Yangtze Remains Ciosed.

The reply also would state, Domei said, that other American demands for equal opportunities of trade cannot be accepted because of military operations in China and "natural phenomena accompanying the projected construction of a new order in east Asia."

The government yesterday rejected the protests of the United States, Great Britain, and France against the closing of the Yangtze river to all but Japanese vessels.

"Although Japan has no intention of deliberately hampering commerce and navigation of the third powers in the Yangtze," a foreign office statement declared, "the Japanese government holds the view that the time has not yet arrived to warant a general opening."

List Reasons for Refusal.

Separate notes handed to ambassadors of the three powers listed five reasons for Japan's refusal to open the river:

1. The blockade at Kiangyin, eighty miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai is still in effect.
2. Large scale military operations are in progress in the Hankow area.
3. Continued presence of Chinese guerrillas along the river.
4. Continued mining of the river by the Chinese.
5. Some time will be required before the river is cleared of mines.

The three powers delivered their representations to Japan on Nov. 7, protesting that their vessels were being barred from the Yangtze while Japanese vessels were permitted to enter and leave at will.

Changsha Nearly Razed.

CHANGSHA, China, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Fires which started Sunday and spread unchecked until early today virtually razed this capital of Hunan province. The city is the next objective of the Japanese invaders.

Extensive American holdings, including the Yale-in-China university and hospital two miles down the Siang river from the center of Changsha, escaped damage. All Americans were assembled in the Standard Oil installations just across the river.

Chinese forces were reported to have retired from Yochow, eighty miles north of Changsha, taking up new positions at Matang, ten miles to the south. Advices received here said armed peasants jôined members of the Chinese Red and Yellow Spear societies in recapturing the town of Cheho, twenty-four miles west of Yinshan, from the invaders.

$20,000 Damage

Two men were burned, one of them critically, yesterday in a fire that swept the Club Silhouette, a night club at 1555 Howard street. Damage was estimated at $20,000.

Lee Wineberg, 37 years old, 3604 Pine Grove avenue, was taken to the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where physicians said he had only a slight chance to live. C. G. Ellis, owner of the place, who lives at 2613 Berwyn avenue, was slightly burned.

Weinberg was working in a liquor store attached to the club when he heard the cry of fire. He ran back into the club to telephone the alarm, and was caught between two sheets of flame. He fought his way to the front door, where he collapsed. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

U. S. WILL MAKE MILK CHARGES PUBLIC TODAY

Two indictments returned by a special federal grand jury on Nov. 1 after an investigation of an alleged milk monopoly in the Chicago area will be made public this morning in the office of Henry W. Freeman, clerk of the United States District court.

The indictments were suppressed until today on order of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. They are reported to name between sixty-five and seventy-five individual and corporate defendants, including high public officials and officers of dairy companies.

One of the indictments is said to deal with the milk industry and the other with the ice cream business. The grand jury investigation began in July.

Woman Swallows Poison; Husband Saves Her Life

Mrs. Hattie Schafer, 50 years old, 4507 North Racine avenue, swallowed poison in the bathroom of her home early yesterday and screamed. Her husband, Harry, heard her, gave her an antidote, and then took her to the Lakeview hospital. Reported out of danger later, she said she could not explain her act.

ELMER GANTRY JUMPS RIGHT INTO A BIG MOVIE JOB

Elmer Gantry, the blind horse, is going to Hollywood under contract for $1,000 a week for ten weeks. The contract was signed yesterday by agents of Warner Brothers and Miss Eleanor Getzendaner, Elmer's owner, at her farm near Des Plaines.

Miss Getzendaner, a professional horse trainer, tried to get the movie company to make the contract out to the horse, but it balked at that. She said, however, that all the money Elmer earns in the projected movie, "Gantry the Great," will be used to take care of her half dozen horses.

Elmer, now 15 years old, was a good jumper and racer until he went blind four years ago. But he can still jump six feet under the guidance of Miss Getzendaner. The contract provides for all traveling expenses for her, Elmer, and a companion horse to keep him from getting lonesome.

COLLEGES URGED TO SEEK MORE U. S. ENGINEERING AID

Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the University of Illinois, last night urged development and expansion of engineering experiment stations in colleges with the aid of federal funds.

Speaking before the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities in the La Salle hotel, Dr. Willard said thirty-nine such engineering stations are now maintained with state and local funds. In 1937, he said, these stations spent $1,250,000. By contrast, the college agricultural experiment stations spent $16,000,000, of which $5,000,000 was federal money.

Dr. Willard asked that the association campaign for equal recognition for the engineering stations. The latter's aid in finding industrial uses for agricultural products, he said, is an example of the close tieup between the two branches.

HOMING PIGEONS JUST PIGEONS TO IRATE NEIGHBORS

They Raise Roof Over Maurice's Plan.

The war department may approve of people raising homing pigeons, but a good many residents of the south side don't want them for neighbors. The residents told why yesterday at a meeting of the zoning board of appeals.

Last October Maurice Getzoff, 7740 Crandon avenue, was looking over the garage behind his home when a neighbor chanced along and asked him what he was doing. Getzoff, with some pride, said he was planning to raise the roof of the garage and make a loft for homing pigeons.

35 Neighbors Protest.

The building department wouldn't give Getzoff a permit to alter his garage, so Getzoff appealed to the zoning board. Thirty-five of his neighbors, including Capt. Patrick Collins of the Des Plaines street police station, met Getzoff as the board convened yesterday.

Pigeons are pigeons, the neighbors told the board, and all pigeons are nuisances. Capt. Collins, who lives at 7751 Louella avenue, was the star witness for the protestors.

"I don't want any chicken coops in my backyard," he said.

Getzoff was outraged. His attorney, Samuel Berke, protested that homing pigeons were different from ordinary pigeons. They are only allowed out of their coop twice a day and they are very well behaved birds, he said.

Backs Plea with Ordinance.

He brought to light an ordinance passed by the city council last Sept. 28 when the council decided that homing pigeons are domestic animals and may be kept as such. Berke added that the war department looks with favor upon people who raise homing pigeons because they [the birds] may come in handy some time.

"Maybe we ought to build barracks for the birds," said Ald. Thomas Daley [7th].

Grand Trunk Takes Blame for South Bend Wreck

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Grand Trunk railway assumed blame in a statement today for the collision of a Grand Trunk football special with a New York Central football special train that resulted in the injury of more than 50 persons here Saturday. Eleven of those injured remained in St. Joseph hospital today. "Since the New York Central train was on the crossing," the statement said, "our train should have stopped."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PERPIGNAN, France [At the Spanish Frontier.], Nov. 14.—Spanish rebels were reported today to have lost most than 300 men killed in an unsuccessful attack on the Toledo front, southwest of Madrid. The rebels attacked near Miradero de las Nieves, four miles northeast of Toledo.

As the rebels crossed a "no man's land" they were caught in a loyalist cross fire and suffered heavy losses. The engagement broke a month's quiet on that front and apparently was another rebel attempt to find weak spots in the loyalist lines.

On the Ebro front in northeastern Spain the rebels captured the town of Fatarella, ten miles northeast of Gandesa, then fanned out to menace Asco and Flix, the remaining loyalist strongholds on the west bank of the Ebro. The British freighter Stratford, which was hit by shrapnel in a rebel air raid on Valencia last September, was heavily damaged in another bombardment there today. None of her crew was injured.

Reds to Immortalize Boy Who Tattled on Father

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A bronze tatue to soviet Russia's young hero, Pavel Morozov, is to be erected soon in Red square. Morozov was the 14 year old boy who denounced his father for hiding grain. The father was arrested, but the boy was killed by relatives. The children's newspaper Pioneer Pravda said today a design for the monument had been selected and that it would inspire all youngsters who looked at it to say to themselves "Like Pavel Morozov I must be a good pioneer."

FARMERS IN N. Y. PAID $1.91 FOR OCTOBER MILK

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—An increase of 4 cents a hundredweight [forty-seven quarts] in the uniform price to farmers for October fluid milk was announced today by E. M. Harmon, administrator of the federal-state orders regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan marketing area. On the fourteenth day of each month the administrator is required to announce the uniform producer price for the previous month.

The uniform price for October, according to the announcement, was $1.91 a hundredweight for fluid milk received from farmers at handlers' plants in the New York milk zone.

Harmon reported that the total amount of milk accounted for in the uniform price computation amounted to 350,326,500 pounds. It had a total value of $7,075,507.

Hundreds of Chicagoans Report Sighting a Comet

What appeared to be a comet in the southeast sky held the gaze of hundreds of Chicagoans late last night. Best vision was had from the far north and far south sides. Most observers described it as a bright star with a long, illuminated tail. Several others said it suggested a resemblance to the pictured Star of Bethlehem because of the manner in which the star's appendage pointed brightly toward earth.

300 to 400 U. S. Fighters Prepare to Leave Spain

BARCELONA, Nov. 14.—(AP)—United States consular officials today helped between 300 and 400 Americans arrange their papers in preparation for being mustered out of the Spanish government's international brigade and sent home.

But — see that any box or bottle you accept is clearly marked "Phillips'" Milk of Magnesia.

Woven into that pattern, a golden thread of friendly interests leads to speedy and profitable sales for the manufacturer of a home product.

They add the numberless things bought only by dwellers in individual homes:

—Enjoying ownership of modern equipment and appliances; going in for labor-saving services; making improvements, renewals —roof-top to basement.

Coming into Philadelphia with home equipment, product or service to sell,—

The manufacturer starts with friendly interest on the part of the largest number of home-loving people in any city of America, living in individual homes.

He can save advertising money at the very beginning of his campaign, being able in Philadelphia to tell the story of his product by advertising in a single medium — one newspaper, reaching nearly every interested family.

And so, tracing the "golden thread," you find among Philadelphia families a tie seldom known in a great market . . . of friendly interests in home improvements, in advertising of new conveniences and comforts, in reading one home newspaper. You come upon this bit of history. A generation ago, thirteen daily newspapers were published in Philadelphia. Today, there are four!

The Evening Bulletin, smallest of the original thirteen, growing steadily into the pattern of Philadelphia home life, achieved the unique position of being read in nearly every home in its city.

For thirty-three years, it has led all Philadelphia daily newspapers.

And, in its circulation leadership, The Bulletin is unequalled by any newspaper of like size in the nation.

Single-family Homes Buy

Automatic Heat, Insulation, Air Conditioning... Kitchen Ranges, Sinks, Cabinets . . . Washing Machines and Ironers . . . Modern Bathroom Fixtures . . . Refrigerators and Radios . . . Electric Fixtures, Appliances . . . Roofing and House Paint . . . Garden Tools and Supplies . . . More Food for Family Meals . . . Soaps and Household Cleansers ... Automobiles ... Home Services... And other products in almost endless variety.

The Bulletin's standing with the people; its position among the newspapers of the nation, is the result of careful regard for Philadelphia's home interests:

Thus having gained the friendship of this people, The Bulletin gives the advertiser a friendly introduction into Philadelphia homes.

So, Philadelphia is unusual—

Offering the manufacturer the buying needs of the nation's largest group of individual, single-family homes.

Offering, next, the economy (and added sales influence) of thorough home coverage in a friendly medium.

Consult your advertising agency on telling your story first in The Evening Bulletin—In the City of Homes—At one of the lowest advertising costs in the great markets of America!

RUMANIAN CROWN PRINCE, 17, HUNTS BRIDE IN BRITAIN

London Sees Political Gain if He Finds One.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Crown Prince Michael of Rumania will be on the lookout for a possible English bride during his visit here, it was reported tonight. The crown prince and his father, King Carol II., will reach London tomorrow.

Just who would be eligible as Michael's bride is not certain. However, the British would be delighted if he found some one because of the strong influence it would give them in that particular part of southeastern Europe where the Nazis are increasing German influence.

Michael, who is 17 years old and a strapping boy, is one-fourth English through his grandmother, the late Queen Marie. English is the language used in the household and both he and his father are said to speak it "almost perfectly."

British Change Attitude.

Recent political developments have brought a change in the British attitude toward King Carol that amuses observers in London. Not long ago he was extremely unpopular in British court circles which disapproved of his love affair with Mme. Magda Lupescu, daughter of a Jewish junk dealer. He was denounced as a playboy king and the British royal family would not receive him when he visited London. He alone of the visiting monarchs was left out of the royal dinner given by King Edward VIII., now the duke of Windsor, on the eve of the funeral of King George V.

Since the British trade and economic position in southeastern Europe became shaky, Carol has begun to appear in a better light. A visit scheduled earlier was canceled ostensibly because he was too busy. It was said, however, that the British told him he would not be welcome because he would not halt anti-Semitism in his country.

Now he is hailed as an earnest, intelligent, hard working king and newspaper articles on all sides point out the British were mistaken about him before.

Find He's a Good King Now.

Hector Bolitho, the royal family's biographer, who scolded the duke of Windsor after his abdication as King Edward VIII., said in the Sunday Express that "as so often is true with young men with spirit, responsibility has made King Carol." Other newspapers take the line that he is one of Europe's best kings, after all.

Ever since Windsor's abdication the British have been less critical in reference to Carol's love affair. Since the Munich peace conference when Germany began intensifying her drive for trade and political influence in the southeast, the British have been wooing the monarch they once scorned.

MAJ. BURNABY DIES; HUSBAND OF MINNA FIELD

Maj. Algernon E. Burnaby, husband of the former Minna Field of Chicago, died Sunday in his home at Baggrave hall, Leicestershire, England. He was 71 years old.

His stepson, Henry Field, son of Mrs. Burnaby by a former marriage to Preston Gibson, left Chicago yesterday for England. Accompanied by his wife, he will sail today on the Bremen.

Well known in English hunting circles as master of the celebrated Quorn hounds from 1918 to 1932, Maj. Burnaby was a close friend of the duke of Windsor, formerly King Edward VIII. He was a member of an English family of high birth, and served as lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards, as captain of the Westmoreland and Cumberland Hussars, and as major with the London yeomanry in 1914.

He met Mrs. Gibson, daughter of the late Henry Field, niece of Marshall Field, and Chicago's most dashing belle of the '90s, in 1907, while she was visiting her cousin, Lady Beattie, in Leicestershire. They were married in 1908 at York Harbor, Me. They had no children.

CRYSTAL LAKE COUNTRY CLUB SALE SET ASIDE

Judge William I. Pierce in the Circuit court at Woodstock yesterday set aside an order for the sale of the Crystal Lake Country club to A. H. Henderson of Crystal Lake. He directed that $15,000 paid down by Henderson, as part of the full $59,000 price, be refunded.

The property, which includes a 100 room clubhouse, with fixtures and furniture, as well as two eighteen hole golf courses, was sold at auction last August. It was in foreclosure to satisfy a $400,000 mortgage.

Yesterday's action was taken after hearing in chancery reported that the rest of the money had not been paid by Henderson and his associates. The $59,000 sale would have left little for the bondholders, as fees and receivership expenses of more than $42,000 are still to be paid. The Crystal Lake club was once rated a million dollar institution.

Funeral Services Today for Veteran Circus Rider

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Funeral services will be held here Tuesday afternoon for Fred Ledgett, 60 years old, veteran circus equestrienne director. He died late yesterday at his home. Ledgett ran away from home when he was 15 years old to join the old W. B. Reynolds circus, a Rockford wagon show, as a bareback rider. Later he trouped with the John Robinson, Hagenbeck-Wallace, Sells Floto, Ringling Brothers, and Barnum & Bailey circuses.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

A Valiant Tree

November 14, 1938.

WIND-whipped branches of the horse-chestnut trees still are clinging to many of their leaves on the Du Page county farm. A veteran horse-chestnut back of one of the homes is making the best showing of all the farm's trees. It is really the only tree that is successfully resisting the charge of winter blasts. This tree is holding its ground like Prentiss at Shiloh when this fearless Union general stood in the "hornet's nest" in the Tennessee woods.

It is the second time men at the farm have observed the horse-chestnut taking first rank in tenaciously holding to its foliage. Perhaps it is because this graceful old veteran of shade trees shoots its greenish tinted brown tops into the early winter skies that it is admired more and more by landscape gardeners and home owners. It is becoming scarce in this region.

Recent high winds plowed through the trees, stripping the branches of most of their leaves, excepting the horse-chestnuts and the dried leaves that still remain on the oaks in the woodland. The wind was so strong that it whirled the top off one of the farm's silos. There still are a few green leaves on the willows and mulberries.

Steers Like Acorns.

Acorns still are furnishing variety in the ration of the forty-two steers that run in the lower timbered pasture. The trees protect them while they are being fed in the open. The animals seem to thrive on oats, acorns, clover hay, and bluegrass.

Men are ripping out the stall partitions in a horse barn near the feed yard, getting the building ready to house the Hereford steers this winter.

An abundance of feed is stored in the barn, silo, cribs and bins near the newly paved feed yard. There will be both old and new corn for the steers.

Shelter Provided.

When severe weather sets in the steers will be moved into the feed yard where they can run inside when the weather is stormy. They likely will be left out in the open pasture until after Thanksgiving.

Harvesters finished picking corn at the Du Page county farm last week. Only fifteen acres of corn were raised to be picked; most of the crop was cut and made into silage.

Fox Farm Visitor.

Some city visitors had been shown about a Wisconsin silver fox farm and finally arrived at the exhibition building where the pelts were on display. The guide explained how the pelts were sorted, cured, and sold, and one of the visitors inquired: "How many pelts do you get from each fox?"

What They Do Backstage.

Claire Luce, Of Mice and Men, plays chess in her dressing room with her colored maid, Cynthia, during offstage waits. . . . And Saturday noon young Tommy Lewis, the little boy in On Borrowed Time, had a chess lesson from Miss Luce and was so interested he wanted his understudy, Jackie Ayres, to go on for him so he could continue his lesson. . . . Gypsy Rose Lee plays symphonic records. [She once said that when she was at Minsky's the girls played guessing games between their on-stage stripping acts!] Blonde, chic Natalie Shaefer [Irene in Susan and God] practices the touch system on a typewriter [because she doesn't like her handwriting and wants to type well]. . . . Dark-eyed Edith Atwater of the same company reads French. . . . Tallulah Bankhead sips champagne and entertains visitors with stories. . . . Gertrude Lawrence occasionally brings out a piece of needlework. She doesn't have much time offstage, nor has Dudley Digges of On Borrowed Time. He's on-stage almost throughout the play.

Ethel Barrymore, who will arrive at the Selwyn shortly in Whiteoaks, is a hocky fan and listens backstage to radio broadcasts of the games. . . . George M. Cohan, opening at the Auditorium next Monday in I'd Rather Be Right, entertains visitors. His dressing room is always crowded. . . . Libby Holman knits and does needlework. . . . Hudson Shotwell, understudy when Three Men on a Horse was here for its long run, sculptured heads of members of the company. . . . In the Morning Mail.

The gal with the tea ball has justified herself, but how about the man in a north side restaurant who asks for a glass, pours a little ketchup in, fills it with water, and has his tomato juice before his morning toast? Pearlie Mae.

The headline on a small item in yesterday's TRIBUNE read, "Field Museum Expedition Off to Guatemala Today." Here today and Guatemala, quipped the man who wrote the headline.

Thought for Tuesday.

One can never thank people . . . at least not by piling gratitude on top of them like American beauty roses. One can never pay a debt of gratitude; one can only pay "in kind" somewhere else in life, unconsciously, perhaps. . . .

Jewelry Gives Smart Touch to Dark Costume

BY RHEA SEEGER.

So much can be done with costume jewelry that few of us take time out to appreciate our luck as shoppers. For the finds designed with costume accent purpose, tagged with amazingly low prices are legion. The present assortments are so versatile and plentiful that the less self-controled shoppers buy the stuff like mad.

You can't beat the practicalness of metal pieces either in silver or gold, especially the filagree balls, the cambodium ridge pieces, and the effective linked creations.

Matching clips, nice chunky chest pins, and earrings all combine to make tellingly smart highlights for your most sombre costumes at very small prices. Victorian necklaces, a-drip with tingling bugle shaped beads, old fashioned laced metal, dozens of oblongs in delicate, lacelike filagree make outstandingly smart costume accents for your most expensive clothes.

And the craze for color has been met with some particularly handsome finds in flexible gold settings, huge oblongs in aquamarine, topaz, amethyst, sapphire, emerald, and ruby [simulated] provide the color contrast. The bigger the sets the smarter the pieces.

Pearls are staging the biggest revival in years. Draped pearl necklaces are new and flattering. Many strands of graduated pearls are attached to the handsome clasps with a single twist. This twist achieves that drape effect that is as flattering as a cowl neckline to a dress. Large pearl beads to the tiny seed pearls are used for these very lovely necklaces. Bracelets come to match. Bowknot clips and other unusual designs with clip attachments are clever and modestly priced finds among the pearl collection ready to flatter wool, silk, or satin costumes, sweaters, thin wool, clinging jersey, and velvet.

The Housewife

There's a grand water softener on the market that magically turns tap water into the softness of rain water. It makes the laundering of fine lingerie and babies' clothes twice as easy, and it certainly does remove every speck of soil. We've tried it many, many times and we know.

Now, this new softener is put up in cans for the bath, and it's delicately scented, too. You can choose a spicy fern fragrance or one of old fashioned lavender or gardenia. Slip the smallest sized can into your traveling bag, and keep the large one near your bathtub at home. You'll find rings don't form on the tub after a bath in softened water. And softened water is better for your skin, too.

The Stage

The Chicago Drama league will sponsor the most significant meeting in its entire history at the Ambassador hotel this afternoon. Under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, the league is endeavoring to coördinate and foster the manifold activities of more than five hundred noncommercial groups in the Chicago area.

Plans for festivals and tournaments will be discussed, as well as a project by which the league as a central agency will rent settings and theatrical equipment to nonprofessional groups at cost. Speakers will be Jessie Royce Landis of the cast of "Dame Nature," and Prof. Harold Ehrensperger of Northwestern university. Other members of the "Dame Nature" company will be present in token of the Theater Guild's interest in the activities of the league.

Tommy Lewis, the talented 7 year old youngster in "On Borrowed Time" at the Grand Opera house, will take full responsibility for the part of Pud from now on instead of sharing the rôle with John Sheffield. Illness cut short John's participation in the play's Chicago engagement.

Contrary to an indication in last Sunday's drama section the Federal theater production of the Lincoln play at the Blackstone theater, "Prologue to Glory," will give performances on Monday evenings. "The Mikado," at the Great Northern theater, continues to omit Monday from its schedule.

Through the Looking Glass

After a long, illuminating experiment with nails that tempted their owner to suicide because they'd break and split and never grow up we feel we can't talk too much or too often about the wisdom of permitting nails to grow up at the sides.

Next time your manicure files your nails down at the sides, or attempts to, slap her hands gently but firmly. Nails can be shaped at the top, but nature knows best about the sides. Let the nail grow long there; they'll look and feel queer for a bit, but eventually the top nail will settle healthily into the cushion of flesh. You'll have longer nails.

But what has been most gratifying to those we've coached in this "leave the sides alone" technique is that as the nail lengthens it actually seems to strengthen. The nail tip, when the sides are permitted to grow up naturally, seems to be on a firmer base. It resists pressure better; some of the longest nails are the strongest because they have a resiliency that withstands such battering as typing, for instance, involves.

And as the nail grows up you find that no hangnails develop. The tinkering involved in filing down the sides and in cutting the cuticle there is responsible for hangnails as a rule.

And we believe in buffing—even over liquid polish. It is "exercise" that seems to help keep nails healthy. Buffing should be done lightly, briefly, and always with the stroke in one direction. Buff before applying lacker and each night buff for no more than a few moments. The important thing is not to buff too long; don't do it until the nail is heated. Ten good light strokes are better than thirty.

But above all, if your nails break, keep your file away from the sides, down in the pad of the finger. Long, strong nails will be your reward.

Popular Masini Bows to Opera's No Encore Rule

BY CECIL SMITH.

Monday evening, Nov. 14, 1938, will echo down the corridors of local operatic history as the first occasion on which Galliano Masini, the pride and joy of Paul Longone's tenor roster, was not allowed to repeat the "E lucevan le stelle" aria in the third act of Puccini's "Tosca."

In both his "Tosca" performances last year, and in his first appearance this season in the same rôle last Wednesday, the no encore rule of long and virtuous observance was allowed to be swept aside.

It may be that the management began to fear public criticism of its partiality toward a single artist, or that some irreverent suspicion was voiced that the previous prolonged demonstrations were not wholly the work of disinterested auditors. Be this as it may, Roberto Moranzoni, the conductor, caused Elen Dosia, the Floria Tosca, to come to the stage soon after the end of the aria, by the simple expedient of playing the ensuing music very loud.

There were no changes in cast from last week's lineup. George Czaplicki was again the Scarpia, riding orchestra and chorus splendidly in the "Te Deum" of the first act finale, but later failing to discover a sufficiently sinister quality of voice for the second act music.

After she had killed Scarpia Miss Dosia absent-mindedly blew out all the candles, so that she had to omit the part of her business in which she is supposed to place lighted candles on each side of the body. Otherwise she was spasmodically effective as an actress, and sang as tellingly as a lyric soprano can be expected to in a dramatic soprano's music. Mr. Masini was, of course, superb, and need not worry about singing encores to prove the extent of his popularity.

Mr. Moranzoni continued his custom of conducting musically, but far, far too slowly.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Banquet

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 14.—Probably no actor ever has served so many times as banquet toastmaster as Willie Collier, and certainly no toastmaster ever hit so many high spots on the dais as Collier. Long before Georgie Jessel made his first pass at a banquet grapefruit Collier's wit had collapsed thousands of pompous after-dinner bores. He was ever on the side of the suffering diners, and he said to the after-dinner gripes what the people at the tables would have enjoyed saying after they had been bombarded with trite sequences and clinches which are born at banquet tables. . . . When Collier rose, after a boring speech had been perpetrated, well might the luckless windbag hide himself under the table, because Willie dissected him with a scalpel wit. He stabbed the wretch neatly and cleanly, delivering each thrust so suavely that the tearing impact seemed out of all proportion to the wind-up. . . . People who couldn't stand banquet food went to banquets night after night just to hear Collier. . . . He was billed over dyspepsia, and no toastmaster ever achieved a higher rating.

I saw Willie Collier again, for the first time in many long years, and he was officiating as toastmaster at the Masquers' dinner to the two B's of radio, Benny and Bergen. Collier, as president of the Masquers, was handcuffed by the demands of hospitality, but occasionally that searing rapier leaped from its scabbard from force of habit. . . . Jesse Lasky was creased by it. Lasky, for some unknown reason, instead of talking about Bergen and Benny, got himself involved in a lengthy description of a radio program which he will inaugurate on Jan. 8. . . . "I was afraid," was Collier's brittle summary, "that Jesse intended to keep on talking until Jan. 8." . . . Once Charlie McCarthy turned to Collier and said: "I have thought about the matter for a long time, Willie." "And in the wood?" was Willie's lightning rejoinder.

Yet for the greater part of the evening the toastmaster was strangely lenient in his conduct of the banquet. Possibly because the veteran sincerely enjoys the professional work of Benny and Bergen. . . . He enjoyed their dais performance because the two top men of radio were in rare form, and it would have required a photo finish to split out the winner. . . . "I have been in radio longer than Bergen," said Benny, with pretended indignation, "and I could have beaten him to that novelty. Kenny Baker could have sat on my lap. Maybe Kenny isn't as dumb as McCarthy, but he's a lot warmer on your knee."

It struck me during the evening that the banquet actually was a repudiation of legend. Samson, according to the stories that I recall, owed his strength to his abundant hair. The minute that the foemen cut off his locks Samson became a pushover. . . . In honoring Benny and Bergen the Masquers singled out two of the most distinguished toupe wearers in pictures. . . . If they were given a Crosley rating on their hair, neither could get a sponsor.

One other thing the evening proved rather conclusively. The two best laughers in the show business are Don Ameche and Don Wilson. I thought that in any contest it would be an even-up affair between them. Ameche and Wilson both sat on our half of the dais, and so it was possible to judge them. Ameche won like Seabiscuit scurrying away from War Admiral. It was no contest and Wilson was exposed as a fraud. . . . Ameche's deep laugh was so superior that Willie Collier, in introducing him, said: "I want you to meet Ned Sparks' stand-in, Don Ameche." . . . At this Ameche let out a chuckle that blew the red letters right off Don Wilson's place card.

Interspersed with the speeches was entertainment and in this department Larry Blake scored importantly. Blake is the youngster who lifted mimicry to a new high, discarding hats, mustaches, monocles, and all the props that others use. His analysis of the acting technique and the projection tricks of Lionel Barrymore, John Barrymore, Wally Beery, and Charles Laughton found immediate favor with the actors who jammed the place.

Assembled for the Benny-Bergen gala were most of the top names of the profession . . . Don Ameche, Joe E. Brown, Edward Arnold, Ned Sparks, Andy Devine, Allan Mowbray, Arthur Hornblow Jr., Kenny Baker were a few near me and the place was jammed. . . . It was the biggest turnout of actors since D. W. Griffith was casting "Birth of a Nation."

It seems obvious that the professionals of the industry should congregate more frequently for affairs of this sort. It would tone up the professional system, because actors are never better than when they are performing for their own.

Only 20 Out of 90 Churches Take Part in Economic Poll

The widely protested economic plebiscite conducted on a national scale last Sunday by the council for social action of the Congregational Christian churches was held in only twenty of the ninety Congregational churches in Chicago and suburbs. Only 9,600 local ballots were marked in the poll which was designed to reveal the Christian conscience in regard to tarif policies, federal unemployment aid, consumers' coöperatives, federal control of public utilities, federal farm price control, and similar matters, according to the announcement of the Chicago Congregational union.

There are about 50,000 Congregationalists in the city and suburbs. The ballots will be studied at the social action council's headquarters in New York.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938. By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, and his cousin, Alison Young, going to a party at Lady Wibbe's, stumble by mistake into the house next door. While they are talking to the spinterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. Young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. David learns his former love, Betsy Greentree, lives in the mysterious house. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David sends a letter to Betsy, which is unanswered. He confronts Scarpath, who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being cared for by his sister, Evie. David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she is miserably unhappy. When the specialist, Dr. Broderick, insists on her taking the medicine which always makes her feel worse, Betsy grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived, she explains Penelope helped her escape. Under their care Betsy rapidly improves. Colin learns Dr. Broderick is a drug addict. Fanny Rush arrives and stays with Geoffrey, whom she admires. When Geoffrey learns she intends to disinherit Betsy, he kills her. Broderick helps him cover up the crime. Under pretext that Fanny is dying and calling for her Geoffrey gets Betsy to go off with him. Drugged and unconscious, she is taken home and from there by ambulance to a private nursing home, with Evie as nurse. Penelope sees the ambulance leave.

INSTALMENT L.
FUTILE INQUIRIES.

Alison decided she would telephone to the office to say she was laid up with 'flu, and would spin a like fiction for David, a caged lion by her side.

"Anyhow, you did nail the detective," she consoled. "So any minute now we'll be hearing what happened in South street."

Only eight o'clock! Would it never be nine, the earliest decent hour to take soundings of the landlady? It had not occurred to them to make inquiries in this quarter till too late last night, but the result, when obtained, gave scant satisfaction. Their friend had been seen going out, rather hurriedly, with a gentleman who had driven up in a gray car. She had seemed quite well, getting into the car by herself. Alison reported to David that at least one notion of his was now squashed. This was Elizabeth's note, written by herself—and there had been no compulsion.

"Not then," brooded her cousin.

Bream telephoned presently to say he had seen the porter in South Street and learned that the American lady, taken ill Saturday evening, had been removed by ambulance to a nursing home Sunday afternoon. Since that time Mr. Scarpath had not been at home at all, and he had dismissed both his servants.

"I want to locate those servants," declared Bream, "but the main card now is the ambulance—where it went."

"Can you find out?"

"O, easily! All details of such journeys have to be recorded at the London County Council Ambulance Dept. I'm off to the Central Hall now."

The listeners felt a slight lessening of tension. Fanny's illness was real enough, and if her whereabouts was known then Elizabeth's would be, too. Just at this juncture Colin walked in.

He listened sharply to their news and made a disquieting suggestion. Had it entered their heads to wonder why Scarpath had got rid of his servants? The cousins mutely consulted one another. Alison said flatly: "One may imagine he's going away."

Colin thought that Scarpath would hardly go off while the aunt's life hung in the balance. "He may have some other reason for sacking his domestics."

"But if he engaged them only on Elizabeth's account?" urged Alison uncomfortably. "Mightn't it make a difference knowing she won't be at the flat?"

Scarpath, meanhwile, savagely fished back pennies from a telephone slot. Shut in a booth, he had been doing this for an endless time, but still the bell down in Hampstead remained unanswered.

Why in God's name hadn't he said the accident had happened to his sister, just back from the country, instead of to Parsons? Unluckily the thing had come on him so quickly he had been unable to take in all the aspects involved. The child's probing eyes continued to haunt him.

"Nothing for it but to go there and watch till he turns up."

It did not take long to spin across to Hampstead, but a whole day's vigil was to crown the swift drive. Nothing to kill time beyond the burning of certain garments.

Towards seven the old man stumped in. Chill—convenient term for gin and porter?—had crippled him with rheumatics, but Scarpath issued commands for an immediate return to the brother in Watford, stood by impatiently while a musty Gladstone was being packed, and a quarter of an hour later dumped butler and luggage at Baker Street.

He asked himself whether he might slip back to civilization just long enough to drop in on Conisbroke. There was a dinner going on. Not a bad move, he decided, to be on hand, if not for the meal, then to cut in at a bridge table. Apart from the chance of landing an invitation to winter sports some mention of his wife's condition ought to be made.

No further call came from Bream, but when suspense had been strained to the uttermost limit the detective in person presented himself. The three fell on him. Had he got the nursing home address?

"Summerdale," recited Bream stonily. "Near Reigate, Surrey. No . . ." for David was flopping through the telephone directory, "you won't find it there. Nor from the Reigate exchange. The reason I'm late is I've been ransacking the list of registered nursing homes."

"It doesn't exist?" demanded Colin suspiciously.

"Not under that name." During a stunned silence the agent continued. "I couldn't interview the driver or the orderly. They're out on a job, but here's what I was told: Mr. Scarpath gave the order for the ambulance by telephone, saying there would be a nurse going along to direct the way."

"Nurse!" meditated Colin. "And was there one?"

Noncommittally Bream detailed his talk with the porter of Scarpath's flat building. About three on Sunday afternoon the new man servant, whose name was Hubbard or something like it, brought down a small suitcase and mentioned he was leaving, owing to alterations in his employer's plans.

He added that the elderly American lady, Mr. Scarpath's aunt, had been taken seriously ill the evening before and was being removed speechless and partly paralyzed, to a nursing home. Two doctors had attended her, one having been present when the stroke came on—the outcome, he inferred, of heavy drinking, which he could believe after seeing the amount of brandy she'd managed to put away.

It was a version borne out by the departing housemaid, who had come on the Monday to clean up, not having been allowed into the spare bedroom the previous day. Both servants declared that a nurse was arriving. No one interviewed thus far had actually seen her. As it was a week-end, the other tenants had gone away.

"As for the ambulance, the porter himself wasn't present when it came. Mr. Scarpath had sent him round to Piccadilly to get cigarets out of a slot machine. When he got back a general exodus had already occurred. He supposed Mr. Scarpath had got tired of hanging about, or simply forgotten the cigarets in the worry over his aunt. There's no doubt the flat is empty. The porter had to let the daily woman in with his private key."

"And the rooms—did he notice anything out of the way?"

"No, nothing. Mr. Scarpath's clothes were still there, and a lot of the ill lady's."

Breaking another dead silence Colin said: "Did no one in South Street see the ambulance drive off?"

"I'm going to push that inquiry now, but can't we first discover if Doctor Broderick takes any cases to a place called Summerdale?"

Bream got in communication with a chill woman secretary, who informed him the specialist was taking a few days' rest from appointments. He next tried Broderick's home in Park Street, and learned the doctor was at his country house, having left strict orders not to be disturbed. Mrs. Broderick was abroad, and the butler who answered declined to furnish the country address.

"I'll dig up that," declared Colin curtly. "Though I doubt if he's there." Taking the instrument over, he re-dialed the Welbeck number and held a short conversation. "No Summerdale on Broderick's books," he announced to the circle of rigid listeners. "And now, Bream, get anything, no matter what, relating to that ambulance!"

GASOLINE ALLEY—A TOUCHDOWN FOR SOMEBODY

'Pairing Off' Hinders Youth in Friendships

BY DORIS BLAKE.

We do think mothers might step in with a little educational propaganda in connection with their young girls of 17, 18 and younger, perhaps. The good work might be extended to the boys of similar ages, with dad taking over the educational guidance.

Our observation is that a good many mothers encourage a daughter, just stepping out into the social world, to attach one young man to her side and hold him against all odds. Because the girls will it so, boys fall into line, with the consequence that these young boys and girls do not meet as many young people of the opposite sex as would be good for them.

Pairing off too young does their emotional growth an enormous amount of damage. A boy takes a girl to a dance or two, let's say. Because neither of them has had any worldly experience, and because they are young and emotional, they fall in love or think that they are in love. From then on there's a proprietary air about the relationship. It should not be so. No one, perhaps, can stop the pair from being romantic about each other, but a little wise parental direction at this stage of development would be of infinite value.

The boys and girls who fail to go about, as suggested, deprive themselves of the only opportunity they have to gain the knowledge that is necessary to make a wise choice of a husband or wife.

This is a continuation of yesterday's column on cheeses. There are hundreds of kinds, and the names vary with manufacturers and places where the cheeses are produced. Yet a few cheeses always have been more popular than the rest. I have tried to include the most outstanding in this classification.

Hand Cheese: This is a sharp flavored, strong smelling German cheese made from sour milk. It got its name because it originally was molded by hand. Much of it now is made in this country. To persons not accustomed to it, hand cheese often is disagreeable.

Liederkranz: Rapidly becoming one of our favorite dessert cheeses. Liederkranz is a sort of glorified limburger, having a pungent odor and sharp flavor. The texture is semi-soft. The taste for it is acquired, but a convert to Liederkranz remains a devotee.

Limburger: This cheese originated in Belgium, but is produced now in many countries, including America. Harder than Liederkranz, it is manufactured under the most careful conditions. The strong flavor and odor are almost entirely confined to the rind. It is possible to buy limburger in a somewhat deodorized process form, if the strong odor can't be tolerated. As with Liederkranz, the taste for limburger is acquired, but once acquired, it remains.

Muenster: Originally a German cheese, but made in limited quantities domestically. It is a semi-hard cheese, smooth textured and having a cream cheese flavor.

Neufchatel: A very soft cheese, creamy and white, sold in foil wrapped packages as is cream cheese. This is a French product, but similar cheeses are made in this country.

Parmesan: A hard Italian cheese, usually sold grated. Reggiano is a similar cheese produced in another part of Italy. There are no domestic cheeses quite like them.

Pineapple: Pineapple cheeses get their name from their shape, produced from drying them in a coarse mesh net. They really are cheddar cheeses. The outer coat usually is rubbed with linseed oil and shellacked.

Roman: Roman cheese, made in Italy, is a hard, sheep's milk type, with a sharp flavor. It is dry and salty, and has a black coating. It usually is grated for use in soups, on spaghetti, and macaroni dishes.

Roquefort: This semi-hard, blue-green veined cheese is produced only in the caves of Roquefort, France, although similar types are made domestically. Genuine Roquefort is made from sheep's milk, and moldy bread is used to introduce the veining. Odor and flavor are pronounced. Many persons prefer Roquefort to all other cheeses. It is favored as a dessert cheese, and often is crumbled for use in salads and salad dressings.

Sap Sago: This is the true green cheese, its color imparted by dried leaves from a cloverlike plant, which are pounded through the body of the cheese. Sap sago is a hard, Swiss cheese, good for grating.

Comfortable Frock for Home

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

Dresses for the home must not only be smart, they also must be easy to wear. They should slip on in a jiffy, and be made so that they can be taken off without mussing the coiffure. The wrap-around style is particularly satisfactory in this respect. The model illustrated today is wrap-around in its design and has a surplice neckline. This may be trimmed with contrasting fabric and ruffled edging to match that used on the sleeves, or the collar and pockets may be embroidered. For the latter treatment we suggest the conventional design offered in pattern No. E-11175, available for 10 cents extra.

All types of cottons and wash silks make up well in this frock with the kimono type sleeves. There is plentiful shirring under the shoulder yoke to lend softness to the bodice. Both dark and light shades make up effectively.

Style No. 2714 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material, with 1 yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Broadening His Experiences Is Help to Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A famous modern painter of flowers went several years ago to New Mexico for the first time. Her color and the subjects of her painting changed noticeably as a result.

A well known writer of short stories spent months in an untouched part of Spain. This sojourn flowered in a series of unusual and delightful short stories.

These fresh experiences fed and stimulated the creative ability of these two artists.

In a similar way young children show the effect of new sights, sounds, and experiences in their play. And, in a milder way than grownups, they need variety in their lives. That doesn't mean that they need to travel far away or have great adventures, for we must remember that a child's world is smaller than ours and that what to us is familiar or even stale, to him may be new and exciting.

When your baby grows into a small runabout, and then into a full fledged child, his imagination needs something to feed on outside his immediate home circle—simple experiences that will enrich his speech, his play, and the work of his hands; painting, drawing, and simple crafts.

This doesn't mean that our young children should be kept on the go, or be taken to movies or visiting, or be over stimulated by what we grownups think of as diversion. On the contrary, little boys and girls need a quiet, regular life, but this wise regularity is not necessarily a synonym for monotony.

I have known children whose lives were anything but regular—actually hit or miss—who led a colorless existence, with no chance for their mental life to expand. All they had outside of home was school and moving pictures; yet living in a great city, as many of these children were, adventure and variety lay just outside their homes, adventure and variety made to order for a child's needs.

What adventure and variety? Leisurely walks, trips to the parks, to the zoo, to the aquarium, jaunts to railroad terminals, to docks, and on ferry boats, riches of interest and delight to widen a child's horizon.

Parents, teachers, and children will find help in my leaflet of "Leisure Pursuits." It will be sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 25: The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

You are West, the opening leader, and hold:
♠ Q J 2 ♥ K 10 8 ♦ Q J 10 ♣ A 9 4 3
What do you lead?

Answer: You should lead the spade queen. No other lead is logical. Declarer obviously has a spade-heart two-suiter, and dummy presumably will go down with more spades than hearts, but with few of either. No sense attacking the diamond suit, and it would be silly to lead the club ace or away from it. [Fourteen points demerit for diamond lead; 18 points demerit for club lead; 30 points demerit for heart lead. No demerits for spade jack lead.]

Question 26: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1-diamond	Pass
1 spade	Pass	?

You are South and hold:
♠ 10 8 4 ♥ 7 3 ♦ A K Q 9 5 ♣ Q 8 4
What call do you make now?

Answer: You should pass. Your partner passed originally, hence his one spade response is not a force. There is no prospect of a game and any further bidding on your part may result in a set. [Ten points demerit for one no trump or two diamonds; 20 points demerit for two spades; 30 points demerit for any other bid.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 33: With only East-West vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠ 10 5 ♥ A J 8 ♦ K 10 9 8 4 ♣ K 10 3
What call do you make?

TODAY'S HAND.

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH

♣ A Q 7 2

WEST
♠ 10 8 6 4 2

♣ None

EAST

♦ Q 10 7 4

SOUTH
♠ 9
♥ 9 5 2
♦ 9 6
♣ K J 10 8 5 4 3

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Double	4 clubs	Pass
5 clubs	Double [final bid]

East passed over one heart in an effort to "trap" the vulnerable opponents. North had a close question to decide over the two club response, whether to jump in no trump and thus express his great honor trick strength, or to give a vigorous club raise. I am inclined to think that the latter course would have been slightly better, but when East doubled three no trump the North-South partnership was guided in the right direction.

West made an opening lead which was unfortunate from his team's point of view, namely, his fourth best spade. Dummy played low, East won with a queen, and tried to cash the king. Declarer ruffed and immediately took out trumps, then cashed the ace and king of diamonds. Now the spade jack was led from dummy. Declarer had had the vague idea of ruffing the spade jack, then attempting to pass a heart into East's hand, which would force a heart return up to dummy's A-Q. But when East covered the spade jack with the ace declarer "saw the light," and made a much safer play. Not only safer but simpler. He merely tossed a losing heart on the trick.

Now success was assured. East either had to return a heart to dummy's major tenace or lead another card that could be ruffed in dummy, while declarer discarded his own remaining heart loser.

The strip play would not have worked. If declarer had ruffed the spade jack and then led a heart, intending to duck, West could have squashed this plan by putting in the eight spot, thus forcing the queen and assuring the defense of two heart tricks.

Young Artists to Be Featured at New Gallery

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The opening of a new gallery should always be recorded. Miss Marjorie McLaughlin and Miss Edith Wilson have opened Gallery House, 17 East Elm street, with the idea of showing there the work of younger artists, many of them Art institute prize and scholarship winners.

The first exhibit features the paintings of Ernestine Betsberg, Robert Lifvendahl and Arthur Osver and the sculpture of Charles Umlauf. The pictures by Lifvendahl [who is now abroad on a scholarship won last spring at the Art institute] are by far the most promising. The other two painters have absorbed Paris and it still shows.

Water color and oil paintings by Jessie Field are on view at the Drake hotel, West Mezzanine gallery, under the auspices of the All Illinois Society of the Fine Arts. It is an extremely good show, colorful and vigorous. There are a great many stunning still life arrangements, but Mrs. Field does not limit her talent. She offers us several landscapes and farm scenes that are distinctly good. Her exhibition is rich in surprises.

A fascinating little exhibit of humorous water colors by Peggy Palmer Burrows is at the Theobald galleries, 104 South Michigan avenue. Mrs. Burrows is a wizard at delicious satire. Her paintings are enchanting, whether they deal with children, grownups—who should know better—or historical characters. In the current show the "Circe" is irresistible with swine that are marvelous.

Every Woman Needs Benefit of Exercise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"There is no woman who can afford to neglect exercise," says lovely Jean Tennyson, blonde soprano. "If she is heavy she must exercise to reduce her weight. If she is slender, she should exercise to stay that way and to keep her mind and body alert."

Jean Tennyson should know. As leading lady for Earl Carroll's Vanities several years ago, she was called the most beautiful girl ever to stand behind the footlights.

The tall beauty claims that there is nothing that ruins a figure more than the lack of exercise. A physical routine should be followed by every woman who wants feminine appeal.

The exercise, says Miss Tennyson, does not necessarily have to be of a strenuous nature. She herself, being of Norwegian descent, is a typical outdoor girl. Swimming, tennis, riding, cycling, and golf form part of her daily routine, weather permitting.

During the winter months, however, Miss Tennyson finds that ice skating is one of the most advantageous sports in which to indulge. "In the first place," says the stately blonde singer, "the perfection of the art of ice skating naturally tends toward the development of grace. The gliding movement requires perfectly synchronized muscles."

Miss Tennyson thinks that women are likely to forget that the business of being graceful is equally as important as the business of being thin. The beauty of a slender figure, she reminds us, is entirely lost if the owner does not have a good carriage and poise.

"Secondly," continues the opera star, "since ice skating demands that all the muscles come into play, it is only natural that it will tend to decrease weight. The legs are not the only part of the body that are active. Just place your hand on your abdomen while skating, and feel how the muscles are working. Any fatty tissues give way to elastic muscle under such exercise."

Hoosier Gallery to Show State Flower Bed Covers

A pair of satin bed covers patterned with state flowers will be shown at a program and tea that will open an exhibition in the Hoosier Art gallery at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Ross J. Beatty, who made the covers, will describe how she designed and executed them. The exhibits that will be opened today are of water colors, by Mrs. Helen Woodward of Indianapolis, and oils by V. J. Cariani of Nashville, Brown county, Ind. Jean Sterling Nelson will speak on "The House in Good Taste." Tea will be served.

Labor Calls on Members to Aid Community Fund

The Chicago Federation of Labor has appealed to its members to give as generously as they can to the Community Fund. The plea was contained in a letter sent out by Joseph D. Keenan, secretary. A similar appeal was made to members of the Chicago Packinghouse Workers' union and the Steel Workers Organizing committee by Van A. Bittner, regional director for the C. I. O.

Scholarship Benefit.

The Phi Gamma sorority of De Paul university will give a card party at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Morrison hotel. Proceeds will go to the sorority's scholarship fund.

CITIZENS STUDY EFFECT OF TAX RECEIVERSHIPS

Experts Urge Change or Repeal of Law.

Legislative remedies for the baffling civic malady of unpaid taxes will be sought shortly by a citizens' committee on tax collection, it was learned yesterday. A portion of the committee report will deal with the Skarda tax receivership law.

Because the next session of the legislature is now only seven weeks away, the committee is hastening its survey. Its report is expected to be made after a meeting tomorrow. Heading the group are Graham Aldis and George O. Fairweather, leaders in tax reform movements.

Since April, 1933, the Skarda law has provided that property owing taxes more than six months may be placed under the receivership of the county treasurer until the delinquency is paid. The so-called tax strike was under way when the law was enacted. More than $100,000,000 in taxes was paid in the first eight months it was in effect. Collections jumped from about $100,000 to $1,000,000 a week, under the threat of receiverships.

Disagree on Value of Act.

However, there is a difference of opinion as to the present value of the act.

Robert S. Cushman, an attorney and tax expert acting as counsel for the citizens' committee, said yesterday that there is a proposal to repeal the Skarda act in its entirety. He said he is opposed to this.

"I've always thought the act to be effective as a threat against tax delinquents," he said. "It constitutes an added incentive to raise money to pay taxes."

There are abuses under tax receiverships, he admitted, but these could be eliminated if the courts would take action. These abuses are no greater than exist under other receiverships, he said.

Dr. Herbert D. Simpson, professor of public finance at Northwestern university, said the law is no longer effective. He supervised a study of the operation of the act during the last two years on which a report will be published next week. Dr. Simpson is acting as an adviser to the citizens' committee.

"The act did help to break the tax strike in 1933, but it is hard to find that it is now any real contribution to solving the problem of tax collection," Dr. Simpson said.

Jarecki Withholds Opinion.

Another adviser to the committee, who requested that his name be not used, declared the act has "outlived its usefulness." This authority said properties now in receivership are those with "marginal" incomes which barely suffice to pay current expenses, let alone back taxes. The receiverships are therefore merely a needless expense, he said.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said he has handled about 20,000 petitions for Skarda receiverships instituted by the state's attorney at the request of the county treasurer. In only 800 of these were receiverships ordered, he said. The threat was sufficient to bring payment in most cases, he said. Judge Jarecki said he would defer expressing an opinion on the law pending the report by the citizens' committee.

Mother Says Yes

[Maurice Seymour Photo.]
VICTORIA SPENCER.

Victoria Spencer, 16 years old, youngest of two daughters reared by Attorney Mary Belle Spencer to do in life as they pleased, filed a notice with the county clerk yesterday of her intention to wed Loren Nowland Hamilton, 25 years old, 1515 Otto boulevard, Chicago Heights.

Because she is under legal age Victoria was accompanied to the license bureau by her mother, who readily gave her consent. Mrs. Spencer opposed the marriage of an older daughter, Mary Belle Spencer Wright, two years ago on the ground that the girl was "only 16 and too young to know what it is all about."

Last Feb. 6 Mrs. Spencer swore out a warant charging disorderly conduct against Melvin Draben, 20 years old, of Chicago Heights, a suitor of Victoria. The charge was dropped when the youth countered with the complaint that Mrs. Spencer had clouted him with a milk bottle and a hammer.

Egyptian Student Rioters Battle Police with Water

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Police who defied a water hose barrage quelled a student riot at the University of Giza today, arresting twenty persons. More than 100 were injured in the rioting between supporters of the government and the Wafd [Nationalist] party.

TURNSTILES GO FOR RECORD SPIN AT MOTOR SHOW

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago's thirty-ninth annual automobile show broke a Monday attendance record yesterday with a gate count of 35,000. The exhibition is now 15 per cent ahead of the attendance total for the same period of last year's show. It was predicted that by Saturday night, when the show ends, the attendance will far exceed the record of 316,000 established in 1937.

The crowds, men and women, young and old, this year are doing a thorough job of learning all about the 1939 models. On the second floor of the International amphitheater at 43d and Halsted streets husbands may be seen measuring luggage compartments with outspread arms to show wives that they are adequate for touring equipment. Wives sit in drivers' seats, trying out the new style gear shift levers.

Know What They Want.

In the large central arena of the amphitheater crowds assemble twice daily, at 4 and at 9 p. m., for a 45 minute pageant with music, pretty girls, and colorful costumes, depicting the evolution of highway vehicles since the horse drawn buggy and the bicycle.

Mechanical exhibits feature a cross cut model of an automobile engine eight feet high in operation. There's a miniature automobile factory, too, with windows for visitors to see the assembly line.

Safety Exhibits Set Up.

The Illinois commerce commission has miniature trains in operation showing what is being done to reduce the hazards at the 18,000 grade crossings in the state. The Chicago board of education is displaying photographs from THE TRIBUNE showing the safety work being done in the schools. The Illinois highway department has a booth with pictures of its activities.

Trailer coaches, power boats, used cars of recent vintage, trucks, power scooters, and accessories are also displayed. The hours are from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Auto Show Notes

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Chicago automobile show is that of the Ford Motor company. Ford and Lincoln displays are in six sections in the International amphitheater, with the five cars in the Ford group featured on the central stage in the show ring. In the Hall of Science section, Ford displays include two amazing automatic inspection machines from the Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich. Used to test engine parts they comprise an intricate hookup of electric eyes, gauges of infinite fineness and electric amplification networks. John R. Davis, general sales manager of Ford, one of those responsible for the exhibition, is giving a lunch at the Stevens hotel today for a large Chicago group.

Nearly 100 superintendents, engineers and other members of the Buick staf who came to Chicago on a special train for the show opening returned to Flint, Mich. last night. Harlow H. Curtice, president, and W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager, will head Buick officials who will arrive in Chicago from New York tomorrow to attend the show.

Large crowds have been attracted to the De Soto exhibit which features a "human" car. Equipped with a "radio-brain," a 1939 De Soto does everything from talking to reading the minds of onlookers. The secret is the electric eye and other electric gadgets. The car backs up, moves forward, turns on headlights, shifts gears, lifts its hood, toots its horn and opens and closes its windows—all without the aid of a driver.

One dealer at the show said there have been an unusual number of cash transactions. "I don't know where the people get cash to pay it on the line," he said, "but they have it. Many purchasers for cash are persons in moderate circumstances."

MILLION DOLLAR SUIT OF INDIANA WOMAN ASSIGNED

Covington, Ky., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Sixth United States Circuit court today directed that the $1,000,000 assault and false imprisonment suit of Mrs. Isabel McHie, estranged wife of a Hammond, Ind., publisher, be tried before a Federal District court in Battle Creek, Mich.

Defendants in the suit are the Grand Trunk Western railroad, the city of Battle Creek, the Leila Y. Post Montgomery hospital of Battle Creek, and police officials of the railroad and of Battle Creek.

Mrs. McHie was taken from a Grand Trunk passenger train at Battle Creek in 1935 and placed in the hospital after it was reported she had been stuffing large sums of money in the ventilator in her compartment. She was found to be carrying about $175,000 in cash and more than $150,000 worth of jewelry. The valuables were taken from her, but were returned under court order.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

"If Coach Waldorf were sure that John Haman, junior center, could play sixty minutes of every game, there would be no anxiety over the pivot position. Haman came on fast as a sophomore last year after an injury placed Erwin Wegner, regular center, on the sidelines."

This prediction was written by Walter Paulison, Northwestern's able publicist, and was included in the summary of team prospects, biographical data, and "other pertinent facts" issued prior to start of this season. It was remarkably accurate. For Haman has played nearly sixty minutes in every game and neither Lynn Waldorf, nor Burt Ingwersen, Northwestern's line coach, who has tutored the Wildcat center for two seasons, has shown any anxiety.

They Fear Mr. Haman.

The worry has been the other fellow's. Detroit newspaper men Sunday credited Haman with the finest defensive work any center has shown against Michigan. And in praising Haman the boys also saw fit to say that in the scoreless tie between Michigan and Northwestern last Saturday he more than matched the brilliant work of Archie Kodros, the Wolverines' junior center. That, indeed, is high praise from Michigan.

Our observation of Haman in the Wisconsin game, which Northwestern lost, 20 to 13, puts us in the front row of the horn blowers on the Haman bandwagon. The Wildcats had their defensive troubles, as Wisconsin's eleven first downs and three touchdowns attest, but the jitters didn't get John Haman.

All of which is introduction to Northwestern's battle this week with Notre Dame.

Aside to Notre Dame.

The Irish attack, most difficult to check because it may strike suddenly from any position in one devastating play, must account for Haman. Unless the Wildcats change from their highly favored six man line, Haman and the full back, George McGurn, Jay Laskay, or Francis Purtell, will support that line.

Larry Buhler, full back, and Dan Elmer, center, supported Minnesota's line last Saturday. And Louis Zontini ran eighty-four yards for the first touchdown, breaking through on the side of the Minnesota line where Elmer was assigned. We suspect that Haman will be a sturdier obstacle.

Haman is but one link in Northwestern's armor, which, like any defense, must never yield completely at any one position. It also is true, and consider Minnesota's games with Northwestern and Michigan for evidence, that the Wildcat line from tackle to tackle, with Haman behind it, is superior to the Gophers' defense.

Northwestern will have less trouble with Irish plays inside the tackles than it will have with those directed outside and with sweeping end runs. The Wildcats will be vulnerable to Notre Dame's punt returns unless Bernie Jefferson is successful in kicking out of bounds.

Poor Kick Causes Trouble.

The inception of Michigan's fourth period attack last Saturday was a weak Jefferson kick, and Notre Dame's Chuck Sweeney blocked Jefferson's kick for the touchdown that whipped the Wildcats, 7 to 0, last year.

Defensively, Notre Dame is the best team we have seen this season. Offensively, it is the fastest, with the possible exception of Southern California. Bob Saggau, Notre Dame's sophomore left half back, is the best triple threat player we have seen. Which leads up to the threat of Saggau's passes. Here Notre Dame offers Earl Brown as receiver.

Notre Dame completed three passes in five attempts against Minnesota. That probably would have been the ratio if twenty passes had been thrown for Minnesota did not have sufficient back field defensive speed to cover receivers. Such a defect can not be remedied. There is no substitute for speed. That's why Don Hutson of Green Bay is the most feared pass receiver in professional football.

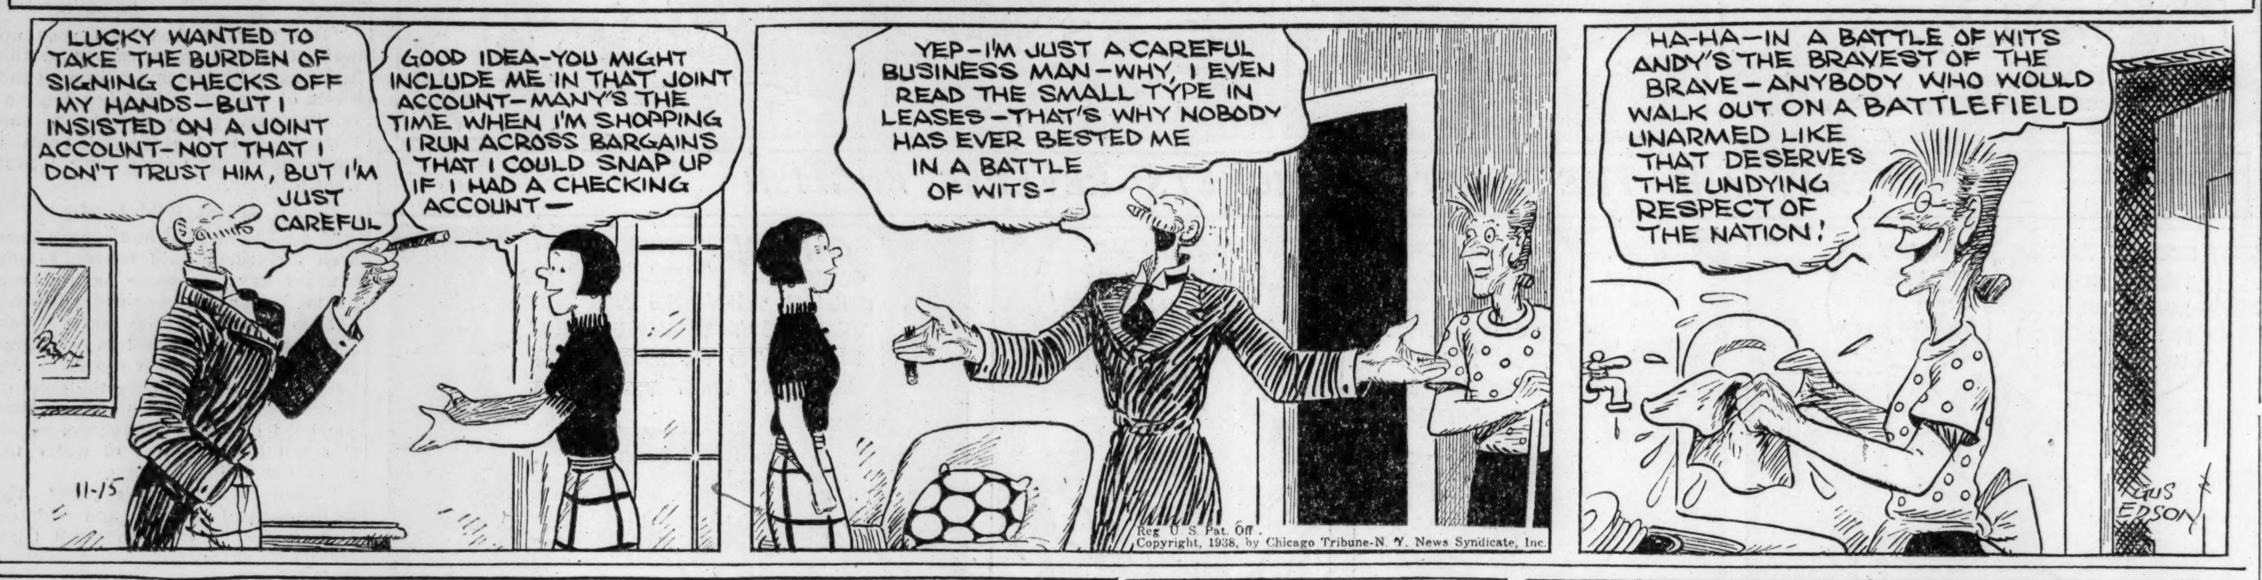
Northwestern's best pass defense, always true in any game, will be to rush Notre Dame's passers. But Minnesota couldn't break the Irish cordon of blockers to hurry the thrower. The Wildcats must, otherwise the obvious conclusion is a victory for Notre Dame.

Wildcats Are Best.

Northwestern is the best team Notre Dame has played. If its defense holds, an Irish fumble or error might provide a scoring break. But against Minnesota, Notre Dame performed flawlessly, partly because its ball carriers used both arms and hands to protect the ball on plunges and runs.

Mud or rain also would equalize the teams, even as the slippery turf played no small part in assisting the Northwestern defense against Minnesota in 1936. Notre Dame, undefeated, also is more susceptible to overconfidence, a rare Irish malady, however. But there shouldn't be more than a touchdown difference between these rivals.

THE GUMPS—JUST A CAREFUL GUY



One Position the Wildcats Aren't Worrying About

REPORT IOWA HAS NEW COACH, BUT NOBODY'LL TALK

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Reports circulated here tonight that a new football coach had been hired for the University of Iowa.

Prominent business men and others in close touch with university activities said they had been assured a new coach had been named to succeed Irl Tubbs.

None, however, would name the coach reportedly selected, and University Athletic Director E. G. Schroeder and Karl E. Leib, chairman of the board in control of athletics, denied the reports.

Alumni Criticize Tubbs.

Tubbs, who is hired on a year to year basis, has been the center of criticism by alumni for failure of his team to win Western conference games with greater regularity.

The coach took no notice of the criticism. He excused the squad from practice tonight.

Schroeder, when asked about the reports, said no action would be taken by the athletic board on possible selection of a new coach until after the season is finished.

Tubbs today set about the double task of rebuilding the Iowa football team's morale and finding an end to replace Erwin Prasse, Chicago junior who was injured against Indiana Saturday. Prasse will be unable to face Nebraska in the season final here Saturday.

Clean Sweep Rumored.

Rumors that have swept the campus since Iowa opened the home season with a 31 to 13 trouncing at the hands of Wisconsin broke into the open today as students and fans discussed the dismal season and debated the future policy of the board in control of athletics.

A member of the board, who requested his name be withheld, declared that the athletic department was due for a clean sweep.

The "I" Men's association, lettermen's organization, has called a meeting in the fieldhouse at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning to discuss the athletic situation with the coaches. Such a meeting, it was said by several "I" men, would be out of order if a new coach already had been signed. It was pointed out, however, that university officials have the power to select a new staf without consulting the "I" men, although such a move would amount to a snub of the alumni group and would break precedent at Iowa.

HUSKERS STUDY ERRORS.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Nebraska devoted most of the time today to studying errors made in Saturday's game with Pittsburgh. Motion pictures of the contest were shown. Quarter Back Harry Hopp showed up with a twisted knee, but physicians expected him to be ready for Saturday's encounter with Iowa.

Those Packers Are as Good as Lambeau Said They'd Be

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Slogging through the mud and rain toward the dressing room late on the afternoon of Sept. 18, Coach Curley Lambeau cast a glance at the scoreboard, which read "Bears, 2; Green Bay, 0," and said:

Three weeks later, stepping gingerly over the same route through a happy group of Detroit Lions who had beaten the Packers, 17 to 7, he said:

Today Green Bay virtually is "in," as far as the western division championship of the National Football league is concerned. Its victories over the Bears a week ago and Detroit Sunday fulfilled Lambeau's prophecy by leaving Detroit with only a mathematical chance of tying, and eliminating the Bears from future consideration.

Only the Giants Left.

Green Bay has one more game to play. It meets the Giants, eastern division leader, in New York Sunday. Victory will give it an undisputed claim to the title, surrendered to the Bears last year. If the Packers lose, their chances of winning the championship will depend upon Detroit's ability to go through unbeaten in its remaining games against the Cardinals in Wrigley field Sunday, the Bears in Detroit Thanksgiving day, and Philadelphia in Detroit Dec. 4.

Detroit figures to whip the Cardinals and Philadelphia, leaving its Bear game the key to the title. And on the basis of their last two starts, the Bears appear well able to make the Packers the champions. Another game such as that in which they beat the Washington Redskins, 31 to 7, Sunday will spoil many a Thanksgiving dinner in Detroit.

Just Like Champions.

The Bears Sunday were a superb football machine. For sixty minutes they excelled their performance in the Packer game the week before, when they gave first evidences of the ability conceded them before the season began. Their blocking was vicious and accurate, their tackling hard and sure. Long sessions on pass defense paid dividends. Washington's expert receivers were bottled up. The line which wavered before Detroit's running attack outcharged the Redskin forwards throughout and harassed Passers Sammy Baugh, Bill Hartman, and Frank Filchock almost to distraction.

Much of the credit for the Bears goes to Sam Francis, the southpaw shot putter, who has been the sparkplug of the attack. And Francis' success is traceable to a change in the offense. The former Nebraska star has been given more opportunity to run wide, where he can utilize his speed and elusiveness.

Swisher's Speed Helps.

More frequent use of Bob Swisher, former Northwestern half back, on offense also has strengthened the Bear attack. Swisher, although a midget as National league backs go, possesses tremendous speed.

The Bears go east this week to play the Dodgers in Brooklyn in their last game before they close the season in Detroit on Thanksgiving morning. Brooklyn, through a possible but extremely improbable combination of victories and defeats, still has a methematical chance of tying for the eastern division championship. Washington, which dropped out of first place in the division by losing to the Bears while the Giants were whipping Cleveland, plays an exhibition game Sunday and has to meet the Pirates in Washington before it meets the Giants in New York on Dec. 4 in the contest which, in all probability, will decide the eastern title.

The only other games on this week's schedule pit Philadelphia against Pittsburgh in Charleston, W. Va., on Saturday night and the Lions against the Cardinals in Chicago Sunday. The Cardinals, the hard luck eleven of the circuit, wind up their season at home, meeting the Rams in Wrigley field a week from Sunday.

GALENTO STOPS THOMAS IN THIRD; 5 KNOCKDOWNS

12,000 See Heavyweights Battle in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Tony Galento stopped Harry Thomas in three rounds tonight with little more trouble than he'd have downing ten or a dozen beers in his Orange, N. J., tavern.

Before a crowd of 12,000, which came close to filling Philadelphia's convention hall, the two ton gent from Jersey dropped the ex-horse shoer from Eagle Bend, Minn., five times in the third round, twice with punches that barely landed. When Thomas sank to the canvas the fifth time, Referee Tommy O'Keefe called a halt to the proceedings.

Louis Won't Worry.

The time was 2 minutes 12 seconds. Galento weighed 236 and Thomas 198½.

Thus Galento came back to the ring he was forced to desert last summer to battle "Kid Pneumonia" in a fight to a finish. From what he showed tonight, the cash customers were more or less convinced that the heavyweight championship laurels of Joe Louis, who is on Tony's "must" list for opposition, are safe for a while.

The Associated Press score card gave Galento both of the first two rounds, largely because the barrel-shaped slugger did just about all of the punching that was done. He connected with left hooks to the head to slow Thomas in both rounds, and showed a clear edge in the point scoring, despite the difficulty he had landing clearly through the crouching style employed by Thomas.

Referee Stops Bout.

Opening the third round, Tony shook Thomas with a southpaw smash to the body. He followed this up with a roundhouse left to the head that Thomas ducked away from but could not quite elude. Down went Harry, while the referee counted nine. As he climbed to his feet again Tony threw another left, this one landing against the side of the body, and Harry went down again, this time for a four count.

Another left to the body, partly blocked by Thomas, sent the westerner to the canvas again and he took another nine. When he got up Tony threw a left to the side of the face in return and Harry sank slowly to a sitting position for a six count. At that point he tried to get up, succeeded only partly, and then collapsed again. O'Keefe did the rest in calling a halt to the proceedings and declaring Galento victor by a technical knockout.

ZENGARAS BEATS WOODS

George Zengaras, New York lightweight, won a close decision over Harvey Woods, Sioux City, Ia., in ten rounds in Marigold Gardens last night. The decision was not unanimous. Referee Tommy Gilmore voted 52-48 and Judge Ed Klein 51-49 for Zengaras while the other judge, Edward Hintz, scored the match a draw.

Zengaras went into the fourth round leading on points, but Woods went to work and won the next three with superior boxing. Zengaras regained the lead in the eighth.

Kist, Patterson Draw.

The five round semi-final between Dick Kist, Danville, Ill., welterweight, and Verne Patterson was called a draw. It snapped Kist's victory string at seven straight.

Johny Balmer, Peoria lightweight, beat Sam Scully; George Kontopolis, local welterweight, whipped Garland Parnell, and Miles Martinez, St. Paul 132 pounder, defeated Young Armando Santiago in fights of four rounds.

There is no strangeness when we meet,
No wall that we must battle through;

And some day, if you go ahead
And walk upon a golden street,
I'm confident that when I come,
There'll be no strangeness when we meet.

Michigan Has Some Stars, Too.

And while we're on the subject of the Big Ten's most valuable, let's not forget the linemen who are making the dazzling dashes of Michigan's sophomore backs possible. Consider Capt. Fred Janke, for instance, the tackle, who's opening the holes, or Ralph Heikkenen, the guard who's knocking 'em down in front of the ball carriers. Heikkenen, you'll recall, was chosen the team's most valuable last fall. O, yes, and they're both coached by Clarence Munn, who won THE TRIBUNE's silver football as a guard at Minnesota in 1931.

BADGERS FACE MINNESOTA AT FULL STRENGTH

Seek First Crown in 26 Years.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—More than 4,000 students and townspeople welcomed the Wisconsin football squad home this afternoon from its 14 to 7 victory over U. C. L. A. on the west coast.

Seek Conference Title.

The game already is a sellout. Hotels have no more accommodations. Thus more than 37,000 will see Wisconsin bid for its first conference football title in twenty-six years.

In the long series that began in 1890 Minnesota has won 27 games and Wisconsin 15. Five ended in ties. The Badgers scored their last victory over the Gophers in 1932 when Mickey McGuire sparked Wisconsin to a 20 to 13 upset triumph.

At Full Strength.

Barring injuries this week, and that isn't likely because there will be little or no contact work, Wisconsin will be at full strength for the final game of the season. Little Tony Gradisnik, reserve left half back, was held out of the U. C. L. A. game, but he reported in good shape today and will be available as understudy to Bill Schmitz.

It was feared that Roy Bellin, regular right half back, might be lost for the Minnesota game, but Wisconsin fans were cheered to learn that Bellin's injuries are not serious and that he, too, will be ready to take his place in the starting lineup.

Howie Weiss, senior full back, was named to lead the Badgers in the Minnesota game. Weiss, who has played brilliantly in all of Wisconsin's seven games, twice previously this season was honored with the acting captaincy.

GOPHERS STUDY PICTURES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Minnesota players who participated in the game with Notre Dame Saturday were excused from practice this afternoon as Coach Bernie Bierman laid plans for the Wisconsin game. Reserves were given a stiff drill, however. Regulars were let off for the chalk talk and to look at the pictures.

MAROONS ARE UNHAPPY.

There was very little talk in the Maroon locker room yesterday as the Chicago squad reassembled after the decisive defeat suffered Saturday at the hands of A. A. Stagg's College of the Pacific. But there was evidence of a sore spirit in players, of indignation simmering toward the boiling point, based on their own feeling that they had not demonstrated the best game of which they are capable.

Last chance to work off their resentment, and to save the season from disaster, will be against Illinois in the traditional closing game on Stagg field Saturday. The signs yesterday were that the Maroons will make a mighty effort, though they will, of course, be underdogs.

There were no injuries resulting from the Pacific game, and the Maroons will be able to start a slightly stronger squad against the Illini than they did against Pacific, since most of those hurt in the Harvard game will have had time to recuperate.

Wally Nyquist, who scouted the Illini against Ohio State, discounted the alleged razzle-dazzle offense of the Illinois team, but reported that the Illini have an alert squad, capable on defense particularly. He had high praise for the work of Mel Brewer, blocking back and line backer.

ILLINI WORK SOPHOMORES.

Jim Phillips and Herb Young were at ends and Sam Riggs and Bob Thomases at the tackles, with George Bernhardt at left guard, and Cliff Peterson at left half back. George Rettinger, another first year man so far as experience is concerned, brought to seven the number of green players who are likely to start against the Maroons.

The Illini came out of the Ohio game in good physical condition. Zuppke was pleased with the Illini's exhibition when Peterson threw three passes for a gain of 70 yards.

The Maroon passing attack is highly respected and there will be plenty of defensive scrimmage this week.

SHIVERS TUNES UP PUNCHES FOR OVERLIN FIGHT

Middleweights to Box in Park Casino Tomorrow.

Milton Shivers of Detroit, Mich., one of the hardest hitting middleweights to win a Golden Gloves championship, yesterday sharpened up his pet punches in a final sparring session in Trafton's gymnasium for a ten round contest with Ken Overlin in Park casino tomorrow. His punch absorber for three rounds was Battling Monroe, Detroit light heavyweight, who faces Bill Palmer of the Catholic Youth organization in a four round preliminary match.

Shivers will be making his first Chicago start since he was eliminated by Frank Nelson of Davenport, Ia., in the 1936 American Olympic Golden Gloves quarterfinals. Milton suffered a broken left hand which kept him out of action for nearly a year. When he resumed he avenged the Nelson setback in five rounds in Buffalo, N. Y.

In his professional debut in Buffalo Jan. 8 of last year Shivers scored a one round knockout over Jack Garry. In thirteen subsequent engagements he won eleven decisions and lost two. Vincenzio Triano, claimant of the 160 pound title of Italy, was a victim, in Detroit, Aug. 31.

Following his ten round rematch with Jackie Burke, Ogden, Utah, welterweight, in Marigold Gardens Monday, Milt Aron will be married to Miss Mildred Lippman of 2131 South Harding avenue on Dec. 4. . . . After holding an executive session for more than an hour yesterday the Illinois athletic commission approved the heavyweight wrestling headliner between Bronko Nagurski and George Zaharias in the Coliseum Nov. 25. At the same time Joe Triner was reelected chairman of the board, a position he has held since 1932. . . . Eddie Siegal and Battling Williams engaged in an impromptu battle in the hall outside the commission offices over management rights to Norman Roth, local middleweight. . . . Johnny Paycheck, 1933 Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight titleholder, is prepping in the Allerton hotel gymnasium for his ten round event with Russ Wasser in Des Moines next Monday. . . .

Tony Musto, Blue Island heavyweight, has refused offers to head shows in Detroit Nov. 22 and Park casino Nov. 30. . . . Henry Wacker, recent winner of his seventh victory in a row, was to be Musto's foe in the casino. . . . Emil Nanny, manager of Leone Efrati, Italian featherweight star, is asking a $300 guarantee for a match between his protégé and Frankie [Kid] Covelli on the west side Nov. 23. . . . Federal Judge John P. Barnes has continued the libel case of Sheridan Bruseaux versus Joe Louis and his co-managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, to Dec. 5. . . . Holman Williams, welterweight stablemate of Joe Louis, is training in Trafton's gymnasium for his six rounder against Tony Rock on the Henry Armstrong-Ceferino Garcia program in New York Nov. 25. . . .

Hawks Hear a Lecture from Irate Leader

Games Tonight

Toronto at Boston.
Detroit at New York Rangers.

Manager Bill Stewart of the Blackhawks was a peeved individual yesterday. He was roiled at the defensive tactics of his team in the waning minutes of Sunday's National league hocky contest when, through sheer carelessness on the Hawks' part, the Montreal Canadiens came within a goal of tying the score. Although Stewart excused his charges from practice yesterday, he laid down the law in a long parley in the dressing room.

In the opinion of Trainer Eddie Froelich, last week's lay-off impaired the team's condition somewhat. With games scheduled against the powerful Rangers Thursday and the high scoring Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday, Manager Stewart plans longer practices, now that the six day race is over and the team can use its own ice in the Stadium.

The scoring list released by President Frank Calder yesterday shows three players, Johnny Gottselig, Toe Blake of the Canadiens, and Bill Cowley of Boston tied with six points apiece. Gottselig is given the top position by reason of having scored more goals than Blake or Cowley. Including the ten Stanley cup games of last season, Gottselig's record is an impressive one. The Russian born star has accounted for fifteen points in his last fourteen games.

Bob O'Farrell Released as Bloomington's Manager

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Bob O'Farrell of Waukegan, former major league catcher, has been given his release as manager of the Bloomington Three Eye league club, it was disclosed today. Desire for a playing manager and the fact that O'Farrell was too high salaried for a class B league team were said to be the reasons for the release.

P. G. A. Opens Meeting; See Election Storm

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The annual convention of the Professional Golfers' Association of America opened quietly yesterday with a couple of special sessions in the Morrison hotel. The yearly reunion of the directors of the pros' destinies will continue through Thursday.

Yesterday morning, the secretaries of most of the twenty-eight member sections of the national organization met, and in the afternoon the executive committee engaged in a lengthy pow wow.

No news of import emerged from these two gatherings, but today and tomorrow all sessions are expected to produce considerable excitement. The election of officers for 1939, which probably will be held tomorrow will lead all of these.

Jacobus Is Undecided.

Reason for this anticipation lies with the decision of George R. Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., president of the P. G. A. for the last six terms, as to whether he will choose to run. Last year Jacobus went on record to the effect that he would not take the presidency for another term.

Jacobus has been the storm center of a number of controversies within the organization during the last few years. His only solid opposition at election time has been the Illinois section, which includes all of the professionals in the Chicago district. The Illinois group indicated last year it refused to accept the rôle of a "yes" section by being the only delegation to vote against Jacobus in the national election.

Make Reports Today.

Today's meetings are expected to include annual reports by President Jacobus, Treasurer Jack Mackie, Secretary Tom Walsh, and Fred Corcoran, manager of the tournament bureau of the P. G. A. Under Corcoran's direction, tournament pros have been able to compete for a total of $156,000 from Jan. 1 until Oct. 15. Walsh has been one of the outstanding officials of the P. G. A. during his incumbency as secretary. He was the guiding force in the Tribune Golf school, which has attracted thousands of pupils for free instruction each year.

Jacobus will be the guest of honor at the annual President's dinner to be held tonight in the Cameo room of the Morrison.

Leslie Nunamaker, Former Big League Catcher, Dies

Hastings, Neb., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Leslie G. Nunamaker, who put in sixteen seasons of major league catching, died here at his home today after a protracted illness. He served with the Boston Red Sox, the Yankees, the Browns, and Indians. In a game against Detroit during the 1914 season Nunamaker threw out three would-be base stealers in a single inning. Nunamaker was 49 years old.

Duck Shooting in Wisconsin Has Been Poor

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois hunters, bothered by low water in the Illinois river valley and mild autumn weather, are not the only ones who have had trouble getting ducks this fall. Charles Nevitt of Oshkosh, Wis., gives us the following interesting report on what happened in the big Lake Winnebago, Poygan area, one of the most famous duck sections in the middle west. He writes:

"Our shooting has been poor up here. The high water caused by the heavy rains in September brought the levels of the water in lakes Poygan, Winneconne, Butte de Morts, and Winnebago to the highest point I have known for Oct. 1 since I first went hunting.

An Ardent Wild Fowler.

"I am 83 years old and always have been an ardent wild fowler, in my younger days my game having been the passenger pigeon as well as ducks. I keep records of the water levels each year. The peak this year was reached Sept. 23 when the level was twenty-four inches above the crest of the Menasha dam. This dam controls the level of Lake Winnebago, which this fall had two feet of water too much for diving ducks.

"What happened this year? The mallards, teal pintails, and widgeon [marsh ducks] went to small lakes and ponds in this section and on opening day the farmer boys got their limits in the cornfields and stubbles where the birds feed. All of the lake riparian blinds around the four lakes I have mentioned held disappointed hunters on the opening day, and for that matter this situation has obtained to date [Nov. 11], although there have been two or three exceptional days.

Keep on Going.

"Warm weather in the north permitted the geese and diving ducks to feed there until our north storm of Nov. 4 and 5 and then with the full moon the flight came by the thousands. I fear that many of the wily old leaders of the flocks said 'Let's keep on going.' This you can check by a glance at the shores of your big lake. During the last week we have killed more Winnebagos [whistlers] than bluebills. The whistlers are usually the last ones to arrive."

Mr. Nevitt is right about the great number of birds that have come down and now are on Lake Michigan. We have been looking at these birds for some days. Besides bluebills, redheads, and whistlers there are several flocks of geese [including a few snow geese among them] also enjoying the safety of Lake Michigan. We watched a flock of about forty the other day, the white snow geese among the Canadas showing up beautifully in the late afternoon sun.

Speed King Pays $5 for Doing 37 Miles an Hour

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Capt. George E. T. Eyston, holder of the world speed record for automobiles—his 357.5 miles an hour made Sept. 16 on the Utah salt flats—today was fined $5 in Bow street police court for exceeding London's thirty mile speed limit. A trafic policeman who flagged the racer down on Victoria embankment, beside the Thames river, said he was ripping along at 37½ miles an hour—about one-tenth of his record.

BILLY SMITH OF PENN STATE IS HARRIER WINNER

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Billy Smith, Penn State sophomore, ran the legs off 125 rivals in the thirtieth annual intercollegiate cross-country race today over a five mile course in Van Cortlandt park.

The 126 pounder, a former Philadelphia newsboy, finished fully 200 yards ahead of second place Joe Moclair of Manhattan college. He raced the distance in 26 minutes 33 3-10 seconds.

Despite Billy's noble effort, however, the team championship went to Manhattan, which broke a five year reign of Michigan State. Placing five men among the first sixteen finishers, Manhattan compiled a point score of 43, with Michigan State second, 76; Pittsburgh, third, 90, and Alfred, fourth, 109.

MacMitchell Leads Frosh.

Leslie MacMitchell of New York university captured the three mile freshman race in 15:58.8, with Vincent Carnevale of Georgetown second in 16:23. Penn State won the team title with 52 points, followed by Syracuse with 108, Manhattan 120, and Princeton 128.

Smith, a nephew of the old fighter, Mysterious Billy Smith, never has lost a college cross-country run.

Penn State Fifth.

Behind Smith and Moclair the others came struggling in at long intervals. Donald Smith of Maine, New England cross-country champion, came in third, some 80 yards behind Moclair, with Richard Frey of Michigan State fourth; Lawrence Moriarty of Manhattan, fifth; Morgan Elmer, Lehigh's lone entry, sixth; Walter Sterner, Pittsburgh, seventh; Bob Conkling, Manhattan, eighth; Roy Fehr, Michigan State, ninth, and George Keller, Michigan State, tenth.

Smith's Penn State team wound up in fifth place with 110 points, followed by Syracuse 166, Cornell 215, Maine 216, Yale 217, Princeton 247, Harvard 260, M. I. T. 283, Fordham 368, N. Y. U. 384, Rutgers 407, Columbia 499, and College of the City of New York 504.

HITCHCOCK HORSE TRIUMPHS EASILY IN STEEPLECHASE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Thomas Hitchcock's Annibal, the season's champion steeplechase horse, ended his campaign today with an easy victory in the 18th Manly steeplechase handicap at Pimlico.

Carrying 164 pounds, Annibal, ridden by Rigan McKinney, beat Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Rocky Run by five lengths in the 2½ mile race over brush. F. Ambrose Clark's Torturer was third, a half length farther back, while Hitchcock's Rioter was the only other finisher.

WILDCATS HEAR SCOUT'S STORY OF IRISH AND WORRY

Coach Warns His Men to Expect Trouble.

The fact that Notre Dame's strongest offensive weapons dovetail with Northwestern's defensive weaknesses was cited by Coach Lynn Waldorf as the biggest problem confronting the Wildcats in preparing for Saturday's game in Dyche stadium.

Coach Waldorf had particular reference to Notre Dame's effective forward pass attack and ability to shake players loose for long runs. It was on just such plays that Wisconsin scored three touchdowns against the Wildcats, two by passes and one by a forty yard run.

Just Like the Champions.

"If it weren't for the date on the program I would have thought I was looking at the Notre Dame team of 1930 last Saturday," Coach Kent said. "This year's team is a smooth working outfit which is just beginning to hit its stride."

In reference to Northwestern's attack, Waldorf pointed out that "It is hard to figure how a team which couldn't score against Michigan from the 1 yard line can score on Notre Dame from any place on the field."

While the Wildcats were disappointed in not scoring against the Wolverines, they were encouraged by the marked improvement over their showing in the Wisconsin game the week previous. Against Michigan the Purple flashed a strong offense which rolled up 174 yards by rushing and 70 yards by passing Bernie's in Form Again.

The fine running of Bernie Jefferson and his alertness on forward pass defense in the Michigan game have bolstered Northwestern's hopes for Saturday. The veteran right half will be one of the strong cogs in the Northwestern back field.

Aside from bumps and bruises sustained by Jack Ryan, half back; Bob Voigts and Tom Irving, tackles, the Wildcats came out of the Michigan game in good physical condition. All three will be able to play Saturday.

All players who saw action Saturday were excused from practice yesterday while the reserves were sent through a short scrimmage. Pictures of the Michigan game were shown at the close of practice.

The 1,000 field seats placed on sale yesterday for Saturday's game were sold within an hour. No more are available.

LAYDEN GOES HUNTING.

The squad was given a day of rest to nurse the bruises accumulated in Saturday's victory over Minnesota. Movies of the game revealed that Notre Dame backs frequently missed their holes. The pictures also established that Johnny Kelly, right end wearing No. 18, and not Steve Sitko, No. 8 at quarter back, blocked Harold Van Every, the Gopher safety man, on Lou Zontini's 84 yard touchdown run.

Ben Sheridan, left half back, was the only serious Notre Dame casualty. He suffered a recurrence of an injury to the arch in his right foot while trying to return a punt. He may be lost for Saturday's game at Evanston.

Layden said Bill McGannon of Evansville would play left half back, and Max Burnett of Duluth, Minn., right half back in the second back field Saturday. They replace Sheridan and Paul Morrison, who Layden said would give way to Burnett because of the latter's speed.

PURDUE EXPECTS BATTLE.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The mere mention of the Old Oaken bucket always means that Purdue and Indiana start from scratch. Past records are thrown into discard. Thus the background for this year's renewal of the Hoosier football civil war here Saturday points to one of the hardest fought games in the series.

As far as Purdue is concerned, much more than the Old Oaken bucket will be at stake. With a courageous eleven that has confounded the experts all season, it has lost only one game and still retains a mathematical chance to share in the Big Ten championship as well as finish the season with the best record of any Boilermaker eleven of recent years.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Indiana squad settled down to a week of intensive secret practice today as Coach Bo McMillin laid the ground work for Saturday's Old Oaken Bucket battle against Purdue in Lafayette.

"We realize that we must stop Purdue's speed if we expect to get any place," Coach McMillin said at the opening of the drill which was devoted mainly to defensive work. Although the Hoosier line and secondary showed more aggressiveness last week-end when Indiana defeated Iowa, 7 to 3, Coach McMillin began building a tighter defense for the speedy Boilermakers.

Offensively, the Hoosiers are expected to be in the best shape since their opener against Ohio State when the injury jinx struck the squad.

McMillen Throws Schu in White City Mat Match

Jim McMillen tossed Pete Schu with a series of body slams in the main event of the wrestling program last night in White City arena. The time for the match was 24 minutes 57 seconds. Jack Hagen beat Al Williams in 10:18; Tony Bomerito threw Babe Kasaboski in 15 minutes, and Stanley Pinta won from Bull Curley in 11:54 in other matches.

DICK TRACY—Sudden Attack

YALE HOPES TO SALVAGE SEASON AGAINST HARVARD

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Yale, launching a comeback campaign for Harvard's invasion of the bowl next Saturday, today held a long signal and dummy drill that was concluded under floodlights. Yale, with only two victories this season, hopes to atone for an otherwise mediocre season with a victory over its greatest rival.

The squad as a whole came out of the Princeton game in good condition, although Buck Dyess and Bill Moody, ends, and Ray Anderson, a back whose passes against the Tigers led to Yale's touchdown, are nursing minor bruises. All are expected to resume drills in a day or two.

HARVARD PROMOTES SOPH.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Joe Gardella, 21 year old full back, was named today to start in the Harvard back field against Yale. He will be the only sophomore in the opening lineup, having won an all season battle with the more experienced Ben Smith and Mike Cohen.

Fast, a good blocker, and a powerful ball carrier, Gardella also has developed into one of Harvard's best defenders against forward passes.

PRINCETON PASSES.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Coach Tad Wieman again called on his plentiful supply of ends to fill in a depleted back field today as he put the Princeton squad through a short passing drill in preparation for the Army game Saturday.

Weakness in the full back position was further accentuated today when it was learned that Al Lane will be out of the Army game due to a torn knee muscle. This leaves Ashby Harper as the only varsity full back. Dick Wells, stocky quarter back, spent last week learning the assignment and today Wieman shifted Charley Winston, varsity end and freshman full back last fall, to back up the line.

Dave Allerdice, sophomore quarter back who passed the Tigers to victory Saturday, is suffering bruises, but worked out and will start against the Cadets.

LONG DRILL FOR ARMY.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Army's football team was given a long workout this afternoon in preparation for the game with Princeton Saturday. The Cadets came through the Chattanooga game with no serious injury. Coach Bill Wood plans little scrimmage this week, and will devote most of the time to careful work on assignments.

NAVY POINTS FOR ARMY.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Navy football squad, the rest of its season completed, this afternoon started prepartions for the Army game, which will be played in Philadelphia on Nov. 26.

100 PROS OPEN PINEHURST GOLF TOURNEY TODAY

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—More than 100 professional golfers are entered in the annual mid-south tourney which will open here tomorrow morning with eighteen holes of best ball, followed by the same on Wednesday for prize totals. On Thursday play will revert to individual open play, eighteen holes being scheduled for that day and eighteen for Friday.

Sarazen today scored a 73 on the championship course. Other practice scores include those of Metz, 72; Frank Walsh, Bretton Woods, N. H., 73; Tony Manero of Salem, Mass., 73; Mike Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., 72.

DAILY MAROON SPORT SECTION IS IN MOURNING

"There's nothing else to be said," remarked Emmett Deadman, editorial board chairman of the paper, which has no Monday edition.

Walker Hound Wins U. S. Fox Hunters' Title

Winchester, Ky., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Flying Eagle, 3 year old Walker hound owned by J. R. Parker of New Albany, Miss., won the National Fox Hunters' association championship tonight by being judged the best hound in the bench show. Second place, to a hound of the opposite sex, was won by Winnstay's Show Girl, owned by the Winn brothers of Nashua, N. H.

Harrison Coach Forgets Lean Years as 1938 Stars Sparkle

Nineteen years ago, soon after setting aside the bayonet he had carried for Uncle Sam's forces in the world war, a young Hoosier left his native town of Orangeville in the southern end of Indiana for Chicago. It didn't require much time for Robert Dougherty to respond to the call of the football coaching profession and on Saturday afternoon in Soldiers' field you'll find him directing his sixteenth Harrison Tech squad against Fenger for the Public High School league title and the right to appear in Mayor Kelly's charity game on Nov. 26.

Robert Dougherty.

There were many lean, disappointing years at the southwest side high school after he had graduated from the American College of Physical Education. Success took its time in reaching the coach's door, but each season he is just as enthusiastic about the team's prospects as the youngest freshman on the bench. Prep players in all sections of the city know his smiling countenance, for he can be seen grouped around by cheering students at as many as six games over a week-end during the football season.

He's a Busy Fellow.

If his team is scheduled to play on a Saturday afternoon, Dougherty will spend Friday evening at a prep contest; he will be in the stands at a league game on Saturday morning, and in the evening he will watch double-headers in the 124th Field Artillery armory. If the weather is suitable for golf Dougherty will hustle to a golf course. If not, he will see Catholic league games on Sunday or take the captain of the team to Wrigley field for professional contests.

Harry Wilk, captain of this year's squad, has been Dougherty's companion on Sunday afternoons in Wrigley field this season. The plays of the professionals are explained by the coach and the following Saturday Harrison attempts to use one of them against a rival. Wilk, according to Dougherty, who gives the team only fifteen plays during the year, developed rapidly. He rates him better than Steve Remias, quarter back on the great 1931 Harrison eleven.

Wins County Amateur Title.

When Dougherty isn't speaking of football he likes to talk on golf. Despite low temperatures last Sunday, Dougherty traveled to the Navajo Fields Country club and toured 18 holes in 79. He won the Cook county amateur championship last year, and paired with George Cisar took the Mid-City best ball title last summer.

He had poor teams in his early years at Harrison Tech, but Dougherty has seen many of his players reach the heights in collegiate football. Several have joined the coaching ranks. Among them are Abe Shper, now first assistant to Jimmy Phelan at the University of Washington; Louis Blascznski, assistant to Pat Hanley at Boston university, who led college backs in scoring two years ago, and Frank Kopczak, assistant coach at St. Louis university.

Pilney and Pupils' Coach.

Dougherty's outstanding backs, Andy Pilney and Andy Puplis, the famous pair who led the Harrison team to thirteen consecutive victories during the 1931 season, now also are prep coaches. Pilney handles the football squad at Weber High school of the Catholic league and Puplis coaches Crystal Lake, Ill., High school. Occasionally the former Harrison backs find their way to the side of their former coach on the Harrison practice field to inquire about the team's outlook.

Dougherty has two more backs he believes will travel the same road as Pilney and Puplis. They are Willie Klemchuk, one of the greatest forward passers in the history of the league, and Ed Jankaus, hard plunging full back. Klemchuk's 50 yard pass last Saturday led Harrison to its semifinal victory over Austin. Klemchuk, Jankaus and Walter Fultyn, right end, who is 6 feet tall and weighs 195 pounds, may enroll at the University of Washington next fall.

Coaches Pick Officials.

Dougherty sent the squad through a long drill yesterday in preparation for the game with Fenger and its star quarter back, Don Griffin, who has scored eighteen touchdowns in seven contests. The winner of the league championship will meet the Catholic league's representative, Mount Carmel or Fenwick, in Mayor Kelly's game.

Coach Dougherty and Coach Chuck Palmer of Fenger yesterday agreed on officials. They will be Pat Pierce [De Paul], referee; W. F. McHugh [De Paul], umpire; H. J. Groeninger [Sacred Heart college], head linesman, and Roy Quant [George Williams], field judge.

Feller Goes 80 Miles an Hour; Faces Court

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Bob Feller of Van Meter, Ia., Cleveland Indian pitcher, was arrested by state highway patrolmen tonight on a charge of reckless driving. Feller was returning from a hunting trip. Municipal Judge Ralph Powers released him on his own bond to appear for hearing Nov. 28. Highway patrolmen told the court they had clocked Feller at speeds ranging up to 80 miles an hour before they overtook him.

MIAMI PICKS COACH.

Oxford, O., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Wilbur Ewbank of McGuffey High school here, was named today to succeed John Mauer, as basketball coach of Miami university. Ewbank is a native of Richmond, Ind.

OHIO STATE IN GOOD SHAPE FOR MICHIGAN GAME

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Ohio State's football players went to work this afternoon preparing for the meeting with Michigan here Saturday. Coach Francis Schmidt today announced plans to pick twenty-two men from the regular squad and concentrate on them for the week.

Physically the team is expected to be in its best condition for the Wolverine game. Pete Gales has about recovered from a knee hurt, and probably will start at left guard, while Alex Schoenbaum, who played only a short time against Illinois last Saturday, will again start at left tackle.

Keith Bliss, in bed for two weeks with a cold and sinus infection, is ready to resume his position at right end, and this leaves only Vic Marino of all the regulars, whose status for the season ender is in doubt. Marino, left guard, injured his knee and ankle in the Illini game.

MICHIGAN SCOUTS REPORT.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Chalk talks replaced formal workouts today as Michigan's football team prepared to end its season Saturday with Ohio State.

After a lengthy meeting yesterday in which pictures of the scoreless tie with Northwestern and of the 1937 Michigan-Ohio State game were reviewed, the squad met this afternoon to hear further scout reports by Bennie Oosterbaan instead of practicing on the field.

The Wolverine squad will be in top shape, with no injuries reported after last week's game and with Capt. Fred Janke, who played only four minutes against Northwestern, recovered from an ankle injury sufficiently to do regular duty at left tackle.

SELF-RULE CODE IN BROADCASTING INDUSTRY URGED

Sarnoff Sees Peril in Federal Control.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Three members of the communications commission heard a plea today that radio be allowed to govern itself under a self-imposed code. The commission began an inquiry to determine whether monopolistic practices exist in the broadcasting industry.

David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, said government control of broadcasting was an implement of dictatorships. He testified further that "censorship by public opinion" was the "democratic way in a democratic country."

The witness said that the National Broadcasting company was owned wholly by R. C. A. and that no single stockholder owned as much as one-half of 1 per cent of R. C. A. stock.

Offices Employ 2,273.

Sarnoff was followed in the witness chair by Frank E. Mason, NBC vice president. Mason described the company's organization and said that it had 2,273 employés in its eleven offices.

NBC attorneys said the company would offer sixteen witnesses. They added that Walter Damrosch, symphony conductor who was scheduled to testify, would not be called for the present.

Frank R. McNinch, commission chairman, said witnesses for the Columbia and Mutual systems would be heard after those of NBC. He confirmed predictions of a long hearing by saying that an eleven day recess would be taken over the Christmas holidays.

Read Prophetic Letters.

Following Sarnoff's testimony NBC attorneys read letters which they said Sarnoff had written more than twenty years ago, foreseeing many radio developments.

In 1916, when he was 25 years old, Sarnoff wrote the Marconi company a detailed description of a proposed "radio music box" which he said would make possible the universal reception of broadcast music in the home. Attorneys said the letter was written about five years before any broadcast station went on the air.

Central Foundry.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me information regarding Central Foundry company, listed on the New York Stock exchange?—W. D.

Answer: The Central Foundry company is engaged in the manufacture of soil pipe and fittings. It makes pressure pipe used by utility companies and in real estate development and manufactures a line of plumbers' specialties. The company stopped making radiators, boilers, brake shoes, and pig iron in 1936.

Prior to 1936 the Central Foundry company was a subsidiary of the Universal Pipe and Radiator company. In July of that year a reorganization plan of Universal and its subsidiaries became effective. Under the plan assets of all the companies were taken over by Central Foundry company and the other companies were dissolved. Old securities of Universal Pipe and Radiator were exchanged for new securities of Central Foundry.

Funded debt of the company now consists of $999,300 in bonds, which will mature in 1941. There are 3,751 shares of $5 cumulative convertible preferred stock of $100 par value and 632,214 shares of $1 par common stock outstanding.

The company reported a net loss for the first nine months of 1938 of $270,405. This compared with net income of $99,402 in the corresponding period last year. The profit of the first nine months of 1937, however, was more than wiped out in the final quarter of the year. The company reported a net loss for the year of $43,360. Sales amounted to $4,240,303 during 1937. During the four months ended Dec. 31, 1936, Central Foundry had sales of $1,475,140 and net loss of $74,800.

No dividends have been paid on the common stock of Central Foundry. A dividend of $5 a share in common stock was paid Oct. 15, 1937, on the preferred stock. No other preferred dividends have been declared.

To Personnel Managers Interested In Hospital Insurance

If you wish to broaden your employes' welfare program, we invite you to consider Continental's new plan covering Hospital, Surgical, Nurse, and Doctor bills. This plan has been adopted nation-wide . . . because:

1. Installation does not depend upon the compulsory participation of a definite percentage of employes. Only those who need and want this type of protection take it.

2. Each employe gets an individual policy, built to fit his own needs. He may continue his protection in force to age 65, regardless of occupation and no matter if he changes employer.

3. Provides up to 90 DAYS hospital treatment for any one accident or sickness, not limited to any one year. Covers quarantinable diseases, tuberculosis and mental and nervous disorders.

4. Employe can select any hospital in the world, his own doctor, his own surgeon, his own nurse . . . and it fits everyone; costs as little as 2c a day or as much as 13c.

Employes can secure these benefits only through the cooperation of their employers. Secure further details through your agent or broker, or by writing or phoning our Chicago service office.

GEN'L MOTORS WILL STABILIZE LABORERS' PAY

Adopts 2 Plans for Wage Security.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Details of two plans designed to stabilize the earnings of General Motors corporation employés were made public today by Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the corporation. The plans are to be in effect throughout 1939.

They apply to workers paid on an hourly basis and will affect some 150,000 whose names are on General Motors pay rolls. [The company's largest number of employés was 261,977 in 1937.] Later, according to Sloan, a similar stabilization program will be announced for 37,000 salaried employés.

The first plan would affect hourly paid employés with more than five years of service. In substance every worker in this classification will be guaranteed at least 60 per cent of his standard weekly earnings every week in the year. The standard work week at present is forty hours and time and a half is paid for overtime.

Second Plan Is Limited.

Under the second plan employés with two to five years of service will be guaranteed a minimum of 40 per cent of their standard weekly earnings for a limited period. They may receive this 40 per cent as an advance only for a total equivalent to seventy-two hours of work at any one time.

Plan No. 1, known as the General Motors Income Security plan, is the corporation's answer to the oft repeated criticism that an employé has no way of knowing what his income will be over a period of months.

As Chairman Sloan explained it, the employé will be able to make commitments, such as the purchase of a home or a car, and know that while the plan operates he will have at least the minimum 60 per cent of total earnings available each week.

Will Repay with Labor.

No deductions are to be made for support of the plan in times of full employment. In slack periods the company will advance the pay roll money. When work is available later, the employé must repay the company with his labor. The rate at which this is to be done is laid out. He must repay with half of his labor performed above the minimum 60 per cent of a full week until the debt is liquidated.

The same requirements are made of the two to five year workers. The maximum to which they can go in debt to the company is seventy-two hours. Presumably when this is repaid the employé may again collect up to seventy-two hours, even if the second loan from the company comes in the same year.

Sloan said that a reserve would be set up to finance the plans, based on a percentage of the current pay rolls. This reserve would cover losses sustained either through the employé's death, which would wipe his obligation, or his failure to return to work after a layoff period. The chairman added that experiments in several plants had formed the basis for the plan details.

Details of Guarantee.

The plans are conditional upon the continuation of the present standard week, Sloan said. "'Standard weekly earnings,'" he added, "are defined as the pay for forty hours at the latest average hourly earned rate."

Discussing the program for employés with five or more years of service, Sloan said: "Every employé eligible under the plan is enabled to make his personal arrangements for a full year ahead with assurances that in no week will his income be less than 60 per cent of his standard weekly earnings.

"The weekly guaranteed income will consist of [a] pay for the amount of work performed for the corporation, [b] pay for other regular employment, [c] unemployment compensation, and [d] an advance to be made by the corporation to insure a minimum weekly income of at least 60 per cent of standard.

"The advance by the corporation is made on the request of the employé and is payable only in terms of opportunity to work. That condition cannot be too greatly emphasized. An advance is not a liability in the ordinary sense, is payable only through work, and bears no interest."

LIKE MEAT? THERE'S A WHOLE HOG, COW OR SHEEP FOR EVERY ONE

The United States' human and meat animal populations are practically equal, Secretary R. C. Pollock of the National Live Stock and Meat board said yesterday. Pollock told the Agricultural club there were 128,191,000 head of meat animals on the nation's farms and ranches last Jan. 1. This is about the equivalent of the country's population.

The total on Jan. 1 included 30,855,000 beef cattle, 44,418,000 hogs, and 52,918,000 sheep and lambs, according to Pollock.

However, stocks of meat in cold storage on Nov. 1 this year were the lowest on record for that date, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. The total supply was 344,902,000 pounds, representing a drop of 9,995,000 pounds from the previous low established on Nov. 1, 1937.

STATE HOUSING LAW UPHELD IN TEST AT PEORIA

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—State legislation enacted to permit the Illinois program of the United States housing authority to be put into execution was held constitutional today. Circuit Judge Joseph E. Daily handed down the ruling in a friendly test suit brought against the Peoria housing authority by several taxpayers.

The court's finding cleared the way for the questions at issue to be taken immediately to the State Supreme court for consideration at the December term. Because of the magnitude of the program hinging on the court's decision, housing officials expressed hope that the court will reach a decision during the December term.

A $4,000,000 slum clearance program is to be started here immediately if the Supreme court upholds the finding of Judge Daily.

PRODUCTION RATE OF STEEL PLANTS IS BOOSTED AGAIN

Steel ingot production is scheduled at 62.6 per cent of capacity this week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. This is a gain of 1.6 points over last week's production, and makes the rate highest since the week ended Oct. 11, 1937.

The upward trend has continued strong in spite of the fact that a slowing up of the production rate has been expected for several weeks. The steady rise in recent weeks is in sharp contrast to the situation which prevailed in the corresponding period of 1937.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today denied petitions of protective committees of preferred and common stockholders of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company asking a rehearing on the road's reorganization plan. The commission approved a final plan on Aug. 4. The plan eliminates present common stock holders.

Board to Seek Rail Long Haul Rule's Repeal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15. — The joint board considering the troubles of the railroads probably will recommend shortly to President Roosevelt the repeal of the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act.

This was the opinion expressed today by James P. Haines, executive vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. He made the statement after a conference with representatives of the Railway Labor Executives' association, the Association of American Railroads, and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. All favor repeal of the clause, Haines said.

A bill providing for repeal was introduced in the last congress by Representative Samuel B. Pettengill, who has since voluntarily retired. It passed the house in 1937 by a vote of 268 to 120, but lost in the senate for lack of aggressive leadership and because the administration's bulky legislative program interfered.

What Clause Involves.

The Pettengill bill would have amended the act to permit railroads to make special through rates for long hauls. Under existing law they are not permitted to charge less for long hauls than the aggregate charge for intermediate short hauls over the same route in the same direction. Thus they are not able to compete successfully with other forms of transportation which operate under no such restrictions, such as trucks, inland waterways, and intercoastal steamships.

The only opposition to the repeal bill comes from competitive forms of transportation and those who use such transportation at a competitive advantage over shippers dependent upon the railroads.

The eastern seaboard interests, for example, have a competitive advantage over middle west industries because goods can be shipped to the west coast cheaper by water transportation, through the Panama canal, than by railway from interior points.

Opposed by I. C. C.

If the joint board recommends repeal of the clause to the President and urges him to use his influence with congress to enact repeal, the President may still not accept the recommendation, it was pointed out. He and the interstate commerce commission are known to be opposed to such legislation, even though the government itself, in the operation of the Alaska railroad, charges lower rates for long hauls than for short hauls on the same line.

"In case the recommendation is not made or the President does not accept it," Haines said, "the fight will be carried to congress. Bills for repeal of the clause will be introduced at the next session in both houses."

UTILITIES FIGHT TVA PLAN AS MOVE FOR FEDERAL MONOPOLY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Counsel for fifteen private utilities contended today before the Supreme court that the Tennessee Valley authority's power program would "result inevitably" in a "federal monopoly."

Raymond T. Jackson, Cleveland lawyer, said that the far reaching enterprise also would "destroy the power of the states to regulate a local utility and end the right of an individual to engage in that business." His colleague, John C. Weadock of New York, asserted that "federal competition means absolute destruction" of the private companies because "it cannot be met."

Just before the court adjourned until tomorrow James Lawrence Fly, general counsel of the TVA, began an argument in defense of the program. He will continue tomorrow, followed by John Lord O'Brian, special TVA counsel who was defeated last Tuesday as Republican candidate for the senate from New York.

The utilities appealed to the Supreme court from a three judge federal court in eastern Tennessee. That court decided that the companies "have no immunity from lawful competition even if their business be curtailed or destroyed."

DEFEND INDIANA COAL SCHEDULES AT U. S. HEARING

A proposed schedule listing more than 200 minimum prices for coal produced in twenty-six southern Indiana counties was defended by its proponents yesterday at a hearing in Chicago before the national bituminous coal commission.

The testimony opened a ten day hearing at which marketing problems in nine states are to be aired. The schedule was drawn up by the Indiana district bituminous coal producers board. Attorney Paul Y. Davis, representing two Indianapolis coal companies, asked the commission to set it aside on the ground the Indiana board had not given proper hearings to objections.

Evidence obtained at the hearing will be used for the eventual fixing of minimum prices and marketing rules, and a determination of relative values of coal produced in the mid-continental fields. The next district to be considered will be district 10, Illinois.

Approve 10 Million RFC Loan to Western Pacific

LIQUID CARBONIC PROFITS, SALES LOWER IN YEAR

Anaconda's Quarter Earnings Drop.

The Liquid Carbonic corporation, Chicago, yesterday reported lower sales and earnings for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30. The company, which makes soda fountains, bottling machinery, and carbonic gas, had net profit for the year of $1,265,976, or $1.80 a common share. This compared with $1,655,866 or $2.36 a share in the preceding fiscal year. Net sales for the year slipped 5.3 per cent to $17,363,919.

Indicated profit for the quarter ended Sept. 30 amounted to $568,991 against $676,307 in the corresponding 1937 quarter. Indicated sales for the quarter declined to $4,722,895 from $5,761,445 in the September, 1937, quarter.

$950,000 Spent on Facilities.

W. K. McIntosh, chairman, told stockholders that the company spent about $950,000 during the year for capital items. These, he said, included a new carbonic plant in Memphis, Tenn., new carbonic cylinders, and additions to delivery equipment.

McIntosh disclosed that the company in December, 1937, granted to officers and executives options to buy a total of 23,400 shares at $20 a share, a price then in excess of the market quotation. The stock closed yesterday at $19.37½, compared with a high for this year of $21.50. The largest option to any one individual was for 2,000 shares. Options expire Dec. 1, 1942.

"The company, in common with most businesses, had to contend with general business conditions which were not too favorable," McIntosh told the stockholders.

Anaconda's Earnings Lower.

Anaconda Copper had net profit in the three months ended Sept. 30 of $1,647,635, or 18 cents a common share, before any allowance for depletion of ore mines. This compared with profit of $7,837,170, or 90 cents a share in the September quarter of last year and $1,624,847 in the June quarter of this year.

Operations in the third quarter brought Anaconda's profit for the first nine months to $5,657,998, compared with $26,965,154 in the first nine months of 1937.

Boeing Airplane's profit in the September quarter amounted to $51,470,

British Pound Slumps Further on Renewed Devaluation Talk

The value of the United States dollar in terms of the British pound sterling rose sharply again yesterday in New York foreign exchange dealings. Persistent rumors concerning revalution of the pound swung that unit through a range of nearly 3 cents during the day. After a higher start it closed 2 cents lower at $4.71, the lowest since Sept. 28.

The reports, to the effect that parity of the pound may be permitted to sink to between $4.50 and $4.60 as part of the impending Anglo-American trade agreement, were denied by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau in Washington. Trading in the pound was heavy. Other European currencies declined slightly in terms of the dollar.

Franc Fares Better.

Pressure against the French franc was less severe than against the pound despite Premier Daladier's statement that the franc would follow movements of the pound. Several traders expressed belief that the French monetary policy indicated a lower position for the pound. Others held that the British stabilization fund, which actively supported the pound yesterday for the first time in several weeks, would not permit a big decline.

In New York the franc closed 0.00⅞ cent lower at 2.63 9/16 cents. The Belgian belga, Holland guilder, and Swiss franc sold slightly lower.

Secretary Morgenthau reaffirmed earlier announcements by state department officials that the Anglo-American trade agreement would not contain any provisions regarding pound-dollar parity or payment of the British war debt.

Decrees Won't Offset Pact.

Morgenthau added that the financial decrees adopted over the week-end by France would have no effect on the tri-partite agreement pledging the United States, England, and France to monetary stabilization.

The French decrees revalued the gold reserve of the Bank of France at the rate of 170 francs to the pound sterling, or 37.69 to the dollar. Before the gold was revalued the franc was figured at 22.96 to the dollar.

The New York Federal Reserve bank announced the engagement of $6,700,000 of gold in England yesterday, and $700,000 in Holland for shipment to the United States.

JUDGE IN DAMAGE ACTION DECIDES HOLC CAN BE SUED

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Peter P. Smith, in Brooklyn today held that the Home Owners Loan corporation could be sued in the state courts. He denied a motion to dismiss a $15,000 damage action against the HOLC on the ground that the corporation was an instrumentality of the United States government and could not be sued.

The action was brought by John Gillen, a tenant of a building at 773 Carroll street, Brooklyn, which is owned by the HOLC. Gillen charged that he received serious injuries because of the negligence of the defendant in leaving a manhole uncovered in the rear yard of the Carroll street address.

In denying the motion to dismiss the suit, Justice Smith did not set a trial date.

Cudahy Stockholders Meet Today to Elect Directors

Stockholders of the Cudahy Packing company will hold a special meeting today to elect directors. It was called by the company in accordance with the bylaws, which provide that if three successive semi-annual dividends are omitted on the preferred stock, preferred stock holders have two votes for each share held in election of the board of directors. On Oct. 20 dividends on the preferred issues were omitted for the third time.

CEA CHIEF EXPECTS ACTION SOON TO LIMIT GRAIN FUTURES TRADE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the Commodity Exchange administration, told THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE today that he believed early action would be taken on an order limiting the holdings of grain futures.

He said that the special committee named under the commodity exchange act has held one meeting to consider the order, having all the facts at hand, but that the elections have interfered with further consideration. The committee consists of the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, and the attorney general.

There is a possibility that the order may be issued within the next month, Dr. Duvel said. As tentatively drawn up it would limit the holdings of futures to a million bushels for a particular delivery month.

Sanitary District Calls $3,380,000 of Its Bonds

Ross A. Woodhull, president of the Chicago Sanitary district, yesterday called for payment on Jan. 1, $3,380,000 of the district's series B refunding bonds of 1935. Of the amount called, $1,335,000 were from the $2,600,000 of 4½ per cent refunding issue. Bonds in this issue were drawn by lot for redemption.

BANKERS ASSAIL GROWING RULE BY WASHINGTON

But Group Is Split on Branch Plan.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., Nov. 14. — That the present trend toward centralization of financial and economic controls in Washington is leading the nation in the direction of dictatorship was the theme of today's sessions of the American Bankers association convention. The sixty-fourth annual meeting of the A. B. A. opened with speakers before the national and state bank divisions ripping into the administration's economic policies.

Harry A. Brinkman warns against centralized control.

On this subject practically all of the bankers appeared to agree. On other subjects there were the customary differences of opinion, some of them—particularly the perennial controversy over branch banking—exceedingly bitter.

Struggle Over Leadership.

The struggle over selection of leadership for the nation's banks is so vehement that it threatens to break into the open again this year as it did three years ago at the convention in New Orleans. According to A. B. A. tradition, the individual elected second vice president this year automatically will become president in 1940.

THE LARGER INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Many investors become so engrossed in piecemeal tactics, they forget the larger strategy that should underlie any sound investment plan. They watch this security or that as it fluctuates from day to day, oblivious of the great sub-surface economic currents that may secretly be washing away much of their real wealth.

As Investment Counsellors, we are not primarily concerned with what any particular security may be doing on any one day. Our chief concern is with what is happening to a client's fund as a whole—his capital—and to his income in terms of purchasing power. The results we have achieved prove the rightness of this policy. May we tell you about them?

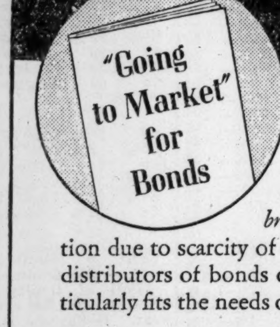
INVESTMENT COUNSELLORS

A Special Service for 4 Groups of Bond Investors



THIS booklet describes a service we have developed for a large body of bond investors who have not, in recent years, had investment service brought to them as formerly . . . a condition due to scarcity of new issues and small profit margins to distributors of bonds of investment quality. This service particularly fits the needs of the following four important groups:

1 Occasional Bond Buyers—who invest in moderate amounts and whose investment connections may have lapsed.

2 Women Investors—who may not be sufficiently experienced in investment matters to make quick decisions and are better satisfied to come in when they have questions to ask, or who like to have information in writing.

3 Busy Men—who prefer to choose their own time for consideration of investment matters.

4 Out-of-Town Investors—who do not have access to the investment facilities afforded in metropolitan centers. Into their homes or offices our service by mail brings the same advantages as dealing in person.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET—Full description of this service is contained in our booklet, "'Going to Market' for Bonds." It will be sent without obligation, upon request, together with list of selected bonds yielding over 5%. Ask for booklet CT-24.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14. — Widespread selling brought about a sharp reaction on the stock market today. Active leaders dropped fractions to around 3 points. More sensitive issues sank as much as 5 points. Sales totaled 1,651,280 shares.

Many observers attributed the selling to the unsettled conditions abroad. They mentioned the Jewish excesses in Germany, the indecision attending the French financial situation and talk of devaluation of the pound sterling. Professional attempts to test the market's position after last week's sharp rises was another reason advanced for the setback.

Most of the favorite industrial stocks recorded losses running to about a point at the opening. The selling in that direction gave an easier tone to the remainder of the list. After steadying slightly around midday new selling broke out and prices slumped to the bottoms of the day.

Steels failed to respond to the industry's operating rate, finishing with losses running to more than 2 points. Youngstown, Bethlehem, and United States Steel were hardest hit. Republic dropped 1¼ points.

Chrysler in the motors slumped 2⅝ points. General Motors lost 1⅜ points. Other losses were mostly fractional.

New York Bonds.

Down fractions to around 2 points were Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s at 14½, St. Paul 5s at 11½, Erie 5s of '75 at 13¼, Great Northern 4s of '46 at 98½, Illinois Central 4¾s at 47¾, Nickel Plate 4½s at 50⅞, Southern railway 4s at 59½.

A wide decline occurred in German issues, precipitated traders said, by the latest flareup of racial disorder in Germany.

Industrials and utilities held firm. United States government obligations were easier and quiet.

Chicago Stocks.

Despite a small decline in the average, eleven new high marks for 1938 were touched yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. THE TRIBUNE'S average closed at 12.14, against 12.28 on Saturday. Turnover was 29,000 shares. There were thirty-one advances, fifty-eight declines, and twenty-six issues unchanged.

Volume leader was Commonwealth Edison, off ⅛ at 27⅞ on a turnover of 3,000 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Shares of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company dropped $2 in somewhat heavier trading yesterday. Closing quotations were $77 bid, $79 asked. First National bank stock gained $1 to close at $234 bid, $237 asked. Other leaders were unchanged.

CONTROL OF OIL OUTPUT URGED AS STABILIZER

Institute Head Favors Conservation Laws.

Sound state conservation laws for oil production and interstate coöperation by an oil compact are important steps in stabilizing the oil industry, Axtell J. Byles, president of the American Petroleum institute, said yesterday. Byles was interviewed as some 2,500 oil men gathered at the Stevens hotel for the institute's nineteenth annual meeting. Yesterday's sessions were devoted to committee meetings.

Axtell J. Byles.

Byles said that he favored a "minimum of federal control" in the oil industry. He advocated instead state regulation by conservation laws to prevent economic waste resulting from overdrilling of wells where no regulations are present.

Six States Restrict Output.

Major oil producing states which now have conservation laws are Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, and Louisiana. Illinois and California do not have oil conservation laws. California and Louisiana are not members of the interstate oil compact, which makes recommendations on the oil production for each state belonging to the compact.

Discussing present problems of the oil industry, Byles said that present low prices for refined products made it virtually impossible for refiners to operate at a profit.

He predicted, however, that the oil industry would show an improvement in the first half of 1939. The demand for heavy fuels is still lagging, he added, but pointed out that the general pickup in business would help the oil industry. He pointed specifically to the increased automobile output as an encouraging factor.

Wants Coöperation—Not Control.

"The oil industry needs coöperation from the government in solving its problems," he said, "but it does not want government control.

William G. Skelly, president of the Skelly Oil company, Tulsa, Okla., who arrived for the meeting yesterday, said the development of Illinois oil fields was an important factor in the industry. He said that approximately 2,000 wells had been developed in Illinois at a cost of more than $16,000,000.

"The United States," he said, "uses 900 million to a billion barrels of crude oil a year. We are using our reserves faster than any other country, but we are keeping on an even keel by new discoveries and development of oil fields such as Illinois."

GRAIN FUTURES MOVE NARROWLY AND CLOSE MIXED

Price changes in American grain markets yesterday were confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel. Wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher. Corn was ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent a bushel lower.

Wheat and corn futures declined slightly in the early trading due largely to selling by professional speculators. Firmness in Winnipeg inspired a rally of about ½ cent from the bottom.

December corn closed yesterday at 48¼ to 48⅜ cents a bushel. This was the highest price at which the future had finished since Sept. 30. Even at that price, however, most Illinois farmers could not get more than 37 cents a bushel for cash corn at country elevators, or 20 cents less than the government loan.

DOUBT WISDOM OF SMALL EQUITY LOANS ON HOMES

Long term home loans obtained on a narrow margin of equity are unwise, the economic policies committee of the United States Building and Loan league warned yesterday. It met at the Palmer house.

"It may be questioned whether 90 per cent loans with twenty-five year maturities are really in the public interest," the committee said. "By emphasizing the low monthly cost of the home the public's sight is diverted from the total original cost. Thus is reduced some of the normal market competitive pressure on reductions in the cost of building.

"It is not in the public interest to induce families to become so indebted on their homes that for years their equity margin will be so narrow they have no real buffer with which to meet a period of adversity."

USE OF CHECKS IN MIDWEST DIPS; CHICAGO GAINS

Checks written against individual accounts on banks in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district in the week ended Nov. 9 showed a substantial decrease from the corresponding 1937 week. Debits [checks written] against individual accounts in Chicago banks, however, increased for the third successive week in which the entire district reported declines.

Debits against accounts in Chicago banks totaled $576,683,000 in the week ended Nov. 9, against $575,322,000 in the corresponding 1937 week. The total for the Seventh district for the week ended Nov. 9 was $955,762,000. This was a decrease of 21.9 per cent from $1,224,471,000 for the week ended Nov. 2, and compared with $1,067,523,000 for the corresponding week in 1937.

Oil—6.

When the man who was tending the kerosene still in 1860 decided to go to the dance he fixed the fire so that it would burn until he returned. But, according to the American Petroleum institute's account of the affair, the workman danced too long, "and when he came back he found gasoline instead of kerosene."

What had resulted was the first crude step toward "cracking," a process of refining which was not perfected until sixty years later.

The accidental discovery of gasoline cleared the way for the development of the internal combustion engine, which came into use around 1890. After the turn of the century, when such men as Henry Ford began making horseless carriages, the refining industry had approached the threshold of a great new era. Once automobiles were put on a cost basis that made it possible for many people to run them, the making of gasoline and lubricating oil began to advance in great strides.

or 4 cents a share, compared with $141,546, or 17 cents a share in the same 1937 period, and a loss of $52,015 in the three months ended June 30, 1938.

C. L. Egtvedt, president of Boeing, said results did not include provision for losses involved in certain inventories on hand Sept. 30. These inventories include unfinished Boeing planes known as clippers and stratoliners, which are carried on the books at cost figures. These cost figures are greater than amounts that can be realized from their sale. Such losses are due, Egtvedt said, to large development costs and to increases in labor costs which came after contract prices were set.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Colder weather and lighter receipts stimulated buying of hogs at the stock yards yesterday, despite a decline in wholesale prices of fresh pork. Sales of pork to butcher shop owners were at prices weak to 50 cents lower than at the close of last week.

Buyers bid hogs up mostly 5 to 10 cents over last week's close. Practically all classes of cattle fell to the lowest price levels of the season yesterday. Fat lambs sold strong to 15 cents higher and feeders were 10 to 15 cents higher.

WARNS OF MORE COMPETITION FOR FINANCE FIRMS

Newton Tells of Banks' Entrance to Field.

Sales finance companies will probably face increasing competition in the future from banks in the financing of instalment sales, Arthur W. Newton, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago, predicted yesterday. Newton spoke at the fifteenth annual convention of the National Association of Sales Finance companies in the Stevens hotel. The association includes leading automobile financing companies.

He said that finance companies must expect keener competition in the future among themselves as well as from banks. He pointed out, however, that the specialized nature of sales financing gave company engaged only in that business an advantage over competitors. He also warned against fiancing poor risks.

Must Maintain Standards.

"Whatever the temptation to reduce rates of financing," he said, "competition should not reduce standards."

Newton commended finance companies for their increasing conservatism in making loans. He referred to a study made by the First National bank of policies followed by finance companies to which the bank had made business loans. This showed, he said, that the companies had increased their liquidity.

Urges Sound Policies.

John J. Schumann Jr., president of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, urged members of the association not to adopt unsound policies in order to gain a temporary competitive advantage.

"This business is too good a business to risk resorting to any practice which is not beneficial in the long run to the manufacturer, the dealer, and ourselves," he said, "or which more importantly disregards the ultimate interests of the purchaser, the source of all benefits."

BANKERS ASSAIL GROWING RULE BY WASHINGTON

But Bitter Fight Rages Over Branch System.

mitting the expansion of branch banking are pushing the candidacy of P. D. Houston, chairman of the American National Bank of Nashville, Tenn. Independent "unit" bankers are reported to be ready to nominate L. Dean, president of the Merchants National bank of Topeka, Kas., from the floor if the convention's nominating committee selects Houston. The election is slated for Wednesday.

This battle over leadership is more than a "tempest in a teapot" because the unit bankers, particularly those from small towns, are convinced that the trend toward centralization of banking and other financial controls in Washington bureaus can be halted only by the election of officers outside the clique within the A. B. A.

Eccles Interests Cited.

That ties in with Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board. The Eccles family controls a system of branch banks in the Rocky mountain states. Eccles' friend, Rudolph Hecht, head of the Hibernia bank in New Orleans, is reported working for the candidacy of Houston.

Houston has another indirect tie-in with the administration in that his bank is controled by the Davis brothers of Nashville, close friends of Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The RFC owns the bank's preferred stock.

Harry A. Brinkman, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago and outgoing president of the state bank division of the A. B. A., today was one of the principal speakers warning against further centralization of banking controls in Washington.

Emphasizes State Rights.

"It is my conviction that the state banks will continue to occupy an important place in our economic fabric," Brinkman said. "In a sense they are one of the last strongholds of those who believe in the rights of states to control certain functions within their borders.

"It must be recognized that there are in public life many patriotic and well meaning citizens who believe that the future well being of the country demands that all financial institutions be brought under one control regardless of state lines. With these individuals I cannot agree.

"To me it is clear that if the efforts of these gentlemen to secure control of the state banks are successful, state sovereignty as we now know it will receive an irreparable blow and we shall be witnessing a complete change from the conception which our forefathers had of the United States of America.

"The state bank division, from this point of view, becomes more than an organization of state banks. It becomes, to those who cling to these long cherished ideals, a patriotic organization for the preservation of the American type of democracy."

Resolution Is Adopted.

After Brinkman's address the state bank division passed a resolution vigorously opposing the extension of branch banking across state lines "directly or indirectly."

Even the representatives of branch banks, outside the quarrel over extension of branch banking, joined the unit bankers in criticising other developments leading toward centralization of economic controls in Washington. Russel G. Smith, vice president and cashier of A. P. Giannini's Bank of America, the big California branch banking system, rapped President Roosevelt's "dictatorship" bill. This is the so-called reorganization bill which failed at the last session of congress, but which the administration has threatened to revive at the next session.

Treasury Gets Lower Price for Weekly Bill Offering

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the treasury's weekly sale of $100,000,000 of 91 day bills brought an average price of 99.993, equivalent to borrowing at 0.027 per cent. Last week the figure was 99.994, equivalent to 0.022 per cent.

PARALLEL

NEW YORK's leadership in banking, investing and in other fields of finance is well known. So is its leadership in industry, and in wholesale and retail merchandising.

There is a significant parallel to this many-phased leadership of New York in finance and trade. It is the advertising leadership of The New York Times, outstanding sales medium in the outstanding market, as attested by total and financial advertising linage records and by the results this linage produces for advertisers.

"Where Has This Been All My Life?"

"To think we put up with the usual apartments for so many years! I never dreamed hotel suites could be so individual and homelike until we came to the Seneca. Imagine a luxurious home like this just 5 minutes from the Loop. Every convenience for carefree living. G. E. electric kitchen, ample closet space. And for entertaining—a delightful cocktail lounge and smart dining room. Yet it costs so little to live so well at the Seneca."

A Band of Music and a Throng of Mourners See Bathhouse John to His Last Rest

City, county, and state officials march west in 18th street as the funeral procession of Ald. John (The Bath) Coughlin moves from Michigan avenue chapel to St. John's basilica at 18th and Clark streets. Front row, left to right: Ald. J. B. Bowler, Attorney General Otto Kerner, Mayor Kelly, and Sher if Toman. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Michael (Hinky Dink) Kenna, who teamed with The Bath in ruling the 1st ward for almost half a century, enters St. John's church for the funeral. With The Bath gone, Hinky Dink becomes the last link between 19th century and 20th century Chicago politics, the only veteran of the gray waistcoat and pearl b utton era. (Story on page 7.)

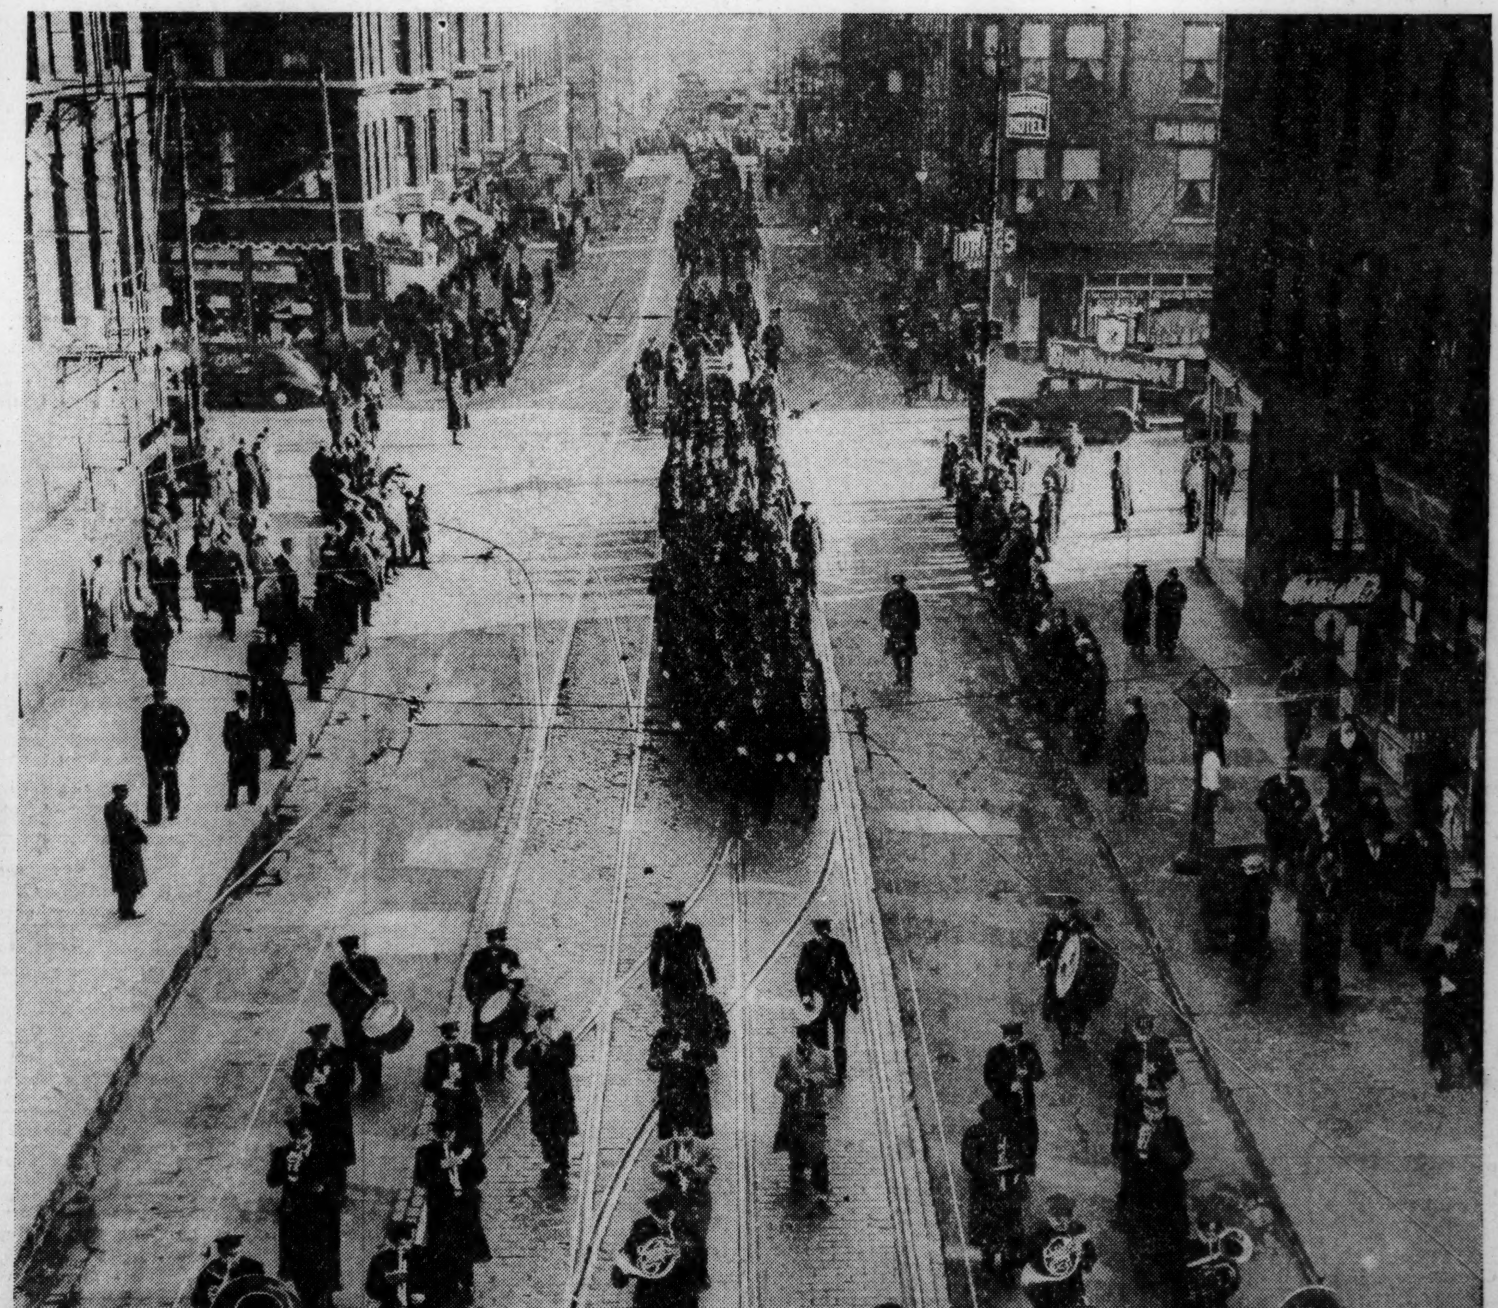
Many mothers mourn The Bathhouse. A woman is assisted down the steps after paying last respects to the dead.

Overflowing the church, the crowd spreads out over the street. All walks of life are represented among the mourners. Mingling with frock coated politicians and sportsmen are The Bath's constituents from the flophouses; others who knew him as friend, provider, and protector, and everyday 1st ward citizens bearing children in arms.



Only a Hinky Dink could give the elegant sportsman a funeral The Bath himself would have chosen. Heading the procession to the church is Jack Bramhall's band, the white uniformed leader directing the march. Behind the band tread two hundred policemen and two hundred firemen, bringing additional color to the procession.
